

City To Purchase Road Machinery

Power Street Sweeper And Power Grader Are To Be Secured

BURNS-GILLESPIE OPPOSE PURCHASE

Council today voted three to two for the purchase of a power street sweeper and a power grader or road machine. Councilman Treser, Reeves and Genkinger voted for the purchase. Councilman Burns and Mayor Gillespie cast negative ballots.

Councilman Burns opposed the power street sweeper because he said it would mean a curtailment of labor and said he would vote for a grader or road machine but not for one of this type.

When Councilman Treser presented his motion authorizing the clerk to seek bids Burns remarked that it would mean a curtailment of street labor. He said considerable unemployment prevails.

When the vote was taken Gillespie voted similar to Burns.

Treser next presented a motion authorizing the taking bids for a power grader or road machine.

Burns said he was opposed to a power machine.

It developed that Genkinger and Reeves have headed the department of streets, a berth now held by Treser.

Treser remarked to the opposition, "I am responsible for the streets and when I want something I want it."

"We should go slow," advised Burns who said that taxes may come in slow.

"I am trying to save money," answered Treser.

"We have a sprinkler in Butler county, a roller in Neshannock township and a tractor at the golf course," said Burns.

"You cannot use the sprinkler here," said Genkinger.

One of the councilmen jokingly remarked that a couple of horses should be secured to haul it around.

Treser said the roller is all right.

"I am not saying that they are good," said Burns, but reiterated he would not vote for a power scraper.

On the vote, the motion carried three to two.

"I offer a motion directing Mr. Burns to gather up all the old equipment," said Genkinger.

The remark brought a laugh after which Councilman Reeves said that Mr. Burns is not familiar with street work.

Burns said the expenditure for the new machine would total one-fourth mill.

"The department of streets has never functioned properly because it has never had the proper equipment," remarked Councilman Genkinger. "In order to do good work you must have good machinery."

"We haven't got it here," said Reeves who served a term as superintendent of the department of streets.

could be straightened out. Cars were parked on both sides of the street on North street at the postoffice clocked traffic and east bound traffic on North street piled up across Mercer, preventing machines from moving up and down Mercer.

According to a letter received from Walter Tyler, former councilman and veteran of the Spanish-American war now undergoing treatment at Walter Reid hospital, Washington, D. C., there are 780 patients taking treatment there. The former councilman says that the treatment received there is so kind that it helps the patients over the "hard spots."

Hanging in a conspicuous place at a local office is a "Suggestion" bulletin board inviting all employees to participate. Each and every one may contribute anything that would be for the general betterment of anything connected with that company. As the words underneath say "you do yourself a good turn by thinking."

Enroute downtown early this morning PA News passed a fleet of local moving vans. Evidently the springish atmosphere is tempting many who plan changing their place of residence to do it now and get it over with.

Local residents should study up their family history during the next few days, so they will be able to give the census enumerators correct answers to the questions to be asked. The place of birth of each parent will be asked, besides the date of marriage, the birth date of every person in the household, and other intimate questions.

With the cement plant resuming, announcement comes today that an additional furnace is to be placed in blast at the Carnegie Steel plant in this city, by Wednesday. The Water company is also expending $150,000 or more on the new repeater station on State street extension. With state and local street improvement work getting under way, considerable employment will be provided for men in this area in the near future.

And talking of work, the improved highway from New Wilmington to Pulaski still offers opportunity for a lot of work. The concrete is laid, but there is much finishing work to be done along the route, especially where the road was laid out in a new location.

Somebody's going to visit your home soon. The census takers will get in action on Wednesday and before they have finished, every home in New Castle and Lawrence county will have been visited.

WASHINGTON SEES NAVAL CONFERENCE FALL VERY SHORTLY

The odds are all against it, and administration officials do believe it likely. The once chance of something of this sort apparently lies in a radical about-face on the part of France on the security issue—and no one here anticipates any such miracle.

Three-Power Treaty There remains then, as Washington views it, the chance of negotiating a three-power treaty with France and Italy left out.

While a three-power treaty is regarded in some quarters as "better than nothing at all" it is apparent there is little relish for it in administration quarters.

Any three-power treaty would have to contain, by British insistence a clause permitting Britain to shape her bidding figures according to the French which President Hoover and Premier Ramsey MacDonald arrived at in their historic conference on the Rapallo stretches elastic and liable to measurable stretching.

This year's naval appropriation bill, already long delayed because of the conference, cannot be much longer withheld from congress if it is to have time to act before the anticipated adjournment on June 1. Congressional leaders have been making time, hoping that the conference results will permit scaling down the appropriation for new building. This hope is now about dissipated, and they are preparing to present the naval bill within the next fortnight. It will contain the anticipated appropriation for proceeding with the 15-cruiser program.

near Scranton early last year. His taxi-cab was recovered a short time later, in Rummymede, N. J., through it the crime was traced to Ralph Russell Sloat and he was tried in Lackawanna county courts.

Appeals Fail A jury found him guilty of murder in the first degree and the case was appealed. The appellate court upheld the decision of the lower courts and the supreme court refused to reverse.

The state board of pardons refused to intervene and Governor John S. Fisher saw no reason for execution in preference, though he went over the case with Sloat's counsel last Friday.

Saturday morning Sloat began his last ride—from the jail in Scranton to the penitentiary here. Under heavy guard, the slayer left before dawn came from the governor that he could not see reason for executive clemency.

When the party reached Rockview, Sloat was placed at once in death row where he remained until this morning.

control of state politics by the railroad.

Gifford Pinchot, former governor directed fire against the Philadelphians, and appealed to the people of the state "to save the commonwealth against seizure of the state control of politics by the Philadelphia machine."

Battle Is Underway The reply from the Philadelphians is expected to be couched in no uncertain terms and is predicted not to contain any particularly flattering comparisons nor bouquets for either Senator Grundy or Gifford Pinchot.

Hence, the battle may be termed under way, and the roar and bang of the battle is due to resound not only throughout the hills and valleys of Pennsylvania but to echo and re-echo throughout the United States.

Man Alleged To Have Pointed Gun

Officer Golis on Sunday placed Tom Kokos under arrest at Long avenue and Moravia street, on complaint of A. Vance, who alleged that Kokos pointed a gun at him. He knocked Kokos down and the latter then ran away and was captured by Officer Golis later. When arrested no gun was found on Kokos. At the hearing held before Mayor William H. TRAFFIC UNIFORMITY

THAT state-wide uniformity in traffic control is coming to be realized as highly desirable is proof that nation-wide uniformity would be still more advantageous. Traffic is no longer a local problem. The automobile owner has become a wanderer, and the fact that an unwitting violation of a local rule on his part frequently imperils the safety of the public, makes the problem of general concern.

State-wide uniformity is a good thing, but unless there is some uniformity between states, as new codes are drawn up, there will still be traffic dangers arising from confusion of rules.

In past years some progress was made in this direction by state and national conferences attended by traffic experts and police officials. These conferences should be held not less than once a year. They provide a clearing house for traffic-control ideas, to which every community can go for the solution of its own problems. One of the fruits of such a clearing house is a trend toward uniformity.

Because no two communities have street plans and traffic conditions exactly alike, there never can be absolute uniformity, but traffic lights can mean the same thing everywhere and the manner of making a left hand turn need not be different in every community.

No plea for uniformity is complete unless it include a sub-plea for local uniformity. Absolute uniformity in the gestures and methods used by traffic police in directing the movements of motor vehicles is essential. The diverse methods employed are a source of confusion to motorists.

ILLITERACY STILL HIGH

Arrival of another census year has revived interest—usually lagging—in illiteracy, which is high throughout the United States and dismally excessive in some sections.

This year's census is expected to show considerable improvement over conditions shown by the 1920 census, which though deplorable were better than in 1910. Though population increased nearly 14,000,000 between 1910 and 1920, the number of illiterates over 10 years of age was reduced nearly 600,000. Native white illiteracy was cut from 3.7 per cent to 2.5 per cent. Negro illiteracy was reduced from 30.4 per cent to 22.9 per cent, and in numbers by nearly 400,000. But the number of foreign-born illiterates increased 113,000 due to heavy immigration.

Improvement is expected from several sources this year. Less illiteracy among native whites is inevitable because of the extension of free schools in backward states. Immigration restrictions and Americanization schools have been at work among the foreign born with conspicuous success. And during the last 10 years the negro race has found its first real educational opportunities on a national scale.

Should the new census figures reveal a remarkable improvement in literacy, that gratifying news should not halt the war against illiteracy. Voters who cannot read are a menace to popular government and the pawns of the demagogue and unscrupulous politician. No voter can hope to cast a ballot intelligently until he or she is able to read.

REPEALING HOARY LAWS

Miracles do happen in this scientific age and nobody doubts that fact since the New Jersey legislature broke all precedent and smashed all the accepted rules of the day by repealing five hundred obsolete, unnecessary and unenforceable laws. Now that the ice has been broken, congress and the other 47 state legislatures could make the plunge with beneficial results to the people, collectively and individually.

Many of the repealed New Jersey statutes had been repealed by popular consent long before the legislature acted. But so long as they remained on the statute books they offered an opportunity for the mischief maker to hale an unsuspecting person into court charged with violation of a law the existence of which had been forgotten.

Of late there has been considerable discussion of "the sacredness of all law" and "the duty of public officials to enforce the laws." Existence on the statute books of hundreds of impractical, silly, outworn and unenforceable laws put this discussion in a ridiculous light, for those who preach obedience to law and the sacredness of all law do not themselves obey all laws and would be among the first to protest against the enforcement of some forgotten statutes. Should the courts and police ever take the law-enforcement advocates at their word, there would be danger of a popular uprising against all law. For there are laws which nobody wants invoked.

AIRPLANE'S MANY USES

The airplane has been put to many curious uses in addition to its commonplace transportation and military functions. Planes are used in directing flights against forest fires, mapping, crop dusting, rum chasing, archaeological research, emergency medical relief, prospecting, pursuing criminals, rescuing the endangered and hunting the lost. The latest use found for them is bombing out of existence herds of infected wild horses.

But the ubiquitous birds of passage also have less respectable occupations. Liquor smuggling by planes across the Canadian border has attained the proportions of a problem. At the Mexican border evidence has been uncovered that planes are being used to smuggle Chinese and other aliens into the United States.

If the scarcity of pilots willing to take the dual risk and the high cost of aircraft do not combine to limit the use of the airplane in these illicit operations, there is little chance of the authorities completely curbing them. The field of operation of a plane is almost unlimited and the chances of detection few.

In spite of these illegal uses to which the ships of the air are being put they still come within the scope of the proposition that every scientific advance finds 10 times as many peaceful and constructive uses as it finds destructive ones.

It might be worse. Fluctuations in food prices never seem to affect hot dogs.

Miss Ellen Still Rules.

S. O. Works at Night.

No Brain Too Big.

Prodigious Primo Teaches.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1930, King Features Syn., Inc.)

HEARST RANCH, SAN SIMONE, Cal., March 31.—This is Middle California, about half way between San Francisco and Los Angeles, tactful residence for one who has powerful newspapers in both cities, and in Oakland, San Francisco's twin and Chicago's rival.

Coming here, landing at 2:15 a. m. at the San Luis Obispo station, you see California by night.

Miss Ellen, presiding goddess of "Ye Olde Coffee Shoppe," opposite the station, calm and dignified as ever, still recognizes only railroad men as real people, still wears her blonde curls around her chin, and reads the railroad man's mind.

"Give me some cookies for a ride," says the handsome young brakeman, as he finishes his coffee. Ellen puts the cookies in a paper bag. She knows they are to board the train with the brakeman.

Steve Zegar, driving you to San Simone, along the Pacific and its curves in the dark, with his big Packard, is apologetic, because it took him 30 minutes to go 35 miles from San Luis to Cambria, where the paved road ends. About 50 an hour is all he cares to do on the dirt road. It is a little foggy, and there are 53 turns in the 50 miles of road.

Suddenly in territory otherwise empty, you see a mass of lights at the ocean's edge, to the left, and a brand new business-like Standard Oil office beside the road on your right.

Beneath the road a big pipe comes down from Kettleman Hills, carrying oil direct to the brightly-lighted Standard Oil ship, standing off shore. The end of the pipe, attached to a buoy, floats on the ocean. The ship captain picks it up, fills his ship, and is off.

No lost motion there. Gravity brings down the oil, ships take it east through the Panama canal, or west to Asia. You must organize to meet modern oil competition.

Don't sell your Standard Oil stocks hurriedly. They might go up some day.

All the world's news comes here by telephone and private wire. You know what foolish waste of time goes on at the London conference, what money costs in New York. At 7 a. m. by this you have the Wall Street 10 o'clock opening, and the closing prices in Europe.

Dr. Dandy, famous Johns Hopkins surgeon, says much of the brain can be taken away without interfering with mental work. He concludes that our brains are necessarily big, which may be a mistake.

The rich soil of Texas was unnecessarily deep when Indians scratched it and planted their corn, and Texas was unnecessarily big, then.

But deep plows use the deep black soil, deep wells bring up the oil, deep shafts lead down to the valuable metals.

There is no knowing what men may dig from their brain depths, as the revolutions go deeper, and thought, our mental plow, sends the dark thought-bearing dirt farther down into the gray matter.

"The Broca brain area, the motor area, the body sense area" and "the upper part of the temporal" are the two most important brain parts. All of both frontal lobes can be removed in case of necessity. So says the scientist.

That is also true of monkeys from whom we are not yet widely separated. The motor area is for jumping around. "Broca's convolution" is for chattering, no speech without it.

But man's destiny is not merely hopping about and chattering. As this continent now produces things unknown, before white men came, so the human brain, when men are really civilized, will produce results dreamed of now.

We shall need it all to grasp even the faintest outline of a universe at which we stare, like babies new-born, blinking at the light.

Primo Carnera of Italy, first called the "Human Alp," now known to sport writers, the "Prodigious Primo," wanders triumphant from one prize ring to another, his huge size and good natured indifference to punishment making a joke of "fistic skill."

Sometimes it takes the imported Latin 30 seconds to finish a proud Nordic. Sometimes a little longer.

Wednesday night the victim was George Trafton, Chicago gentleman, weighing 220 pounds. The prodigious Primo, weighing 271½ pounds, knocked Mr. Trafton down three times, then turned his back on the foe, looking off into space, toward Italy.

Trafton rushed, Mr. Carnera turned round, propelled the fist that reporters playfully called a violin box. A deep sleep descended upon Trafton, who was still asleep when Carnera (Continued On Page Five)

Government control of liquor in Canada has been described by one who ought to know as "Absolute Failure." He also says liquor drinking no longer is a man's vice, but the women and children are exposed to it also in the government system of liquor control. Controlling the sale of liquor is just about as much of a problem as the drinking of it is.

TOO EASY WITH 'EM
A western banker, a little troubled with his English as most of his banking business is done in a German settlement, was attending a bankers' convention. One of the big men of Pennsylvania is the Hon. Samuel S. Lewis, who has just quit the race for governor of Pennsylvania with the idea of promoting harmony in the ranks of the Republican party to combat it's enemies. Mr. Lewis has been against every attempt to fasten more taxes on the people of Pennsylvania. Pennsylvania loses in his retirement from the contest. He considers his party and his state greater than he is, which is something some other candidates for governor right now will not admit. In fact one is running now in the Republican ticket who has no party.

CHILD'S EVENING PRAYER
God grant me grace my prayers to say:
O God! preserve my mother dear, In strength and health for many a year;
And O! preserve my father, too, And may I pay him reverence due; And may I my best thoughts employ To be my parents' hope and joy; And O! preserve my brothers both From evil doings, and from sloth; And may we always love each other, Our friends, our father, and our mother.
And still, O Lord, to me impart An innocent and grateful heart, That after my last sleep I may Awake to thy eternal day! Amen.

Here's news. A gang leader in Chicago died of something else.

It is claimed that there is more wild life in Pennsylvania and hunting is better than in any other state of the Union. This is verified by the large number of bears, deer, birds, rabbits and other game killed by hunters during the past season. 15,000 quail are being shipped this spring from Texas, and will be released at various places in the Keystone state.

A lot of men, some hale and hearty, others just far to muddling, are now wearing B. V. D.'s right through the winter months and claim to be perfectly warm. This does not apply to the birds you see perched on the poles, covered with all kinds of hardware and calmly smoking a pipe with the weather all the way from freezing to zero. Those lads wear real clothes.

Presumably the intervening states can keep Wisconsin and Texas from marching at each other, but nevertheless these states are "they should be in a more perfect union," says the possibility that on interstate conflict between Wisconsin and Texas may be brought to an end is now seen. This development, however, follows much comment on the action of Wisconsin in relation to certain Texas real estate and the retaliation from the Southern border. The effort for settlement comes in the form of an invitation from Governor Moody of Texas to Governor Kohler of Wisconsin, to make a personal visit to the land involved.

Wisconsin seems to have started the trouble with the discharge of the secretary of a Wisconsin real estate board, because he bought a farm in the Rio Grande Valley, while on a tour of inspection of land in the Lone Star State, for the Board which had refused to license dealers to sell this land in Wisconsin. The Texas legislature then declared a boycott on Wisconsin products.

Several questions are asked by the ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH. "What will Texas do for cheese, cranberries, Door County cherries? What will the fashionable women of Dallas, San Antonio and Houston do for tinted bathroom fixtures, invented and manufactured in Wisconsin? What will it do for Green Bay Lake trout when the palate palls of golf fish? Finally, where will Texas go for the summer now that it is a matter of State patriotism not to visit Wisconsin's delightful resorts?"

"The next thing, presumably, which we will hear of from Wisconsin, is a law forbidding residents of that State leaving it," says the FORT WORTH STAR TELEGRAM. "When they get out and see some other country it appears they are lost to Wisconsin," it continues. The RACINE JOURNAL-NEWS locanically remarks that it, "awaits with much trepidation the threatened financial catastrophe, because Texas refuses to buy Wisconsin products. If it occurs, we may all have to go to Texas to make a living," it suggests. But the BELLEVILLE DAILY NEWS speaks in more serious vein, saying, "The state board involved in this dispute has been maladroited in permitting the issue to get to the position where it is today." It advocates the taking of "prompt steps to bring about renewal of pleasant and friendly relations with the people of Texas." It must use its judgment as to whether the propositions offered are likely to yield returns. Indications that they may not do so result in license denials. Brokers in Texas and Wisconsin must recognize this fact. It concludes, as it declares the Texas legislature should not have "pronounced for a boycott simply because its sister state has adopted a policy long demanded for the protection of land buyers."

Discussing the Texas boycott act, the CHARLOTTE (N. C.) OBSERVER says: "Fair-play advocates might adjudge that proceeding exactly in order. In these days of reciprocity trade action like that on the part of Wisconsin naturally invites reciprocal action on the part of the State aggrieved. The one-way trade avenue is not a popular institution in this country," it declares.

Criticism of both Wisconsin and Texas, "solely shooting boycotts back and forth at one another" is voiced by the GRAND RAPIDS PRESS, and it goes on to say that the actions in both states are "really un-American. We are a rich country chiefly because we are an almost continental nation with no state-line barriers against each other's goods such as exist in Europe," this paper points out, and declares "the two children should stop their pea shooting. But in regard to this the DALLAS JOURNAL declares: "If Wisconsin hopes to retain the good will of Texas as a buyer of Wisconsin products, it will do well to adopt a juster attitude than the recent developments indicate it holds at the present time."

"States' right are most desirable, but not so interstate rows" is the opinion of the NEW ORLEANS TIMES-PICTAYUNE, which recalls that "our nation has been remarkably free from internecine scraps among our commonwealth, even boundary line differences having been few, far between and not very serious. This is well," it continues, "since the only serious divisions of opinion as might set the neighboring units at each others' throats. In the above connection it is probably well that Texas and Wisconsin are not neighbors," this paper concludes.

Presumably the intervening states can keep Wisconsin and Texas from marching at each other, but nevertheless these states are "they should be in a more perfect union," says the possibility that on interstate conflict between Wisconsin and Texas may be brought to an end is now seen. This development, however, follows much comment on the action of Wisconsin in relation to certain Texas real estate and the retaliation from the Southern border. The effort for settlement comes in the form of an invitation from Governor Moody of Texas to Governor Kohler of Wisconsin, to make a personal visit to the land involved.

Wisconsin seems to have started the trouble with the discharge of the secretary of a Wisconsin real estate board, because he bought a farm in the Rio Grande Valley, while on a tour of inspection of land in the Lone Star State, for the Board which had refused to license dealers to sell this land in Wisconsin. The Texas legislature then declared a boycott on Wisconsin products.

Several questions are asked by the ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH. "What will Texas do for cheese, cranberries, Door County cherries? What will the fashionable women of Dallas, San Antonio and Houston do for tinted bathroom fixtures, invented and manufactured in Wisconsin? What will it do for Green Bay Lake trout when the palate palls of golf fish? Finally, where will Texas go for the summer now that it is a matter of State patriotism not to visit Wisconsin's delightful resorts?"

"The next thing, presumably, which we will hear of from Wisconsin, is a law forbidding residents of that State leaving it," says the FORT WORTH STAR TELEGRAM. "When they get out and see some other country it appears they are lost to Wisconsin," it continues. The RACINE JOURNAL-NEWS locanically remarks that it, "awaits with much trepidation the threatened financial catastrophe, because Texas refuses to buy Wisconsin products. If it occurs, we may all have to go to Texas to make a living," it suggests. But the BELLEVILLE DAILY NEWS speaks in more serious vein, saying, "The state board involved in this dispute has been maladroited in permitting the issue to get to the position where it is today." It advocates the taking of "prompt steps to bring about renewal of pleasant and friendly relations with the people of Texas." It must use its judgment as to whether the propositions offered are likely to yield returns. Indications that they may not do so result in license denials. Brokers in Texas and Wisconsin must recognize this fact. It concludes, as it declares the Texas legislature should not have "pronounced for a boycott simply because its sister state has adopted a policy long demanded for the protection of land buyers."

Discussing the Texas boycott act, the CHARLOTTE (N. C.) OBSERVER says: "Fair-play advocates might adjudge that proceeding exactly in order. In these days of reciprocity trade action like that on the part of Wisconsin naturally invites reciprocal action on the part of the State aggrieved. The one-way trade avenue is not a popular institution in this country," it declares.

Criticism of both Wisconsin and Texas, "solely shooting boycotts back and forth at one another" is voiced by the GRAND RAPIDS PRESS, and it goes on to say that the actions in both states are "really un-American. We are a rich country chiefly because we are an almost continental nation with no state-line barriers against each other's goods such as exist in Europe," this paper points out, and declares "the two children should stop their pea shooting. But in regard to this the DALLAS JOURNAL declares: "If Wisconsin hopes to retain the good will of Texas as a buyer of Wisconsin products, it will do well to adopt a juster attitude than the recent developments indicate it holds at the present time."

"States' right are most desirable, but not so interstate rows" is the opinion of the NEW ORLEANS TIMES-PICTAYUNE, which recalls that "our nation has been remarkably free from internecine scraps among our commonwealth, even boundary line differences having been few, far between and not very serious. This is well," it continues, "since the only serious divisions of opinion as might set the neighboring units at each others' throats. In the above connection it is probably well that Texas and Wisconsin are not neighbors," this paper concludes.

SALVAGE FIRM PAYS TO HAVE WHALES CLEANED

(International News Service)
VICTORIA, B. C., March 31.—In the office of Mr. A. C. Burdick of the Pacific Salvage Co., is a bill of which probably cannot be duplicated in the world. It is a request for $235 to pay for the labor of giving a thorough bath, with gasoline soap and hot water, to thirty whales.

Circumstances that turned the Akutan whaling station into a Turkish bath parlor for deep sea mammals involved the wreck of the American steamer Golden Forest, which went ashore near Akutan, with a cargo of oil. The Pacific Salvage company was employed to salvage the vessel. Every assistance was given the whaling company by the whaling station, men were loaned and water freely supplied.

Meanwhile, whalers were steadily bringing their catch in from the sea and mooring the dead whales at the station for processing. Thirty lay moored, side by side, awaiting conversion to everything desirable from hair tonic to perfume, when the tanks of the Golden Forest burst, oil poured out and rode on the tide to the inner whaling crew had to hand-scrub every whale before the mammals could be sent through the factory.

Left the ring, 54 seconds after the fight started.

This performance by Carnera, knocking 12 men unconscious, one after the other, should convince young men that prize fighting is not so important, being merely a matter of bulk. An undersized donkey, with his left hind foot, could do to Carnera what Carnera has done to 12 Americans. One kick would be enough. A steam roller could flatten the donkey, a freight engine could brush aside a regiment of steam rollers. Only a thought counts. It makes the steam roller and the engine, and manages Primo.

The Rapid City Chamber of Commerce, South Dakota, invites Mr. Al Capone to come there and live, incidentally bringing his "dough," if any.

Mr. Capone is told he cannot remain in Chicago, and Florida says, "Not here." That touches the heart of Rapid City, aptly named for a retiring Capone, and it invites the man of dread to settle "where a man is judged by the life he leads now, not by his past record."

The Bible is quoted by the Rapid City chamber, all about casting the first stone only in case you never did anything wrong yourself. South Dakota's past history can show bad men that would make Capone look like Little Eva in the transfiguration scene.

Some quiet old lady in Rapid City might observe that the Bible never said anything about sawed-off shot or machine guns, about "bumming off," "taking for a ride" or about "pineapple" bomb throwing.

White House To Get Real Library

Father-In-Law Of Hoover, Jr.,
Starts Move To Put
Books There

NEW YORK, March 31.—Don Guixote, Sherlock Holmes, Tom Sawyer and Uncle Remus are about to occupy the White House permanently for the mental diversion of America's presidential families.

The nation's booksellers are collecting a home library of 500 volumes as a gift to the executive mansion. The presentation is to be made the last week in April.

The arbiters of the first family's reading include Alice Roosevelt Longworth of Washington and Douglas S. Watson of San Francisco, both of whom know what a White House is without personally purchased books.

The idea originated with Watson, father-in-law of Herbert Hoover, Jr. The evening after President Hoover's inauguration and before the Hoover private library was installed Watson noticed that members of the family wished to turn to books for relaxation and that none was available.

Although the Library of Congress contains a million volumes and the executive office has a reference library, there was nothing for the president to read merely for diversion.

Informed of this, the American Booksellers Association undertook to present the White House with a comprehensive choice, which now is virtually complete and provides for a gratuity of taste.

Twenty-five detective stories and as many children's books will afford entertainment for everyone from the president to his grandchildren.

In addition to a long list of fiction, standard and contemporary, there will be a wide selection of biography, mostly about statesmen, 50 volumes on travel, as many on history, and a representative collection of poetry, drama, essays, including "The Complete Angler" by Isaac Walton; philosophy, science and arts.

AERIAL CIRCUS AT LEGION MEET

(International News Service)
BOSTON, March 31.—An aerial circus in which 200 airplanes and the big Navy dirigible, Los Angeles, are expected to take place, will be only one feature of the elaborate program the American Legion is preparing for its annual convention, which will be held here in October. At night these same planes will stage an air "attack" on the city of Boston, showing just how an invading force of airplanes would attempt to conquer the city.

Parades, memorial services, motor boat races, a boxing carnival, a military pageant and ball, a water carnival, band concerts, harbor trips and gun races are scheduled for the entertainment of the veterans who will gather here.

Officials have also arranged for a memorial service in Faneuil Hall, "Cradle of Liberty," for the opening night.

Bogus Casino Chips Worry Monte Carlo

Counterfeiters Cause $2000
Daily Loss To Principality

MONTE CARLO, March 31.—Counterfeit chips that are causing the Casino to lose an average of $2000 a day have brought the latest calamity to this little principality, which already is stirred by political under currents and the separation of its Prince and Princess.

The chips are said to be so perfect that they cannot be told from the genuine. The Casino chips are changed frequently and the counterfeiters apparently have a confederate within the Casino who is able to duplicate them quickly.

Both French and Italian police are working on the case.

The straw vote on the wet and dry situation will have about the same effect as the testimony before the house committee.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

HERE HERE ANOTHER BROWN WILLING

Fred L. Rentz, New Castle News.

I am heartily in favor of an old Mullintown gang reunion. I don't think there is many of the younger generation knows much about Mullintown like the old gang did, especially when a fellow from Mullintown went to see his girl in old Slabtown and always had to take a body guard with him to keep from getting mobbed.

You don't believe it ask Herbie, he knows. And another thing I would like to see some of the kids wear the clothes to school to day that we wore as boys: Kentucky Jean, and girls calico and also wear an asafitida bag around their necks. I know a great number of our old teachers and scholars will not be able to with us as they have gone to the Great Beyond.

When I went to Mullintown school that was about the first job Ed and I had was janitor of the old school which was back of the present school. Nothing like the schools of today. Build fires every morning and carry the coal from the cellar to all the rooms in coal bucket and fill a coal box in each room for next day. I could ramble like this for several hours but will quit hoping to see all the old gang that are living at a reunion so get busy Herb. There is just one more maximum I would like to add and this is all I would Mullintowners who has seen Herb's appeal get in touch with him either by phone or a letter and let us make a go of it as that is the only way we will ever be able to see one another again and renew our boy and girlhood days.

CAUSE FOR REJOICING!

EXCUSE our enthusiasm, but we see good cause for rejoicing as the Music Defense League nears the 2,000,000 membership mark after a few short weeks of effort.

And, if that doesn't prove that the American public wants Living Orchestras and Organists in the Theatre, what would?

There is nothing EXCLUSIVE about this swiftly-growing society. It's INCLUSIVE—inclusive of the intelligent citizenry of the New World. And that covers a lot of people, cynics to the contrary notwithstanding. It should, by the way, include YOU.

To become a member in good standing of the Music Defense League one needs only the discriminating taste to know that the art of music is worthy of preservation, and the good sense to want one's money's worth. There are no dues, no obligations.

Throughout the world friends of music are alive to the cultural menace of Canned Music in Theatres. Even the governments of England, France, Spain and Italy are considering measures to prevent this artistic debasement.

American music lovers have chosen the popular and democratic course—that of registering public demand through the Music Defense League.

What if theatrical interests are momentarily deaf to all considerations save profits gained through false economy? They will heed the voice of the public when that voice attains a sufficiently compelling volume. For the public must be served.

TAKING of the census of all persons in the United States, beginning April 2, resembles the first enumeration, made in 1790—except that now there are elaborate printed forms and there are additional questions regarding occupation and home. Above, the present form is shown! Below, at left, is the 1790 enumeration sheet at Boston, with the names of John Hancock, Samuel Adams and James Bowdoin, as written in by the U. S. marshal, who took the census. (Marshals took the census then.) At the right, is the Philadelphia sheet—the marshal there having decided to go beyond the legal request for information and garnering more facts than necessary. He seemed to have intuition. For his questions and others were added in later censuses.

FACTIONAL TAX FIGHT STIRS TINY PRINCIPALITY

Affairs of the tiny but famed principality of Monaco on the French Riviera have been steadily becoming more involved with the failure in recent years of the Casino at Monte Carlo to take care of both civic improvements and dividends for the reigning family. Observers are predicting the death of the present regime and the birth of a new republic supervised by France. Elections are scheduled for March 30. Photos show Prince Louis, head of the reigning family, and a view of the famed casino. Map indicates the position of the tiny principality on the Riviera.

Claims Salt Cause Of North St. Bridge Walk Crumbling

William Sandman Of Brooklyn
Avenue Offers Explanation For Condition

Claim that rock salt, placed on the sidewalks of the new North street bridge is to blame for the concrete in the sidewalks crumbling is made by William Sandman of Brooklyn avenue, in a letter to The News.

Mr. Sandman's letter follows:
March 29, 1930.

Editor of News,
Dear Sir:
I noticed an item in today's News regarding the sidewalks on the North street bridge, in which the writer suggested that frost, poor material, or a thin coating of cement was responsible for the condition of the sidewalks.

In fairness to the contractor and others concerned in the erection of the bridge, I would like enough space in your paper to offer an explanation as to the cause of the supposed defect.

The specifications called for one course concrete (no top being required) with a wooden float and brush finish; concrete to be mixed and placed as per the water, cement ratio, which is the latest approved method of the Portland Cement association.

The material used was the same as used by the state highway department, being composed of washed sand and gravel, and tested cement.

The concrete was placed under the supervision of a competent inspector, and cured under three plys of wet burlap for a period of ten days.

The cause of the crumbling was an application of rock salt to melt the ice off the sidewalks.

Any concrete will absorb a small amount of moisture and low temperature, caused by melting ice with salt, freezes and expands the moisture which causes the concrete to scale.

Thanking you, I remain
Yours truly,
WILLIAM SANDMAN,
798 Brooklyn avenue,
New Castle, Pa.

Pentecost Campaign Begins Second Week

First Week Of Revival Ends
Sunday Evening With Over-
flow Congregation

The second week of the Pentecost campaign being conducted by J. Marion Small and Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Hess at the Central Christian church came to a very successful close last night.

Yesterday was a day that will be long remembered by those present at the great combined service of the morning when the attendance went to nearly the 500 mark and two young ladies confessed their faith in Christ, making a total of 36 accessions to date.

The communion service was more than doubled in its attendance and required ten deacons to serve it after Evangelist Small had delivered a forceful and practical message on the words of Jesus "This do in remembrance of me."

The evening service filled the auditorium to overflowing and the balcony to nearly its capacity. The services will continue this week with special musical features at every service by the Hesses that are doing a very commendable piece of work.

Tonight the O. B. A. and the Loyal Women's Bible classes are attending in a body.

Hick towns may be greener than New York, but they don't get excited when one of the Jones boys buys a dress suit and says he is a Count.

Perhaps the thieves who stole a stone chimney and fireplace wanted to practice making little stones out of big ones.

Celebrate Greek Independence Day

Ceremonies Take Place At Greek Orthodox Church On Reynolds Street

The congregation of the Greek Orthodox Church celebrated the one hundredth anniversary of Greek independence in their church on Reynolds street yesterday. The service was a combined religious and festival celebration, continuing through the day.

Rev. Ioakim Papachristou preached the sermon in the church. He also delivered an address expressing the appreciation of the Greeks for American aid given in 1921 during the revolution.

The church was packed and the service was very impressive. A part of the service was taken by the children.

The Ahepa and G. A. P. lodges attended the church services in a body.

One Starves And Stays Fat

One Eats And Keeps Thin

YOU see that everywhere. Most fat people are careful of their diet. Many are active. They eat plenty who stay slender while eating what they wish.

Some years ago, science found the reason in an under-active gland. That gland largely controls nutrition. Since then, physicians the world over have fed that gland substance in treating obesity.

Marmola prescription tablets, prepared by a famous laboratory, contain that factor at its best. People have used them for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. All can see in every circle how conditions have changed in that time. Only a small percentage now stay overweight.

Marmola is not secret. Each box contains the formula and the reasons for results. Users know why this is the right way. No starvation is required, though moderation helps.

Perhaps you have found that self-denial fails to make you slender. If so, try Marmola, which has done so much for so many, for so long. Watch the results. They will quickly tell you if this is what you need. Then go on until you reach the normal weight desired. For your own sake, start today.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 a box. Any druggist who is out will gladly order for you.

Girl Awarded Cent Damages For Caning

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Margaret James, 14, Chevy Chase school girl, today was given actual damages of one cent for a caning, but it cost Major A. H. Hobbey, United States air corps, $100 for the privilege of administering it to her.

A jury in municipal court voted the one cent for actual and the $100 for punitive damages for a caning the girl said the major gave her on Halloween night for throwing peas against the window of his home. Hobbey denied that he had struck her.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

The gayest dog of them all is described in a letter from "Emily" in Milwaukee. Her husband I take it, else how would she know all this about him? Is he worth serving any longer, she asks. If you think you have a misbehavin' somebody in your home, read what Emily has:

"Dear Leola: I'll put this as briefly as possible. Husband had wife's young cousin 21 come to his office, kissed and embraced her. Takes her to shows every night, dinners etc. Then he came to visit his wife who was making home for him elsewhere. He fell in love with a young school teacher, (this cousin of his wife's) and for eight months didn't come to California where his wife was making a home. When he finally came he sent love letters to this girl, and she to him, at another address, filled with love and kisses.

"Then he left for Milwaukee and met another woman on the train, bought her meals and corresponded with her. She is married and has two children, and lives in South Dakota. His wife has all his letters to the school teacher, and the letters from the married woman.

"Before he left his wife in California he was sick and she showed him every kindness, loved, trusted and nursed him day and night. A day after he leaves California he picks up with this strange woman on the train and exchanged love letters there too. He had other affairs, and lives so you can't trust him. Has been married thirty years."

Well, Emily, you're a great detective.

Orphan Kittens Adopted By Hen

CANTON, O., March 31.—J. W. Meyers, Canton, thought he was seeing things when he visited his hen-house.

Meyers, whose day begins with feeding his flock, heard a peculiar noise as he opened the hen-house door. A Rhode Island Red hen squatted in a corner, her wings spread, clucking maternally.

Meyers investigated and found that she was mothering three tiny kittens, whose mother had been killed the night before by an automobile.

Meyers is nursing a sore hand where Mrs. Hen pecked him when he tried to relieve her of her adopted brood.

Peter's Adventures

BY
SMITH

LARVA, HIMSELF

Peter could stand quietly by and watch the monster in the pool eat up his neighbors no longer.

"Stop him!" cried he, to the Dragon-Flies in general, but not one of them paid the boy the least bit of attention.

"Who is the creature?" demanded Peter, raising his voice. The Dragon-Flies didn't answer. They were too busy watching the pool monster who evidently had become restless and was about to seek another lurking place in the mud. Maybe the monster was a little bit ashamed of himself, or perhaps a bit upset by finding a creature's eyes upon him. At any rate, he was mighty uneasy. Slowly he rose to the surface of the water and lazily swam a few strokes, his clumsy body swaying from side to side. Then with a jerk and a spurt the monster shot forward and out of the boy's sight.

"I say, do tell me who that ficked monster is and how it happens that you are not angry with him. Unless I'm much mistaken, instead of being frightened by his cruel tricks, you are actually laughing at him." Peter faced his particular friend among the Dragon-Flies, and thus brought to attention, that fellow could do no less than answer.

"There would not be much sense in our being frightened by that fellow, nor angry at him, either," chuckled Peter's particular friend. "As a matter of fact, you are right. We think he's rather clever."

"Why?" Asked Peter.

"Because once upon a time we did just as he is doing now. There was a day not long ago, when every one of us here was exactly like him. That

Action Without Harm Whenever Constipated

Here's a way to be rid of constipation and its ills—a way that works quickly, effectively, but gently. A candy Cascaret at night—the next morning you're feeling fine. Breath is sweetened; tongue cleared; biliousness, headaches, dizziness, gas vanish. Repeat the treatment two or three nights to get the souring waste out of your system. See how appetite and energy return; how digestion improves.

The action of Cascarets is sure, complete, helpful to everyone. They are made from cascara, which doctors agree actually strengthens bowel muscles. All drug stores have the 10c boxes.

"Hazel May suffered from constipation," says Mrs. M. Hopkins, 7050 Ruskin Lane, Philadelphia. "She was sallow and bilious; didn't have any appetite; couldn't digest her food. 'California Fig Syrup has changed all that. It regulated her bowels quickly; improved her appetite and digestion. She has improved right along until friends say she's a regular prize-winner for health."

Mothers by thousands praise California Fig Syrup. Physicians endorse it. Its rich, fruity flavor appeals to children; its pure vegetable goodness is safe for any child. The prompt relief it brings bilious, head-achy, constipated children lasts; because it helps tone and strengthen bowels and stomach. Next time bad breath, coated tongue or feverishness warn of constipation, try it with your child and see how it helps!

When buying, look for the name California! That marks the genuine, famous for 50 years.

Housewives To Answer Most Census Questions

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, March 31.—If the housewives of New Castle accept the advice of the census bureau they will call a family after-dinner council and familiarize themselves with detailed information regarding the members of their household. For it is largely the wielder of the broom and dustpan and rolling pin who will be at home this week to answer the knock of the census enumerator and to compile replies to 32 questions about herself and about each of the persons living within her kingdom.

Census bureau officials point out that the results of the population count will be a great deal more accurate and will be collected with the consumption of less time if the housewives of the nation gather together the information involved prior to the arrival of the enumerator.

Starting with the street and house address, the questions asked the housewives will seek to learn the number of persons living in the house, the number in the family, the relationship of the residents, data on the ownership of the home, a personal description of each individual living there, the education of the residents, place of birth, parentage, language spoken, citizenship, occupation, etc.—thirty-two questions in all.

and his relatives in Buffalo, N. Y., have been called to his bedside.

The robbers slugged Diwel with a blunt instrument or blackjack as he was locking the Columbia garage, which adjoins his parking ground. He then was dragged inside the garage and robbed. Some time later he was found by Mrs. Amelia VanCise, Bulletin.

Death Ends 40 Years' Lone Vigil Of Woman At Church

CATAWISSA, Pa., March 31.—Forty years of lonely vigil over the Friends Meeting House here, the maintenance of which had been her life and her love, ended when Miss Mary Emma Walter, 88 years old, died in the Bloomsburg Hospital as she had worshipped alone.

The ravages of age caused her death after three months' illness, but her death aroused almost universal sympathy because she was beloved of the entire community.

Since 1890, when she came here following the death of her parents, who are buried in the cemetery in which she is to be laid to rest, she had worshipped regularly Sundays and Wednesdays in the ancient meeting house that was built of logs about 1775. In all of that time she was the sole regular worshipper for the meeting house had been abandoned in 1814 until she came here and interested others in having repairs made to the roof and doors.

From 1890 until her fatal illness she made its maintenance her life work. On each of her visits she sat in the silent worship of her sect in the old and worn pews. Once or twice a year delegations of members from other meetings visited Catawissa and conducted services—these being the only breaks in her silent communion.

Known to thousands as "Aunt Emma" she had a kindly feeling for everybody and everything, never voicing criticism even when mischievous boys littered the grove about the meeting house with tin cans and waste paper. A former teacher she never believed in corporal punishment, but her moral suasion with the youths was sufficient to make them lifelong friends and in later years aid her in keeping the grounds clean.

Dressed in her quaint Quaker bonnet, she was a familiar figure on the streets of the borough and her pride in the ancient and plain furnishings of her meeting house knew no bounds.

Alleged Disorderly House Is Visited

Complaints Of Neighbors In Downtown Block Brings The Police

In the early morning hours of Sunday, a number of men and women in a second floor flat in the Gunning block on the Public Square kept celebrating to such an extent as to disturb all the other residents of the building and vicinity.

The result was a complaint at about four o'clock to the police. Officers Kennedy and Letera answered the call and on going to the apartment against which the complaint was made were refused admission.

The people in charge of the building gave the officers authority to break in the door if necessary, but Officer Kennedy got out on the fire escape and gained entrance in that manner. A small quantity of liquor was found and two women, Virginia Vellis, whose apartment it was, and Grace Schultz and three men, Jack Miller, Joseph Eush and Al Hutchison were arrested.

On their appearance later Sunday morning before Mayor William H. Gillespie, Virginia Vellis was fined $25 as the keeper of a disorderly house, while Grace Schultz was fined $15 as an inmate and the three men were fined $10 each as visitors.

Prayer In Congress

The house met at 12 o'clock noon. The chaplain, Rev. James Shera Montgomery, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Countless are Thy witnesses, eternal God, our Father; humbled amid Thy glories, may we seek direction in Thy wisdom and in the simplicity of Thy marvelous teaching. At times we desire to do that which is beyond our strength; be gracious to accept the wish when we fail to do the deed. We are Thine; we are part of Thee and Thou art part of our best selves. O teach us to reveal what they dictate of purity, courage, and nobility. Lift the light of Thy truth upon all of us; may it remain in our memories and live in our daily conduct. Through Christ our Saviour, Amen.

The Way OF THE World

By GROVE PATTERSON

NO ENDS OF THE EARTH

There are no ends of the earth. The telephone hooked up with the radio has brought them close. Today you can talk on short notice from your house or office to practically any country in Europe. The United States is connected with 85 per cent of the telephones of the world. Many of us may live to see all the telephones of the world linked in one system.

SPEED

If you were to characterize the age we live in by one word, what word would come the nearest to expressing all there is to be said about it? Of course no one word will do. Perhaps the closest word is "speed." For instance, there was a marriage ceremony performed in Denver a few days ago and the ritual consisted of just one word. The preacher said "married," and the couple went on their way. Attorneys agree the ceremony is legal.

ON OUR WAY

Speaking of speed, how much of our thought and energy are devoted to going somewhere, getting somewhere, rushing somewhere. We are crazy, a lot of us at least, on the subject of transportation. The advertising that attracts us the most is the advertising of things that go fast. A whole nation is fascinated by any man who will risk his life to travel more than 200 miles an hour in racing car or airplane. We are ready to worship speed and speedsters.

FACING THE WRONG WAY

Paul Morand, French novelist, shocks American critics who think we in the United States furnish but a poor imitation of the things that make Europe desirable. Morand says these looking for culture and the gentle art of living are wasting their time in Europe when these things are much easier to be found in New York. New York, and he might well include many other places in America, is the place, according to this thoughtful Frenchman, where the present generation can lead a "superior life." It will be interesting to many to note that Mr. Morand defines a superior life as comprising good manners, picture galleries, Parisian frocks, the enjoyment of conversation, attendance at good plays, the knowledge of good times, and the strategy of love.

Well, well, this is doubtless true. No one need have a dull time in America. Much more likely to be dull abroad. But as to his definition of a superior life—that is something else.

FINDS MUMMY 4,000 YEARS OLD

Expedition In Egypt From Pennsylvania Reports On Discovery

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 31.—A mummy which, with its decorations of amulets and jewelry lay undisturbed for 4,000 years, has been discovered by the University of Pennsylvania Museum expedition at Mejdum, Egypt. Alan Rowe, field director advised the museum authorities in a report made public today.

Rowe said the mummy was that of a woman named Sat-Her-em-Hat, who lived about 2000 B. C.

"Around the neck of Sat-Her-em-Hat," the report stated, "was hung a semi-circular pendant formed by several concentric rows of faience cylindrical beads alternately green and black. In addition to this, a string of large graded beads of polished amethyst was found as well as a string of exquisite miniature amulets cut in carnelian jasper and lapis lazuli.

"The semi-circular end pieces of the pendant are of bluish-green faience, shaped and painted on the inner corner to represent hawk's heads. A scarab found in the coffin bore the proper name 'Her-em-Hat, the elder,' doubtless a relative of the deceased."

Rowe said the expedition was continuing its search for a burial chamber in the mastabah lying near the great pyramid of Seneferu, who lived about 2500 B. C. The mastabah, a huge tomb in the shape of a trapezoid was used for the burial of members of the royal family and dependents of Seneferu.

Carrie Landrum Is Found "Not Guilty"

Jury Brings In Verdict In Case Tried Before Judge Chambers Saturday

In the case of the commonwealth against Carrie Landrum, charged with larceny from the person of Thomas Longman, which was tried before Judge Chambers, the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty. It was claimed that Longman was relieved of about $30 at the Landrum home. He was intoxicated at the time, according to the evidence, and had a quart of whiskey, which he passed around among those present. Afterwards he claimed that he had been robbed and accused Mrs. Landrum, wife of Cy Landrum. Mrs. Landrum denied the charge, claiming that she had not even seen Longman with any money. There was no evidence that Mrs. Landrum had taken the money.

Faces Hide Emotion, Professor Declares

CLEVELAND, March 31.—Civilization teaches us to hide our true feelings, Professor Herbert Gurnee, of Western Reserve University believes.

Tests made upon adults by him to determine whether facial expression truly reacts to emotions have shown there is little reaction. This, he says, may be due to the fact that social pressure has made people's faces immobile.

To test reactions of the face to emotion, Dr. Gurnee is making motion pictures of babies too young to have acquired the ability to mask their facial expressions under various states of emotion.

Bachelors Fined In Birth Campaign

Mussolini Declares War On Male Spinsters By Taxing Them From $10 To $20

ANCONA, Italy, Mar. 31.—War against the falling birth rate is being waged upon all fronts—in Italy. The Ancona Magistrates have summoned all the bachelors within the city who have not yet paid their bachelor tax and sentenced them to pay fines ranging from $10 to $20.

Of the 100-odd cripples, habitual drunkards, beggars and mental delinquents who came up for examination 40 had to face fine or imprisonment, not so much for not getting married as for failing to pay the $2 tax, which is the price of their freedom from the bonds of matrimony. They made a pathetic scene as they hobbled into court, a long line of life's failures.

Several pleaded they had no fixed homes; others excused themselves on the ground that they could not even support themselves. Those who pleaded mental deficiency were remanded till they could be examined by an alienist. They all appealed.

Italy's birth rate was 38 per 1000 in 1850. When the peninsula was divided into several small states it fell to 30.3 in 1921 and 26.9 in 1927, according to Jean Gracy, a French expert, who has just gathered data showing the drop in all European states within the past 80 years. Italian statistics prove this country's birth rate has dropped since 1927 and in some cities fallen below the death rate.

This state of affairs seems to perturb the Fascist authorities, who have made great efforts to increase births.

Golfers Open Play In Georgia Tourney

(International News Service)
COUNTRY CLUB, AUGUSTA, Ga.
March 31.—An army of professional shooters, mingled with a handful of amateurs led by the peerless Bobby Jones, national open champion, today began a 36-hole trek around the hill and dollar-studded Augusta country club course in the first leg of the 72-hole southeastern open.

All the star money performers were here, except Walter Hagen, Wild Bill Mehlhorn, the Pensacola professional who recently won the rich Lagorce open, Leo Diegel and Tommy Armour. All in all, the professionals entered in the tourney number three score or more.

Heading the money boys was young Horton Smith, who now signs himself from Cragston, N. Y., and is headed straight for the second big battle of the year with the Atlanta golfing attorney.

In the recent Savannah, Ga., open Smith nosed out the national open champion by one stroke in a long, gruelling duel.

"Dead" May Live

Believing that her son, Martin Pritchard, formerly of Vincennes, Ind., whom she thought killed in action in France, in 1918, is alive and in an African military prison, Mrs. E. J. Pritchard, 76, now of Cushing, Okla., has requested the American Legion to attempt to obtain his release. She received a body believed to be that of her son and buried it, in 1921, but recently received a letter from a French Foreign Legion soldier who said he was her son. Photo shows the Legionnaire whom Mrs. Pritchard believes is her son.

Judges Urged To Heed "Human Experience"

Jurist Holds Laymen Entitled To Explanation Of "Mystifying Procedure"

Joseph M. Proskauer, Associate Justice of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of New York until his resignation a few months ago, and one of Governor Smith's closest and ablest advisers during the latter's term of service in Albany, contributes an article called "Dissenting Opinions" to Harpers Magazine.

"We lawyers might as well confess that the layman is entitled to receive from us, if not an excuse, at least an explanation for the mystifying procedure under which nine judges of the highest court of the land—assumed, and in general rightly assumed, to be learned leaders of the profession, versed in the law—may reach a conclusion by a vote of five to four and hand down two opinions each of which, crudely put, proves to the writer's satisfaction that the other is egregiously wrong."

These dissenting opinions arise because the law deals with human life and experience, the most complicated, difficult and least understood material in the world, he declares. "The law has to deal with human motives, good and bad, clear and obscure; with human conduct in every occupation and trade and profession and business; with the complicated processes which man has created for government. Thus, the judge's function is completely differentiated from that of the mere umpire or referee. The referee at the football game has many rules to enforce; he must choose which is applicable, interpret, and apply it. We have sometimes seen the football officials disagree among themselves or reverse their rulings. Recalling this picture, we may perhaps marvel less to find dissent among judges who must arbitrate not the mere playing of a team for sixty minutes, but, continuously through the years, the play and the work and the endeavors of millions and must give coherent rules of conduct for man's myriad activities, ceaselessly impacting upon one another."

CAIRO FELONS MAKE DARING PRISON BREAK

By RUTH JANE WILLIAMS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CAIRO, Mar. 31.—Seven men walked calmly out of the Taurah Prison and into freedom.

This prison is considered one of the stoutest in the Orient and boast fewer escapes than any other in Egypt.

Yet these seven condemned prisoners fled the bar of their cell, slid down to the ground on a sheet rope, crossed the prison grounds, over two barriers of barbed wire without detection and surmounted the high prison wall successfully.

The prison is thoroughly policed and the walls minutely guarded.

Six of the fugitives were over taken the next day, on the desert. The seventh remains yet at liberty. All seven were renowned as being among the most dangerous criminals in the country.

Shenango Township School Board Claims George Connor Was Assigned To Boyd School

In the case of William A. Connor against the Shenango township school board, in which Connor seeks to have the school board furnish transportation for his son, George C. Connor, to the Shenango township consolidated school, the defendant filed an answer at the probatory's office this morning in which allegations of the plaintiff are denied.

According to the defense, Connor's son was assigned to the Boyd school instead of the McKee school, which was closed. It is claimed that for the past 36 years pupils in the vicinity of Connor's home have been attending the Boyd school.

When the consolidated school building was erected permission for George Connor to attend was asked and granted provided he should live near the school. He went to the home of a relative named Baker from which he attended the school for some time, and then returned to his home. Application was then made to have him transported to the consolidated school. This was refused and suit was started by Connor. A hearing will be held to determine the matter.

CAT MOTHERS ORPHAN PUPPIES

(International News Service)
BOSTON, March 31.—The alley and the drawing room have found a common ground of contact here in the needs of infant patricians whose ancestry is iron clad and fool proof.

It was a situation that developed when a hard boiled tabby cat whose immediate forbears knew only the neighborhood of the tenements took pity on a couple of forlorn pups, left to shift for themselves when their mother, a pure bred Brussels griffin was taken to the Angell Memorial hospital here for an operation.

The puppies about 30 hours old were brought to the Animal Rescue League quarters to remain until their own mother could take care of them again. A mother cat, with a new brood of her own was enlisted for a share of the responsibility. She accepted, at first, but as frequently happens the hapless plight of the helpless youngsters won her sympathy.

Atterbury Scored By Senator Grundy For Election Viewpoints

Charges And Counter-Charges Fly Thick And Fast In Pennsylvania Politics

Senator Grundy Incensed At Statements Alleged To Have Come From Atterbury

By E. L. RAWLEY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, March 31.—Charges and counter-charges, interspersed with bitter personalities, flew thick and fast today among the leaders of the Republican factions battling for the senatorial and gubernatorial nominations in the Pennsylvania state primary election.

Brig. Gen. W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, and a member of the Republican national committee, was accused of being the directing mind in a conspiracy to grab control of the state government and the public treasury; dictate the personnel and policy of the public service commission, and dominate all the important relationships of this great state with the federal government, by U. S. Senator Joseph E. Grundy, who is a candidate for re-election to the office to which he was appointed last December.

"Bull in China Shop"
The senator was likened to "a bull in a china shop" by Herman Blum, manufacturer and associate of Grundy in the American Tariff League, in a hot retort to the accusation against Atterbury.

Senator Grundy should "accept the fall of his house of cards as complete," Blum added, and retire from a contest in which "he cannot possibly be nominated."

Leading up to his charges against Gen. Atterbury, Senator Grundy declared "the most corrupt period in American politics was that in which the big railroads of the country dominated elections, controlled state legislatures, bought or repealed laws at their own will, strangled industry and shook down the public."

Threw Off Yoke
The people of the nation finally arose and threw off the yoke of the railroads and passed laws curtailing their activities in such a determined manner that railroad executives dropped out of politics, asserted the junior Pennsylvania senator.

"Since that time until W. W. Atterbury," Senator Grundy continued, no railroad head "has dared even attempt to bring the railroads of the country back into the political affairs of the states or the nation."

"By the grace of the political machine now guided by the so-called 'war board' composed of Tom Cunningham, Charles Hall, Sam Salus et al., Mr. Atterbury now is the Republican national committeeman from Pennsylvania. And Mr. Atterbury is the directing mind in the conspiracy being carried out by Cunningham, Hall, Salus and their pawns," asserted Grundy.

In his counter-charge State Senator Salus charged Arthur Townsend, state budget officer, at Harrisburg, has sold to the state a tract of land near Washington crossing in Bucks county which was supposed to have historical value that did not have any historical value. Townsend is a lieutenant of Grundy's.

Bella A. Taylor Is Candidate For State Legislature

BELLA A. TAYLOR

In announcing my candidacy as a representative from the first district (New Castle) of Lawrence County to the General Assembly, I desire to state that I was a candidate for this office four years ago, at which time I came in second in a field of seven candidates, and lacking only 330 votes of winning. I feel this was not a failure but an unfinished victory. My many loyal friends have urged me to enter the race again to complete this victory. May 20, the Republican voters of New Castle will nominate their candidate for the General Assembly. I am a candidate for that nomination.

A mother and business woman, I have been engaged in civic and club work for more than twenty-five years. My activities in civic, religious, and public affairs in New Castle are too well known to need further comment. I stand for conservation of the race through better legislation for women and children; a square deal for the working man as well as the working woman; and educational advancement in the state.

The home is the citadel of the nation, but remedial legislation that will protect and preserve the sanctity of the home is a state as well as a national need. I favor economy in government and tax reduction.

The duty of a legislator is primarily to make laws. Intimate knowledge of legislative methods, personal acquaintance with leaders of the state, and knowledge of the district I desire to serve to qualify me for the position of legislator.

I believe the city of New Castle should be represented at Harrisburg by a property tax payer. This I have been for twenty-nine years. I ask the voters of New Castle for their favorable consideration of my candidacy, and promise, if successful, to serve honestly to the best of my ability my constituents.

Charge Against College Boxer

Penn State Collegian Is Summoned To Probe In Horne's Death

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, March 31.—William Strubel, 160-pound Penn State collegian, and his seconds in the recent intercollegiate boxing bout here during which Oliver Horne, captain of the University of Pennsylvania boxing team was injured, today were summoned for a hearing before Magistrate Louis Hamburg of West Philadelphia.

A technical charge of involuntary manslaughter has been lodged against Strubel.

Horne was taken to the University of Pennsylvania hospital following the bout which occurred on March 22nd. On the Monday following he was operated on and a blood clot on his brain removed. He died Saturday night of pneumonia.

The hearing is looked upon as mere formality since two physicians who attended Horne have asserted they believe death was due to pneumonia. Horne's head injury really was self-inflicted being caused by him striking his head against Strubel's knee when he slipped and fell during the bout, according to physicians and witnesses of the contest.

Voting Machines Ready At Du Bois

Seven Machines Are Installed And Will Be Used May 20

DU BOIS, Pa., March 31.—Hundreds of qualified voters of Du Bois have taken their first lesson in the operation of voting machines, in preparation for the spring primaries on May 20, when the automatic tabulators will be used in all the precincts of this city.

Seven machines have been received here—the first to be delivered to any voting precinct in Pennsylvania for actual use at an official election. They were ordered by the commissioners of Clearfield county, immediately after the election of last fall, when DuBois voted overwhelmingly to adopt the voting machines. Three other municipalities in the state will be equipped with the machines in time for use at the spring primaries.

Pennsylvania's election code prohibits the use of regular machines as demonstrators, but an extra machine has been received here for practice purposes. It has been set up in a public office and equipped for primary election purposes by J. W. McIntosh, official custodian. It was made available for all voters who desire to inspect it and the custodian is kept busy explaining its intricacies and the methods of operating it. Women formed the majority of the crowds that inspected it.

Chinese Wire Tappers Furnish Home Owner With Free Current

PEIPING, March 31.—Wholesale thefts of electric current by Chinese householders who tap electric power lines and light their houses free of charge have been uncovered by the Peiping Electric Lighting Company.

The company learned that a group of electricians were making a regular business of tapping power lines, and providing free electricity to a large number of homes and shops.

The electricians, according to the Chinese press, solicited business, offering to tap lines for a small sum and free current indefinitely. The lines were tapped in many places before the electric company finally learned what was happening.

In the past, military and civil officials have tapped the company's lines and refused to pay, but this practice has been largely abolished.

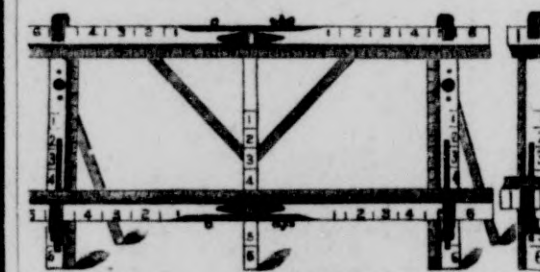

Swedish Telephone Business Increases

STOCKHOLM, Mar. 31.—Sweden now has more than 500,000 telephones, or 84 per cent. each 1000 inhabitants.

According to statistics just released by the government telephone and telegraph board, headed by Count Adolf Hamilton, nearly 400,000 long distance calls to Swedish points were placed from Stockholm during January this year, against about 380,000 during the same period in 1929.

The local calls within the capital, the majority of which are handled automatically, numbered more than 20,300,000, or 1,000,000 more than the year before.

Nation Will Spend $1,601,167,455 On Roads During 1930

Pennsylvania Leads Country With $159,835,000 Construction Program

WASHABLE, March 31.—A survey of the nation by the Bureau of Public Roads of the Department of Agriculture shows that the States, and their territories, will expend $250,000,000 more for road construction in 1930 than in 1929, the total outlay being approximately $1,601,167,455 for improvement during the year.

The planned expenditure by State Highway Commissions for construction and maintenance is $937,500,455; for local roads and bridges $663,667,000.

Pennsylvania leads with an outlay of $159,835,000, and New York next, with $144,940,000. New Jersey plans to spend $60,000,000 and Connecticut $15,500,000.

The total length of the roads to be improved this year, highway departments estimate, will be 32,532 miles, and increase of 3126 over the estimate in the 1929 program.

The Highway Departments of States will control the maintenance of 281,393 miles of highways this year, an increase of 32,381 over 1929. Gradually the states are taking over the more important county and local roads.

The states of greatest population and industrialization in which unemployment is greatest show the highest contemplated expenditures. The Middle Atlantic States, comprising New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, plan to spend $374,835,310 on improvement of State and local roads.

The East North Central States of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin plan to spend $303,696,000.

The West North Central States, including Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas, rank third in their contemplated expenditures of $236,401,727, and the South Atlantic States of Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida, with an expenditure of $182,872,418, rank fourth.

The West South Central States of Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas rank fifth with an expenditure of $154,100,000; and the Pacific States, comprising Washington, Oregon and California, rank sixth with an expenditure of $121,590,000.

Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama and Mississippi, making up the East South Central group, plan to spend $101,992,000 on State and local road improvement.

Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut, in the New England group, plan to spend $75,430,000; and the Mountain States of Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah and Nevada, $50,190,000.

The first two charges penetrated his throat. He reloaded the gun four times and fired the shot into his stomach.

Railway Workmen Ask Wage Increase

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, March 31.—Whether 2,800 motormen and conductors of the Pittsburgh railways company will be granted the wage increase they have requested was to be subject of renewed discussion today by company officials. Representatives of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway employees and Electric Railway employees were to confer with them.

Reports say the men seek a five-cent increase in the hourly wage of motormen and conductors, making their maximum 75 cents an hour. A 15 cent raise was asked for operatives of one-man cars, it was reported.

No statements were made by either side today, pending "further deliberations."

William White, union president, and P. J. McGrath, secretary, were to represent the car operatives, while Vice-President Thomas Fitzgerald of the Railways company, headed the traction delegation. Parleys were to be held in Fitzgerald's office.

Special Agent Here To Aid In Taking Census

E. W. Erickson Of Washington Will Assist In Census Of Distribution

WARNINGS AGAINST FAKE ENUMERATORS

E. W. Erickson of Washington, D. C., chief special agent of the bureau of census, arrived in New Castle today to assist in the task of getting the census of cost and distribution under way.

Mr. Erickson, who is an expert in this line, is instructing the special enumerators, who will start out on the task of gathering the desired information from all business and industrial establishments in the district, and the information given to these enumerators will be held strictly confidential.

It is the aim of the government to secure an intimate idea of the cost of distributing goods manufactured in this country. It knows the cost of production, but it does not know what it costs to distribute goods and materials to the consumer. The information is being sought with an aim of putting down the cost of distribution if possible.

Mr. Erickson issues a note of warning to business and industrial leaders to beware of bogus census takers, who might be seeking information from them for competitive firms. All enumerators will bear credentials properly signed, and those without these credentials should be ignored, he states.

JURY TO GET CASE LATE THIS AFTERNOON; SEE EARLY VERDICT

ference, for under the law all are guilty if a murder is committed in the commission of, or flight from a robbery. You have heard the evidence. You are sworn to do your duty regardless of how unpleasant it may be. Our natural tendency is to shrink from an unpleasant duty, but in this you cannot shrink, you cannot evade your duty, and I know that you will do it."

Asks for Life Imprisonment

Opening for the defense Attorney Thomas W. Dickey immediately went into the fact that it had not been proven that Dague fired the fatal shot. "The Commonwealth has already one death verdict in this murder," said Mr. Dickey. At this point Attorney Sebastian Pugliese objected that it was improper argument, and Judge Hildebrand sustained his position.

"We offer no excuse for Dague's leaving his wife and family," said Mr. Dickey. "We do not know why he did it, nor can we offer any reason, save one, Irene Schroeder."

"What good can be accomplished by taking this man's life. No one regrets any more than we, the fact that Brady Paul is dead. But, taking Dague's life cannot restore him to society, cannot return him to his mother. Will you take this man away where his children can never see him again, or will you put him in prison where they will be enabled to see him from time to time?"

Not Proven

Attorney Benjamin Jarret concluded the defense arguments. He argued that it had not been proven that Dague fired the shot that killed Paul, that it may have been done accidentally by Moore, that Dague was a member of the party but was not actually guilty of the crime.

Jarret's argument, like Dickey's was one of mercy, rather than justice. Regardless of the verdict, Dague can be well satisfied that his interests were well handled by the two attorneys, and their pleas might well influence any jury to be merciful. They were calculated to impress the fact upon the jury that the man on trial did not fire the fatal shot, although he was guilty of criminal conduct. They did not ask that he be acquitted or that any degree less than first be given, but they did ask this, that his life be spared.

Special Counsel Charles J. Margiotti will conclude the arguments this afternoon. It is probable that he will take two hours for his presentation of the case and if this be true, the charge of Judge R. Lawrence Hildebrand should be met sometime near four o'clock. If the plan followed in the Schroeder case is carried out, the jury will get the case before supper time.

Closes Long Term

The finish of the Dague case closes one of the longest trials in the country's history. For the trial must be linked up with that of Irene Schroeder. Both of the trials arose out of the murder of Corporal Brady Paul on the Butler road on December 27th, 1929.

Irene Schroeder's trial started on Monday morning, March 10th. The jury was not selected until noon of March 12th and the taking of testimony started that afternoon. The verdict, "guilty of murder in the first degree with the death penalty was returned on Friday, March 21st, just two months from the day the New Castle officers started back from Phoenix, Arizona with Irene and Glen Dague.

Dague's trial started on Monday morning, March 24th, the jury being selected by noon on Tuesday. The taking of testimony was shortened somewhat in this case and if a verdict is returned tonight, it will be four days ahead of the verdict in the Schroeder case.

With the verdict in the Dague case, Lawrence county sees an end of two trials that attracted the attention not alone of this nation, but of foreign nations. The British Isles, France, Germany and Italy all carried accounts of the cases, and to keep the world informed of the progress of them, a large group of newspaper men and women from other papers and from press services were present.

From many angles the cases have been the most difficult in the history of the county. Curious throngs have pressed for admission, but at no time has the court room been uncomfortably crowded. Judge Hildebrand handed down a ruling at the opening of the case that the court room was not to be crowded and this was followed.

To expedite the cases and to keep down expense, Judge Hildebrand held many night sessions. This fact alone was a surprise to many visitors for in many courts of the state night sessions are unknown. It meant more work but the court believed that the trials should be run off as speedily as possible.

What time the verdict will be in is something no one can say. It is possible that it may be within an hour of the time the jury takes it, and it is just as possible that the jury may debate it until midnight. In either case it seems apparent that there can be but one of two verdicts, the electric chair or life imprisonment.

And as they debate, W. Glenn Dague, erstwhile salesman of Wheeling, wife deserter and bandit buddy of the Trigger Blonde sits in his dreary cell, wondering whether an outraged citizenry will demand his life or mercifully will spare his life and keep him locked up for the balance of his life.

Saturday Afternoon Session. Albert L. Dague, father of Glenn Dague went on the stand and testified that he was Glenn's father and had resided in Marshall county, W. Va. Mrs. Theresa Dague, wife of the defendant, went on the stand. Before she could testify, Margiotti asked for an offer at side-bar.

Q. What is your name?
A. Theresa Dague.
Q. Are you the wife of Glenn Dague?
A. Yes.
Q. When did he leave you?
A. April 6, 1929.
Cross examination:
Q. What do you do?
A. Teaching school.
Q. Did you teach school before he left you?
A. No.

Defense Rests.

The defense rested at 1:48 p. m. Officer William Kessling of St. Louis was called in rebuttal and denied statements made by Dague concerning the attack in St. Louis.

Morris Markowitz, a pawnshop proprietor of Pittsburgh, was called and testified that on Nov. 5, 1929, he had sold Dague a 38 caliber holster. He also sold him a Spanish 38 caliber gun. Dague turned over a Spanish 38 caliber gun on the purchase, he said.

A. Horowitz was called. He conducts a pawnshop on Federal street, Pittsburgh. On September 7, 1929, he said Dague and a woman and a child were in his store, bringing with them a gun they had bought there, a 32 caliber Spanish gun, for repairs. They could not repair the gun and Dague left in a huff. Horowitz testified. He said Dague had used the name of Williams.

Sheriff Charles Wright of Phoenix was recalled. He testified that Dague never asked for a doctor in the Phoenix jail but that he (Wright) had bought a microchrome for Dague's wound in his leg.

Bart Richards and County Detective Lee were called as to Dague's statement where he got his wound. Lee testified that Dague had said he got the wound either at Chandler or in the Estrella mountains. Lewis L. Osterwise of Uniontown, Pa., was called and a side-bar asked for before he could testify. After 30 minutes side-bar a 30-minute recess was taken.

Sheriff Wright testified that Dague had told him he had robbed about 20 chain stores.

Dague was recalled and denied it. The Commonwealth and defense rested at 4:15.

Court adjourned at 4:25.

COURT ROOM, BUFFALO, N. Y., March 31.—Motion to dismiss the indictment charging first degree murder against Lila J. Jemerson, Indian girl on trial for the hammer slaying of Mrs. Clothilde Marchand, was denied today by Judge F. Bret Thorn. The motion was the opening gun of the defense.

"I move dismissal of the indictment on the grounds that the state has failed to prove a homicide against this defendant," said John V. Maloney of defense counsel.

"The state has failed to show that this defendant engaged in a conspiracy with Nancy Bowen to kill Mrs. Marchand."

Judge Thorn promptly denied the motion and then the defense brought forward the first of its witnesses.

Before the defense opened, the state was permitted to re-open its case to put two witnesses on the stand. One of them, Stanley Subocinski, a drug-gist of North Collins, N. Y., testified Lila bought an ounce of chloroform from him. He identified the defendant.

"She gave me the name of Miss L. M. Jameson, aged 35 years," the drug-gist testified. "She said she wanted the chloroform to relieve pain being suffered by a horse."

Chloroform was used in the killing of Mrs. Marchand who was beaten with a hammer and chloroformed by Nancy Bowen, an old superstitious Indian friend of the defendant, the state contends.

Bulletin By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Staff Editor

NEW YORK, March 31.—Although the road to higher prices in many of the speculative favorites was blocked today by a huge volume of profit taking and short selling, the usual strong and spectacular forward movements were staged in other sections of the list in one of the most active markets of the year. Trading up to the end of the third hour was well above the 5,000,000 share pace and the tickers were at that time trailing the market forty minutes.

United States Steel again set the pace when a burst of powerful speculative buying carried the stock to a new high for the year at 195. Up 1 1/2 points for the day. Radio forged ahead to 55 1/2 before encountering very much opposition. The shorts having a "tough time" according to market gossip. Radio corporation's report showed the company in a strong and powerful position with net earnings for last year up to expectations at $1.58 a share.

International Tel. and Tel. was also a star performer, rushing up 3 1/2 points to 68 1/4, while American Tel. and Tel. was under profit taking and settled back about two points. In anticipation of the 25 per cent stock distribution, with stock ex-dividend tomorrow, Columbia Gas and Electric jumped above 10 for the first time this year and reached a new high for the year at 101 1/2. Commonwealth and Southern featured the low priced utilities with a 1 point rise to 18 3/4.

May Ask Huston To Resign Post

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 31.—President Hoover was reliably reported today to be considering making a request to Claudius H. Huston, chairman of the Republican National committee, that he resign his post "for the good of the party."

The White House officially maintained silence on the matter, but a confident of Mr. Hoover's was authoritative for the statement that the president is contemplating action.

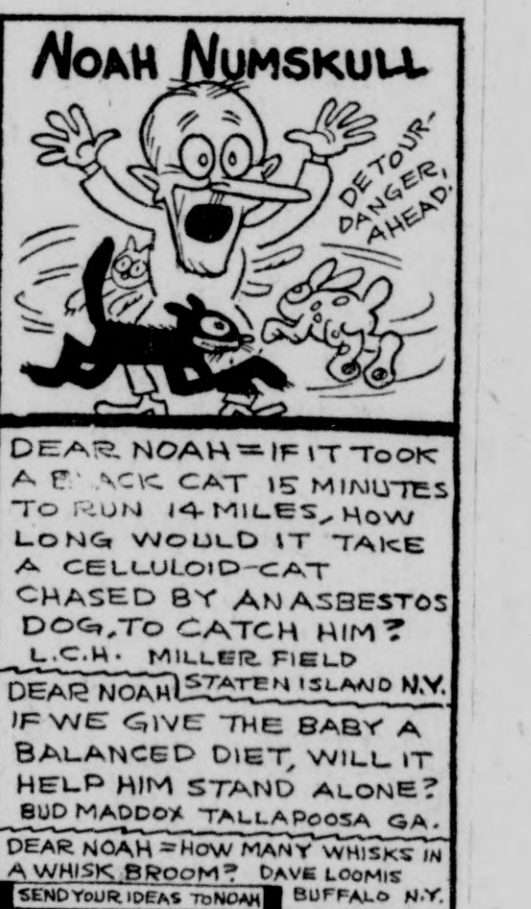

If the president does ask Huston to resign he will be following the advice of Senate who have counseled such a move since the revelations of Huston's lobbying activities and stock market operations were produced by the Caraway committee. Huston has hitherto declined to consider senatorial requests that he relinquish his post, asserting that he would retire only at Mr. Hoover's request.

City To Turn Off South Mill Signal

Council Opines There Is No Present Need For Traffic Light

Council today in city hall decided that remodeling of the Euwer building, South Mill street, having been delayed, see no reason for the traffic signal at South Mill and Water street, and City Electrician George Nickum will be instructed to make it inoperative for the present, at least.

The question of the light's benefit was brought up by Councilman Burns who said that automobiles crashed there a few days ago. He said the bridge is slippery in wet weather. Councilman Reeves said the auto crash was caused by careless operation.

However, he agreed that the light should be turned off.

It is reported that the Euwer building was to be torn down and Montgomery and Ward company would occupy a new building.

Council granted permission for a barricade in South Mill street and a light signal installed.

No action toward the work has been made and this influenced council's action today.

Just Among Us Girls

The Parent Problem

by GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Keep Child Off Street After Dark

Several years ago the city in which I live passed a curfew law by which all children under 14, unaccompanied by adults, are forbidden to be on the streets at night after 9 o'clock.

A well meaning group of parents got together recently to appeal to our police department to enforce this law. Their proposal was not met well by the press, nor by a very large number of influential people or organizations.

There seems to be no doubt in the minds of most reasonable adults that in general children under 14 should be at home or in the company of their elders if so early an hour as 9 o'clock. Yet it is very doubtful whether such a matter belongs to the police department.

The police have been too busy in most cities, rounding up the criminals over 14 years of age, to have much time to chase younger persons home.

What are parents for, anyway? Are they going to expect the state to discipline their children? A good many don't expect. They calmly let their children roam at large.

If any curfew law at all is desirable it ought to hold the parents of children out on the streets unaccompanied late at night responsible. I can imagine some parents, while spending a few days in jail, developing an awakened interest in the whereabouts of their children after dark. But most parents would not profit greatly, I believe, from such punishment, even if there were enough policemen available to enforce such a law. Sudden enforcement of such a law would be impossible, because such a large number of the children who are on the streets late at night, without adult companions, belong to parents who represent the more intelligent level of the community. Some of these parents actually think their children should enjoy such liberties; some parents who want to keep their children off the streets are unable to do so; some don't care.

There still may be enough intelligent parents to be found in churches, clubs and parent-teacher organizations to define some standards in respect to these matters, and to create sufficient interest and influence to persuade many other parents to accept such standards and to work out ways of holding children up to them. Many energetic women are eagerly on the lookout for some worthy cause to espouse, for something they can do for the welfare of their community. Here it is.

In the meantime your children and mine are growing up. What may we do? I care not what course others may take, but as for our family, we made it a rule, as soon as our children were old enough to play out of doors, that when the street lights went on they automatically should come into the house. The hour is not of so much importance as the amount of light. Children under 14, who early learn this simple definite habit, find it no hardship. They are not embarrassed by the calling of some adult. Their playmates may not even observe the signal of their going in.

Besides promoting physical and moral safety, such a program furthers habits of responsibility in the child. I wish I might persuade other parents to adopt a similar program; but I am not at all interested in having even other people's children able to enforce such a law. Believe Mad Dog Visited Mercer

Quarantine Is Placed On All Animals By Field Agent Harry Higbee

MERCER, Pa., March 31.—That the mad dog who visited the farm of George McCoy in East Lackawanna township two weeks ago and bit 12 sheep visited Mercer is the opinion of Agent Harry Higbee of Stoneboro who has charge of the dog law enforcement in the county for the bureau of animal husbandry.

To date three of the sheep have developed rabies and have been killed. It is expected that McCoy will lose more animals as a result of the raid of the dog.

How many animals in Mercer may have been infected is problematical says Higbee who knows of no cases here but is certain that with the dog in town that there is a potential possibility of serious results. The local police officers have been notified to enforce the dog law to the letter says Higbee who asks that all good citizens co-operate with the officers in abating this menace.

SHORT OF THE MARK

Old Fred Stone, musical comedy ace, did the best he could, but finally he broke down and admitted that in the theatre on Mazda Lane cleanliness no longer is next to godliness—it's next to subsistence.

And as if in substantiation of this, along comes Bill Hodge—Little Rollo of the Show Shop—with a new play, wherein he makes obedience to the ostermoor school of dramatics.

There's a moment in his new show, "The Old Rascal," when Bill takes off everything but his whiskers and his union suit, and after struggling into a nightie climbs into bed with an entrancing but unknown young woman.

As one of the female Drammer Dammers put it: "Never did we expect to see the day when it would be necessary to warn the innocent against a show by Bill Hodge."

The trouble is, instead of going all the way and being plumb dirty, he felters on the rim of the sewer.

Bill's going to realize then it's too late that a standard lowered only half way isn't far enough to suit the cigar-root suckin' sophistication who make dirt pay on Broadway today.

It's things like them that leaves a scar, Bill!

FELLED BY LIVE WIRE AT X-RAY

CANTON, O., March 31.—Dr. Stanley S. Sidenberg, 33, acting head of Molly Stark hospital and formerly connected with Mount Sinai Hospital, Cleveland, was seriously injured today when he came into contact with a live wire in the X-ray room of the hospital.

Two others, also were injured. Dr. Sidenberg and Hahn, custodian of the children's ward, were engaged in taking an X-ray picture of a child when Dr. Sidenberg touched the wire.

The shock threw him across the room, knocking him unconscious. Hahn, whose hand was touching Dr. Sidenberg, also was knocked down. The child escaped with minor bruises, received when she fell from the X-ray table.

Youthful Forgers Are Given Parole

BUTLER, Pa., March 31.—Clair Erwin, 17, and his brother, 18, who have been in the county jail for 17 days under charges of forging checks bearing the name of H. H. Bollinger, of Butler, were placed under parole by Judge James O. Campbell.

When one of the checks was presented at the Butler County National bank, the teller noticed that the letter "n" was omitted from "Bollinger." He detained the youths and called an officer, who placed them under arrest. Confession followed.

Attorney for the accused youths told the court that the boys had tried to pass the checks to get money to prevent the sale of furniture in their parents' home. Judge Campbell was also told that there are 13 children in the family, which is in poor circumstances.

Sour Stomach

Sweetened instantly

Just a tasteless dose of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in water. That is an alkali, effective, yet harmless. It has been the standard antacid for 50 years among physicians everywhere. One spoonful will neutralize at once many times its volume of acid. It is the right way, the quick, pleasant and efficient way to kill the excess acid. The stomach becomes sweet, the pain departs. You are happy again in five minutes.

Don't depend on crude methods. Employ the best way yet evolved in all the years of searching. That is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug-store.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

THE BEST WAY TO WHITEN TEETH

A single application of Phillips' Dental Magnesia Toothpaste will bring glistening, white teeth and a sweet breath.

Prove it at our expense. Write The Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., New York, N. Y., for free ten-day tube.

—BELL SYSTEM POLICY

The Most Service

..... WHY "the most service"?

Because the value of your telephone service depends on the number of telephones you can reach.

Telephone service is different.

If yours were the only automobile in the world it would take you just as far as it does now. If yours were the only heating system your home would be just as warm as it is today.

But if yours were the only telephone it would be useless. Its value lies in the fact that it can be connected with other telephones. The more telephones with which it can be connected, the greater its usefulness.

Each day your telephone service is growing in scope and value. Last year 80,000 new telephones were added in Pennsylvania alone. By the end of 1930 we anticipate 80,000 more.

Increasing complexity of the telephone service mechanisms is inherent in a growing inter-communication service. Telephoneresearch, invention, discovery are meeting this problem.

Your service will continue to grow in scope, usefulness and value neuritis, without getting the least help. This famous new compound has relieved thousands who have never been helped by any other medicine. The remarkable accomplishments of Ten Herbs is due to its ten wonderful herbal ingredients, which cleanse and invigorate the whole human system. If ailing, get a bottle of Ten Herbs today at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 E. Washington St., this city, where this popular preparation is being introduced.

"Ten Herbs gave me such wonderful results when I used it some time ago that I am glad to tell others about your medicine," said Mr. Albert
Niemetz, 4554 Rosina Way, Pittsburgh, Pa. "I had suffered from indigestion for three years, and was almost a physical wreck. My appetite was very poor, and there were certain kinds of food I did not dare to eat. I was troubled with gas, heartburn and shortness of breath.

"For two years or more I had been subject to headaches that would last for two or three days at a time. At times I got so dizzy I feared I would fall. My vision would become blurred —everything seemed to turn black.
Nervousness disturbed my rest at night, and I had a tired, worn-out feeling all the time. There were pains across my back, and I was also troubled with constipation.

"I started using Ten Herbs when I read in the papers how your medicine was helping people of this section. It was not long before I felt like a different person. Indigestion disappeared, and I no longer had terrible heartburn, gas, coated tongue, or bad taste in my mouth. Pains left from around my heart, and my breathing improved. I became free of headaches, dizziness, blurring of vision, and that worn-out feeling.
My nerves got stronger, and pains left my back. Constipation was corrected. I am pleased to endorse Ten Herbs to the public."

Ten Herbs is being introduced at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East
Washington St., this city, and is sold by all leading druggists throughout this entire section.

CARRIE NATION OF TEXAS MAY RUN FOR SHERIFF

Crusader, Jailed On Liquor Charge, Is Asked To Seek Post

PAMPA, Tex., March 31.—The panhandle's own Carrie Nation, in jail on a liquor charge, was put forward Sunday night as a candidate for sheriff.

Five hundred residents of Laketon bespoke their approval of the temperance activities of Miss Buelah Allred, the crusader, by sending two representatives to her cell with the request she run.

Miss Allred, who since being arrested when she paraded the city streets waving a bottle of liquor, has set up temporary W. C. T. U. headquarters in her jail cell, refused last night to comment on the request.

W. C. Christopher and E. I. Howard, wealthy ranchers representing Laketon, also offered to provide the $500 bond which will release Miss Allred from jail.

Refuses Offer of Bail.
The temperance crusader refused the offer, however. She vowed to remain behind the bars until John Holmes, district attorney of Borger, who was mysteriously murdered last fall, is avenged.

"Until the court releases me or the governor sends troops to take the guns off these crooked officials who danced on Johnny Holmes' grave, I'll stay right in this cell and fight to keep liquor out of Pampa," she said.

For the first time today the name of Holmes was injected into the case.
Miss Allred linked her two-year battle against liquor with the fate of the youthful barrister, declaring he was murdered by a "liquor ring five weeks after he had planned to clean up Pampa."

Sheriff E. S. Graves, occupant of that office for the last ten years, said:
"We don't need to get excited over the ravings of a few fanatics. Law violation here is not above the average in quantity." Graves is not a candidate for re-election.

Air Mail Pilot Jumps From Plane

Saves Life By Leap From Disabled Plane Near Warren, Ohio

CLEVELAND, O., March 31.—Harry
A. Seivers, mail pilot, literally jumped out of the air mail service early yesterday morning, when a thick coat of ice put his plane out of control at 2,000 feet near Warren, O., forcing him to take to his parachute while the plane spun to the ground, crashing on its nose and was demolished.
Seivers also jumped into fame as the only local flyer who has made two emergency parachute leaps from airplanes and one of the few pilots anywhere who have qualified as second-degree members of the Caterpillar Club, composed of airmen whose para-chutes have saved their lives.

Yesterday's jump came as an unexpected climax of the "last flight," dreaded by superstitious airmen.
When Seivers took off from Cleveland Airport about 1:30 a. m. it was to make his last flight to Pittsburgh as a mail pilot for the Clifford Ball Air Line. He was leaving the air mails to fly for Standard Oil Co. of Ohio.

It was dark and stormy as Seivers sawed away with his load of mail.
Nearing Warren the plane began to quiver as a swiftly growing layer of ice, most dreaded foe of the airman, weighed down wings and wires.

Runs Into Squall.
Then, to make a bad matter worse,
Seivers ran into a severe snow squall.
"I ducked and dodged, attempting to get out of the storm," he said. "Then at an altitude of 2,000 feet, the ship went out of control and began to spin.

"I tried to jump, but the centrifugal force of the spin prevented me from breaking away from the plane until I was about 200 feet from the ground."
"I hit pretty hard and was knocked out. When I recovered consciousness
I found the plane less than 100 yards from where I landed. It had hit on the nose, which was buried four feet in the soft mud.

"The plane was a washout, but it did not catch fire and the mail was undamaged. I took it out of the mail compartment and into Warren, where it was put on a train for Pittsburgh."
Seivers' first jump was made one night last October near Beaver Falls, Pa., soon after he had left Pittsburgh for Cleveland. Motor trouble caused him to leave the plane on that occasion.

He had a narrow escape from a

STOPS PAIN
From coast to coast men and women are singing the praise of "Anti-Pain Oil"—a most powerful, penetrating, pain-relieving unimpaired. It will penetrate thickest sole leather in a few minutes. Mrs. B. Werner, New Orleans, La., writes, "Thanks to your wonderful penetrating oil, it relieved me of rheumatism and deep-seated cold after other remedies failed."

"I had rheumatism so bad I had to walk on crutches for nine years," says H. C. Hendrix, old soldier of Minneapolis, Minn. "After three months' treatment with 'Anti-Pain Oil' I laid off my crutches and now can walk like a boy."

J. B. Moore, Pittsburgh, Pa., railroad man, says, "Anti-Pain Oil is the only liniment that ever gave me relief from rheumatism.
I use it regularly after being exposed to bad weather." For rheumatism, neuralgia, limbago, stiff joints, pain in back and limbs, corns, bunions, chest colds, sore throat "Anti-Pain Oil" is said to be without an equal.

lost in a snowstorm while searching for Cleveland Airport in the early morning. A lull in the storm showed him he was over Edgewater Park, and without further ado he proceeded to "set her down" on one of the baseball diamonds there.

According to his mates at the airport, Seivers will soon take another leap, this time into matrimony with a young woman living in Erie, Pa.

HIGHLIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

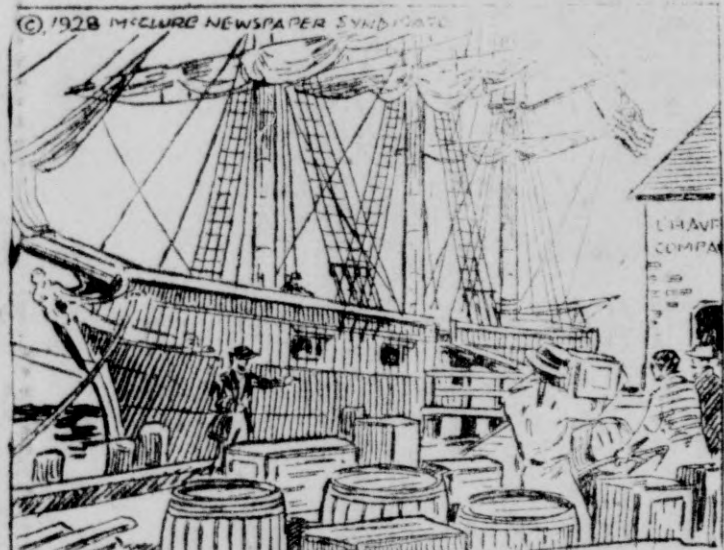

The Story Of American Industry
American Commerce And The Embargo Act Of 1807

THE EMBARGO ACT WAS A GRAVE MISTAKE. THOUSANDS OF OUR SEAMEN FOUND THEMSELVES ASHORE WITHOUT EMPLOYMENT. OUR SHIPS ROTTED AT THEIR DOCKS. AND HARD TIMES DESCENDED UPON THE SEA PORTS OF NEW ENGLAND. THE ACT WAS REPEALED (1809), BUT BEFORE OUR COMMERCE COULD RECOVER FROM THE BLIGHT OF THE EMBARGO, CAME THE WAR OF 1812 AND THE BRITISH BLOCKADE.

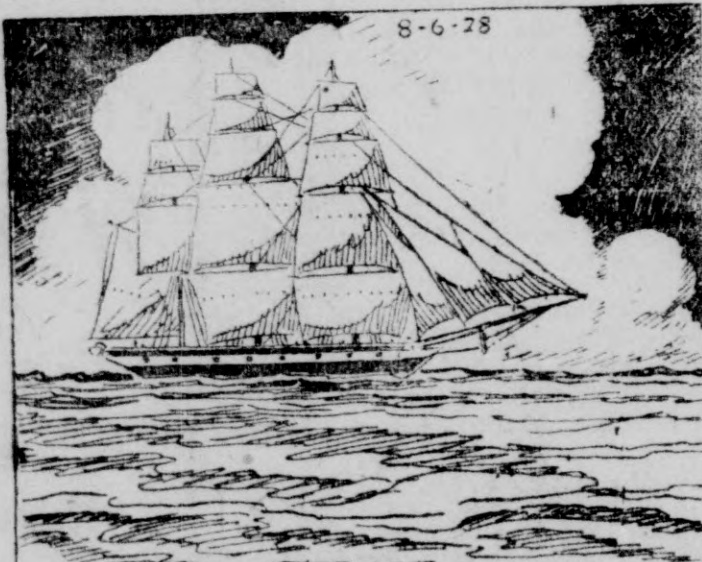

TOMORROW—NEW ENGLAND TURNS TO MANUFACTURING.

BOTH THE BRITISH AND THE FRENCH SEIZED MANY AMERICAN MERCHANTMEN. TO PROTECT OUR SHIPPING, AND WITH THE HOPE OF FORCING GREAT BRITAIN AND FRANCE TO ABANDON THEIR POLICIES TOWARD NEUTRAL VESSELS, PRESIDENT JEFFERSON IN 1807 SECURED THE PASSAGE OF "THE EMBARGO ACT". BY WHICH AMERICAN SHIPS WERE FORBIDDEN TO LEAVE THEIR HOME PORTS.

FOR A TIME AMERICAN SKIPPERS CARRIED ON A PROSPEROUS TRADE WITH BOTH SIDES. THIS PERIOD OF PROSPERITY, HOWEVER, WAS DOOMED TO BE SHORT-LIVED. IN 1807 EACH OF THE WARRING NATIONS TOOK DRASTIC MEASURES TO KEEP AMERICAN SHIPS FROM SUPPLYING THE OTHER. AS A RESULT, AMERICAN SHIP OWNERS SUFFERED GREATLY.

IN THE EARLY YEARS OF THE 19TH CENTURY, COMMERCE WAS THE LEADING INDUSTRY OF THE NEW ENGLAND STATES. GREAT BRITAIN WAS FIGHTING NAPOLEON, AND THE NEUTRAL AMERICAN MERCHANT MARINE WAS MAKING LARGE PROFITS OUT OF THE STRUGGLE.

Shenango Bowlers Lose Saturday On Pittsburgh Alleys

Shenango Tin Mill Duckpin Bowlers Lose To Pittsburgh Men By 78 Pins

The Shenango Tin Mill duckpin bowlers climbed off the train here late Saturday night, with slow but easy strides, they had been down to Pittsburgh all day, had eaten a big chicken dinner and had been defeated on the bowling alleys by 78 pins. New Castle won up here by 517 pins, so that still leaves the locals the best in the two matches by 439 pins, which is something.

It was a real battle that was staged on the hardwood alleys, with the Pittsburgh men just barely managing to eke out their victory when the Shenango No. 1 and 2 teams failed to come through with enough pins. The Shenango No. 3 team upheld their end of the parade as the only team to have a lead over the Pittsburgher. Lew Sweet of the No. 3 team had high score of the match with 207 in the first game and also he carried off the high honors for three games with 527. Emmet of the Pittsburgh No. 1 team was second high for three games with 529.

Big Chicken Dinner
The Shenango boys were feted at the Henry hotel to a luscious chicken dinner at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, and after loading up on a lot of good things to eat, they were hustled to the bowling alleys for the test, and maybe the locals didn't eat enough, how about it, "Giddy" or maybe the New Castle boys were just polite, who knows.

The dinner at the Henry hotel was presided over by R. J. Hadley chief auditor of the American Sheet and Tin Plate company, who explained to the guests how the New Castle men had won at New Castle, and how maybe they were going to be licked today (Saturday), and he was right. The locals won but four games out of the nine games rolled. The No. 1 team won one game, the No. 2 team won one game, and the No. 3 team won two games.

78 Pin Victory
The three game totals were—Shenango No. 1, 2, 166; Pittsburgh 2,270. Shenango No. 2, 2,045; Pittsburgh 2,125. Shenango No. 3, 2,232; Pittsburgh 2,126. Grand totals—Shenango 6,443; Pittsburgh 6,521.

After the bowling matches the men were taken back to the Henry hotel and given a good supper, and after the meal they were taken to the shows. The locals returned home late in the best of spirits for the fine treatment received at the hands of Ed Taylor and his gang down in Pittsburgh.

The Shenango men had chance to meet James Lamore, former New Castle Tin Mill man who is now located in Pittsburgh, and he is the same old "Jim". He was mighty glad to see the locals and to renew friendships.

Kaye Don Will Try For Record

(International News Service)
DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 31.—Kaye Don will attempt to break the world's automobile speed record of 231.362 miles an hour at about two o'clock this afternoon.

The beach conditions are not considered ideal for the record attempt but the ten mile race course appears smoother today than it has during the past sixteen days.

St. Louis Cardinals Not So Strong This Year Is Indication

By DAVID J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, March 31.—They say you can't keep a squirrel on the ground and, while we are on the subject of exclusive announcements today, it might be well to add that you can't keep a flat iron in the air, either.

This statement, which comes from a very reliable source, if offered in evidence for the purpose of corroborating the belief that Mr. Samuel Breadon, of the St. Louis Cardinals, has ultimately succeeded—as was deemed to be inevitable—in running a diamond bracelet into a handcuff. Anyhow, baseball men everywhere seem to be impartially, even indifferently imbued with the notion that the Cardinals are destined to finish in the second division this year for the first time since 1924.

Won Two Pennants
This is the same outfit that has furnished two pennant winners, one world's champion and a runner up in the last four seasons but Mr. Bradon is a faithful soul and perfection simply goes hand in hand with him. He can't abide a winner, it seems. In fact, there is only one thing that appears to enrage him more and that's two winners.

Of course, it is not for me to hold Mr. Bradon up to score. We all make mistakes and he had made only one. He simply has hired too many managers for his players and not enough players for his managers. As a man who has confirmed the rumor that you can't go behind the nape of your neck, I wish to state that Mr. Bradon's system doesn't pay.

He had, for instance, a world's champion in 1926. And what did he offer as a token of appreciation to his manager, Mr. Hornsby? He offered Mr. Hornsby the backstairs. In fact, he gave them to him. One at a time in quick succession.

In 1927, he finished second with Mr. O'Farrell at the helm. Did Mr. O'Farrell remain at the helm? Yes, Mr. O'Farrell did not. The following year, Mr. McKee came along and won another pennant on behalf of this abrupt employer. This time, Mr. Bradon was patient. He went all the way to the middle of the next season before he fired Mr. McKee.

Street New Manager
The latter's successor was Mr. Southworth and the only thing he finished was the season. A Mr. Garand Street is now in charge but don't ask me how long. Mr. Bradon doesn't know that yet himself.

Meanwhile, the personnel of the ball club remains pretty much like an alderman's vote, unchanged and unchanging. It has made a few minor trades but, of the old names, Alexander is the only one missing. There is a new man playing shortstop but Haines, Sherdell, Rhem, Frankhouse, Johnson and a few others are still carrying the pitching. Haley and Douthitt are still playing the outfield and bottomly, Frisch and High remain as the key men of the infield.

A lot of those mentioned are good ball players and, therefore, are not to be run out of town just because the club is stopped winning. Some of the others are hot good ball players. In fact, the development of the Young idea in the Cardinals seems to have expired painlessly during the last three years and consequently even a bad ball player can hang on for lack of a better prospect. This is a strange state of affairs in view of the recent agitation against all of the minor league "farms" the Cardinals maintain but the roster of the club proves it to be true.

It will prove that the club is dying for want of new blood and, much as I dislike to bother a man about his own business, I feel constrained to add by belief that the fault is essentially Mr. Bradon's own. Without some semblance of team management on a year-to-year basis, no system of player development can hope to survive.

Phils Have Hitters But Lack Hurlers To Make Strong Bid For Coming Race

By Central Press.
WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 31.—Having bade a spectacular goodbye to last place last season the Phillies this year hope to make their debut in the first division amid the clash of bats and whistle of baseballs soaring out of National league ball parks.

Possessing the hardest hitting club in the senior circuit, Manager Burt Shotton is today trying to bolster his pitching staff, the Phillies' weakest link, and attempting to strengthen his infield defense, another department which hampered the Phils in 1929.

Acquiring Grover Cleveland Alexander, the old war horse, Shotton has placed him in charge of the young Philie hurlers, who can learn much under the tutelage of the one-time great Alex. However, Alexander is also expected to prove a power on the mound outside his coaching. Shotton looks to Alex for at least 10 wins this year.

The Quaker City has two stars in Lefty O'Doul, league leading batsman, and Chuck Klein, league leading home run hitter. Tripp Sigman and Denny Southern are expected to alternate at the other position.

To get an idea of the power of this bustling, bustling Philly club when it is at bat, look at these 1929 averages of veterans: O'Doul, .308; Klein, .355; Davis, .342; Whitney, .327; Thompson, .324; Southern, .306; Hurst, .303; and Friberg, .301. The team last season averaged .309, almost seven points better than the Cubs and Pirates tied for second.

The newcomers include Al Cooper, who batted .426 for Birmingham; Harry McCurdy, the veteran catcher, who hit .321 for Toledo, and Johnny Sherr, who averaged .338 with the coast league Missions. Sigman hit .41 homers for the Central league Canton club last season, and in the few games he played with the Phils batted .517.

That's hitting power all the way down the line, and Shotton may not be far wrong in his hopes that a first division berth may develop out of the roar of Philly bats this summer.

Next: St. Louis Browns.

Sharon Crowned State Champions, Top Lower Merion

Sharon High Quintet 18 To 14 Winners Over Lower Merion In State Title Tilt

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., March 31.—Sharon high school basketball team won the P. I. A. A. state title here Saturday night by upsetting the strong Lower Merion quintet in a game that was close all the way. The Mercer contains played their best basketball in the final quarter of the game to take the victory.

The end of the first quarter found the Sharon boys ahead, 5 to 3. The second quarter saw Sharon spurting to take the lead by a count of 4 to 3, but fell short by a score of 8 to 7 of deadlocking the count. The third period was even up, with both teams making five points. Sharon, with Murphy and Deems playing whirlwind basketball, forged ahead in the closing moments of the game with sensational shots. Big Murphy was the stand-out star of the game with four baskets. Deems and Crompton had the only other field goals allowed the western Pennsylvanians.

For the Lower Merion team it must be said that they played a good game and only were beaten out for the state title by a team of fast workers, coached by foxy "Pop" Dickerson. There were no outstanding stars in the Lower Merion line-up. It was the third or fourth time in the past few years that Sharon has been up at the top of the heap when the accounting was finished.

Eagles Win Title In Second Half Of Boy's Floor Loop

The Eagles nosed out the Castles 17 to 16, in a close game for the second-half title in the Boy's League at the "Y" on Saturday. The Eagles now meet the Red Birds for the championship of the circuit.

The score at the end of the first half favored the Eagles 11 to 8. The Castles outscored the Eagles 8 to 6 in the final half, but could not overcome the three point lead in the second half. The playing of Long, Smith and Hart featured for the losers, with Fairchney, Whitman, Wallace and Davis doing the scoring for the winners.

The lineups—
Castles 16 Eagles 17
Long F..... Deep
Smith F..... Fairchney
Hart C..... Whitman
Hodge G..... Wallace
Jameson G..... Davis
Subs—Sotus, Field Goals—Long 4, Smith, Hart, Fairchney, Whitman 2, Wallace 3, Davis 2. Fouls—Castles, 4 out of 7. Eagles, 1 out of 8. Referee—Brooks, McCoy, Johnny Uram.

Joey Goodman, flashy light weight managed by Jimmie Dunn, will meet Johnny Mellow, Detroit, in a 10-round bout at Motor Square garden tonight. Mellow is a fairly good fighter and has boxed some of the best lightweights in the country. Goodman is going over big and is a favorite to win tonight's bout.

Evidently Mickie Solomon has again hit his stride. He turned in a six-round knockout over Jack Wilson of Jersey City last week at Pittsburgh. It is peculiar but true that Mickie goes over biggest when least expected. He wants to take on Buck McTierman again.

The Jolly bowl made a bid for the McTierman-Solomon proposed third bout recently but a difference in weight has handicapped completion of the fight. McTierman has grown fast and tips the scale at about 160 while Solomon weighs about 154 and naturally Solomon don't feel like giving five pounds away.

Al Friedman, Boston's busiest heavyweight, went twice last week, Monday at Baltimore and Friday at Boston. He dropped a decision to Marty Gallagher at Baltimore and won from Joe Monte at Boston. Al Lippe wrote here describing the Baltimore decision as poor. Bernie Hanlon saw the bout. He said it was O. K.

Emmett Rocco temporarily is on the shelf, due to an injury to his right hand, sustained when he hit Friedman here. Two carous bones were broken and he was forced to call off a bout with Knockout Christner. Emmett has been handicapped by a bad hand ever since he commenced boxing.

With summer nearing there is a flock of managers here trying to develop boxers. Jimmie Dime, Bob Latta, Smith & Dygett, George Perotta, Arch Cuno, Bob Robinson, Battling Terry and Dr. Williams are some of them. Eddie Weygant is in Youngstown and Solomon, like Rocco, does his training chores there.

Efforts are being made to pit Frenchy Bellanger, the great French-Canadian flyweight, against Phil Tobias. The New Yorker was credited with committing a foul at Jamaica, L. I., last month and drew a month's layoff which may interfere with the bout. Midget Wolgast and Willie Davies have refused to meet Tobias.

It looks as though Wolgast and Davies, champion and contender, will meet at Toronto. At least the report is out that they will go in that city next month. Jim Buchanan, in view of this bout, can scarcely be blamed for not sending Davies against such a formidable opponent as Tobias at this time.

P. T. Barnum was right. At least it appears so when Primo Carnera is considered. Fans flock to arenas to see him tumble over set-ups. The N. B. A. has commenced investigating his successful itinerary in which opponents have been put to sleep. As long as Carnera is the freak of the ring he will attract patrons.

Speaking of Carnera, Jimmy Dunn seen him in St. Louis. "He looks pretty good," said Jimmy, which bears out the statement of Al Lippe here recently, who said the big Italian has possibilities. However, the boys in the ring won't share the impression that Carnera won't be able to take it around the midriff.

St. Louis fans were loud in their praise last week of Eddie Shea and Benny Bass. The writers said that were there two titles, each should have one. Fights that result in such meritorious statements means that the boys have done something to keep boxing in favor.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Pennsylvania railroad system athletic officials and a committee from the Perry Gaston post 343, American Legion, are preparing to handle a large crowd Friday night when the Pennsylvania railroad system wrestling and boxing championships are staged at the Jolly bowl.

According to Lou Gleason of the P. R. R., color will be loaned to the athletic affair by the presence of officials from different divisions as the meet will be staged between athletes of the central and western regions against those representing the eastern division and New York zone.

There will be eight three-round boxing events and eight nine-minute wrestling bouts. The participants have captured the championship of their respective zones and when cities bid for the titular matches the Jolly bowl was leased to the railroad athletic officials and the legionnaires.

While many of the participants are not known here the fact remains they were plenty good enough to overcome competition and reach the finals of their divisions. Persons conversant with amateur rules in boxing and wrestling are preparing to attend the events.

Gleason, who heads the local athletic heads, said today that a special train will come from Pittsburgh and that coaches will be attached to other trains from various places. Athletes will come from Long Island City, Philadelphia, Indianapolis, Pittsburgh and other distant cities.

There will be two hours and 24 minutes of action. In the fist events Johnny Haggerty, Frankie Morgan, Joe Louder and Stanley Simmons will battle. These four of the representatives of the west. They have fought at Jolly bowl. Others are Ed Bradburn, Bob Krape, Chet Johnson and Bobby Britt.

Bradburn will tackle Valente, Philadelphia flyweight; Haggerty meets A. Delano, Gotham bantam; Moran tilts with Ciscio of Bristol, Pa.; Britt opposes W. Lutz, Long Island, and Joe Louder will take on J. Sabat, Long Island; Simmons punches with John Miller, Philadelphia, and Johnson meets Ed Confer, Lewistown.

There has been a desire for wrestling here and the system championships will give the fans a chance to show whether they like the mat sport. As the mat bouts are minimum affairs it should smack of action and there will be a contest in each division of weight.

A. W. Youngstead, west, meets Van Slyke, East. Charlie Swoboda takes on Test, Osceola. Danny Cowan tugs with D. Eyr, Williamsport; Steve Capapano, Renovo, wrestles Lesho, Philadelphia; C. A. Mitchell meets Davidson, Tyrone, and Harold Johnson, 175, tackles L. Earp of Harrisburg.

There will be two other heavyweight wrestling bouts in addition to the Mitchell-Davidson clash. J. D. Wilson, Buffalo, takes on W. Moffatt, Elmira, and George Clemens, Detroit, meets C. L. Confer, Tyrone. The first name of the wrestlers represents the west and the last named the east.

The affair is being conducted under the jurisdiction of the P. R. R. and the American Legion. The Pennsylvania athletic commission as customary will have complete supervision. The event is open for all fans and the next Jolly bowl professional boxing bouts will be held April 14.

Joey Goodman, flashy light weight managed by Jimmie Dunn, will meet Johnny Mellow, Detroit, in a 10-round bout at Motor Square garden tonight. First Repaving On Croton Avenue

Council To Close Croton
From School House To City Line

SERVICE LINES TO

Croton avenue between the city line and Cascade street will be closed to traffic commencing Tuesday, according to councilmanic action today when council met at the city building. The traffic will be detoured via East Brook road to the Harlanburg highway.

Croton avenue repaving between East Brook road and the city line will be the first project undertaken by the contractor who wins the award from city council when the state program is launched April 11. Croton avenue, Grant street and Butler avenue are to be repaved at the expense of the state.

Today's councilmanic action was brought about by Howard B. Richards, superintendent of the New Castle Water company, who received a legal notice from the city to make arrangements for the water lines before April 11, so that there would be no delay in the contractor's work.

He told council that it would be physically impossible for the company to do the required work in the three thoroughfares and said he did not believe it just for his company to be left at the mercy of the contractor. He asked council to designate the first project to be started.

"We have been directed to make changes in our system before April 11" according to a legal notification, Richards told council. "The contractor is to take charge of the thoroughfares on that day."

"It will be a physical impossibility to do this," he said. Richards explained it would mean numerous ditches in each thoroughfare and to make progress it would be necessary or feasible for the city to close thoroughfares.

"We want to give service to the people but under this ruling our hands will be tied," he said. "There are some vacant lots. The owners will have to be notified. This isn't possible within 10 days."

"The owners will have to be interviewed. The company does not know what street the contractor will start work on. The city should make an arrangement with the contractor and have the street designated."

Councilman Burns said "this is a peculiar situation. We are doing the work for the city. We let the contractor and pay the bill but will be reimbursed."

"I do not see why you could not go on the same as you have always done."

Richards maintained that the Water Company would be at the mercy of the contractor and "he may want to penalize us."

City Engineer Miller said the city wants the contractor to make speed. "Mr. Richards is right," said Genkinger. "He should have proper time to make the changes."

Solicitor White said the city could take care of the Water Company "because the Water Company has never refused to go along with the city."

He said however, some other utilities may cause the city trouble when the work is started.

"It happens your company is classified as a public utility," said Burns but Richards said he could not see why his company should be "penalized" for the alleged action of some others.

You know the people facing on these streets have rights too, said the Water Company superintendent.

Solicitor White replied, stating "We will not let the contractor until the contractor makes a satisfactory contract with you. I will advise the council not to award the contract until the contractor makes an arrangement with the public utilities. If they do not sign then we will order the contractor to proceed."

Richards advised the city to close Croton avenue and Reeves presented a motion which passed whereby the avenue will be closed Tuesday between the city line and Cascade street.

The new repaving will be from the center line of East Brook road to the city line. Proper detour signs will be located by the department of streets, Councilman Treser stated.

Rates Held As Not Justified

Interstate Commerce Commission Holds Rate Proposal For Ex-River Coal Too High

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Mar. 31.—The Interstate Commerce Commission held today that the proposal to establish for the first time a proportional rate of $1.02 per ton on "ex-river" bituminous coal, in carloads, from Conway, Pa., to Youngstown, O., over the Pennsylvania railroad, and from Columbia, Pa., to Youngstown over the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie was not justified.

The finding is without prejudice to the filing of new schedules in conformity with certain views expressed by the commission.

The Youngstown Chamber of Commerce, Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., Republic Iron and Steel Company, Western Pennsylvania Coal Traffic Bureau and W. J. Rainey, Inc. contended the proposed rate was unreasonably high. The Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, and the Central Alloy Steel Corporation, with plants at Canton, Massillon and Cleveland, urged that existing destination relationships of all-rail rates on coal from the Pittsburgh, Conneville and Fairmont districts over rates that are now applicable to Youngstown be preserved in connection with an ex-river coal rate that may be established from Conway and Columbia to Youngstown.

"It clearly appears that if rates are to be established on ex-river coal which will induce its free movement from the river mines to Youngstown and points grouped therewith, they must not be any higher than the level of the all-rail rates from the same general producing districts, and that any ex-river rate which may be established must afford a basis for the subsequent establishment of rates from Conway and Columbia to Cleveland, Canton, Toledo and other large consuming points or for transshipment at lake ports to the head of the lakes, otherwise undue prejudice may be created," the commission said.

Reward For Capture Of Persons Turning In False Alarms

Council Announces That Old Ordinance Will Be Used By City

Several false fire-alarms have been turned in recently with the consequent apprehension of the culprits and today when council convened at the city building Ordinance 3021, adopted November 16, 1915 was read.

According to the measure the city can offer a reward for information which will lead to the arrest and conviction of such persons and they can be punished under an act of assembly and ordinances of the city.

The city, it is said, intends to keep an alert vigil for persons turning in false fire alarms as every time the fire apparatus is called out there is a likelihood of damage and injury. The city authorities propose to curb the habit which may seem trivial to some but is a dangerous practice to commit.

The city ordinance follows: Authorizing the Council to offer a reward for the apprehension, arrest and conviction of any person or persons who gives or causes to be given any false fire alarm by any means whatsoever, or unlawfully intermeddles, or interferes with any of the fire alarm boxes, or other fire apparatus used for the transmission of fire alarms.

Those chosen were, president, J. S. Munnell; vice president, H. L. McCurley; secretary-treasurer, D. E. Giesner; attorneys, R. L. McKinney, Homer Drake and Orville Brown; appraisal committee, W. N. Siebanoller, H. L. Glenn and N. W. Book; directors, W. M. C. Drake, J. S. Munnell, R. S. Clark, A. S. Patterson, H. L. McCurley, Joseph Potter and W. Forenell.

REVENGE DROVE PIRATES TO LOOT RIVER STEAMER

(International News Service) BAKERSFIELD, Cal., Mar. 31.—Revenge instead of love of loot drove Chinese river pirates to the attack recently on the Yangtze river steamer, Chi Ping, it is believed here by Paul Opperman, contractor and father of Captain Clarence Opperman, 30, the Chi Ping's commander.

In the battle Lieutenant C. M. Winslow, commander of the American naval guard aboard the steamer was critically wounded.

Opperman is the youngest sea captain in the far eastern waters, his father said, revealing the contents of his son's letters.

The last big battle occurred during the Christmas holidays. Captain Opperman was nearing Ichang, his home port when the ship was attacked by 300 pirates. The battle lasted more than an hour.

Seven of the Chi Ping's crew were wounded and gun fire accounted for scores of the pirates.

So great were the pirates losses in killed and wounded that their leader sent word to Ichang that they would avenge their defeat on the captain of the Chi Ping.

Among the river bandits are hundreds of leaderless soldiers, who had followed their leader to Ichang, and numerous civil wars and turned pirate for lack of anything else to do.

Washington Street Bill Is Presented

Plan To Widen Street Between County Line Street And Butler Avenue

Another step toward the widening of East Washington street between County Line street and Butler avenue was taken today by council at city hall when Councilman Genkinger's ordinance was formally presented.

Several days ago a councilmanic motion requested the city solicitor to prepare the necessary bill. The street is to be widened two feet on each side. The curb will be set back. Councilman will be the improvement made this summer.

Another ordinance setting a building line in Butler avenue between East Washington street and the city line was presented by Genkinger. It will be widened five feet on each side. All building alterations in the future must conform to the new ordinance when adopted.

Both ordinances were sent to committee.

All highways were well filled with automobiles, Sunday.

Tomorrow is April Fools Day. Beware!

As sensational as the Irene Schroeder trial in this city, is the trial of Henri Marchand's Indian paragon, in Buffalo, N. Y. Former New Castle people write to Pa New, telling of the artist, Marchand's many exhibits in the new museum on Humboldt-Park, Buffalo.

Four little boys, on Mercer street, Saturday, each had little red balls suspended on very elastic rubber bands. The balls danced around in every direction and pedestrians who wished to get passed the boys were forced to make detours.

Pa New saw a Pennsylvania license Saturday which came near to having the coveted "OHIO" numeral. It bore the combination 910HO.

Motorists traveling up Mercer street during the past few days have stopped suddenly thinking a certain house along the street was affixing examination revealed the fact that some boy's kite, which had been covered with bright red paper, got caught in a tree and the paper fluttering in the breeze gave all the appearance of flames coming from the window of a home along the street.

March which came in with a rather leonine proportions gives every indication of going out quite lamb-like. And all the members of Pa New's family are hoping that spring will continue to be spring, without any interference from the weather man.

Traffic tangles continue to exist at the corner of Mercer and North streets, due to the persistence of motorists in parking on both sides of the street, in violation of the regulations. Washington Sees Naval Conference Fall Very Shortly

Administration Circles In Washington Believe "Break" Is Due This Week

BRITISH FAIL TO GRANT SECURITY

Only Chance Remaining Is To Formulate Three-Power Treaty Minus France And Italy

By GEORGE R. HOLMES

Special News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The London naval conference, which set out with such high hopes and lofty ambitions ten weeks ago, probably will "make or break" this week, according to Washington's opinion, and the belief is preponderant here that it will "break."

Great Britain's publicly announced resolve to undertake no further military commitments to guarantee France's security is expected here to prove the last straw to the sagging back of the conference.

With this firm refusal put on record, all conjecture concerning American participation in a consultative pact at London becomes idle, for the whole idea, so far as the United States is concerned, was predicated upon Britain's ability to come to terms with France on the security issue.

Relief Is Felt

It can be stated authoritatively that the administration views the collapse of the consultative pact project with something akin to relief.

Even the most ardent supporters of the conference have never been more than lukewarm towards Secretary of State Stimson's entering any kind of a political pact at London, however innocuous, and that lukewarmness has been steadily chilling under the frosty reaction of powerful senate leaders in both parties.

Whether it is still possible to salvage a five-power treaty out of the week of the conference by some miraculous stroke remains to be seen (Continued On Page Two)

Ralph Russell Sloat, Scranton, Dies In Electric Chair For Taxi-Driver's Death

VICTIM'S FATHER ONE OF WITNESSES

(International News Service)

ROCKVIEW, PENN., March 31.—No last minute respite came to save him and Ralph Russell Sloat, convicted of the murder of John Lowry, Scranton taxi-cab driver, died in the electric chair here this morning.

Sloat, pale but composed, walked to the chair at exactly 7:03. The first contract was made at 7:04 and D. W. D. McLaughlin, prison physician, pronounced him dead at 7:08.

He was accompanied to the chair and at breakfast by Rev. T. N. Osborn, prison chaplain. Although visibly shaken as he faced the inevitable Sloat went to his death fairly calm.

Victim's Father Is Witness

In the presence of Bert Lowry, father of the man for whose death the commonwealth declared he too must die, Sloat took the sixteen steps from the little grey door of death row to the electric chair. Quickly and quietly, in the deadly calm of the death cell, the guards strapped him to the chair, electrodes in place.

A signal from the warden and Robert Elliot, of New York threw the switch—a sputter, a crackling, a twitch—and Sloat had paid for his crime.

(International News Service)

ROCKVIEW, PENN., March 31.—No last minute respite came to save him and Ralph Russell Sloat, convicted of the murder of John Lowry, Scranton taxi-cab driver, died in the electric chair here this morning.

Sloat, pale but composed, walked to the chair at exactly 7:03. The first contract was made at 7:04 and D. W. D. McLaughlin, prison physician, pronounced him dead at 7:08.

He was accompanied to the chair and at breakfast by Rev. T. N. Osborn, prison chaplain. Although visibly shaken as he faced the inevitable Sloat went to his death fairly calm.

Victim's Father Is Witness

In the presence of Bert Lowry, father of the man for whose death the commonwealth declared he too must die, Sloat took the sixteen steps from the little grey door of death row to the electric chair. Quickly and quietly, in the deadly calm of the death cell, the guards strapped him to the chair, electrodes in place.

A signal from the warden and Robert Elliot, of New York threw the switch—a sputter, a crackling, a twitch—and Sloat had paid for his crime.

Final Day For Candidates To File Petitions

Pennsylvania's Heated Political Battle Is Underway For Good Today

HISTORIC PRIMARY IS JUST IN OFFING

Grundy And Davis Seek Senatorship—Brown, Pinchot And Phillips Seek Governorship

By FRED K. McILVAINE

Special News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, March 31.—When sun sinks over the hills and mountains of Pennsylvania tonight, it will have witnessed the final day of the filing of nominating petitions with the state election board, for the May primary.

And that promises to be a historic primary—that one which today will show who is to start to run. There remains one week—until April 8—for withdrawals after which there can be no doubt of who means to wage war in the campaign.

Field of Battle

That same sun today had shone on the field of battle, for the opening rounds of what promises to be a roaring scrap have been fired.

The Philadelphia war board, backing the candidacy of Francis Shunk Brown, Sr., for the gubernatorial robes and that of Secretary of Labor James J. Davis for the United States senatorial toga, was the recipient of the first broadside—a double header.

Senator Joseph R. Grundy, who seeks re-election to complete the term to which Governor John S. Fisher appointed him when the senate decided William S. Vare of Philadelphia paid too high a price for the campaign which gave him the votes, fired at the war board from one angle and Gilford Pinchot, seeking once more to govern the commonwealth, shot from another.

Two Favor Grundy

Two powerful political leaders, State Senator John J. McClure, of Delaware county and State Senator William H. Clark, of Chester county yesterday declared for "Uncle Joe" Grundy for senator and Francis Shunk Brown for governor.

Brown came back with an ultimatum—accept me, accept my running mate, Secretary Davis.

Senator Grundy then plunged into the fray with a broadside directed against the Philadelphia board in general and General W. W. Atterbury, of the Pennsylvania railroad in particular.

British-French Agreement Fails

Great Britain And France Fail To Agree On Security Pact In Conference

CONFERENCE MAY END BEFORE EASTER

By HARRY R. FLORY

International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, March 31.—Political discussions between Great Britain and France, aimed at giving the latter nation sufficient security guarantees to enable her to reduce her tonnage demands, have virtually ended in failure. It was reported on good authority today.

Experts of both nations, it is understood, are now drawing up an official report admitting their inability to reach an agreement. Further "last minute" efforts are expected, but present indications are that the death-knell of the London naval conference as a five-power body has been sounded.

Hold Meeting Today

Heads of the various delegations met for the fifteen minutes today, following which the American contingent held an hour's conference. Spokesmen for the American delegation refused to declare themselves hopeful that a five-power treaty would eventually be reached, stating merely that they were "working hard in that direction."

It was learned from Italian sources that Prime Minister J. Ramsey MacDonald has practically issued an ultimatum that the conference must be concluded before Easter, whether a five-power or three-power pact materializes.

Heads of the delegations are to meet again Wednesday, when reports from various technical experts' committees will be considered. If a five-power treaty is found to be impossible, the question of reaching a tentative agreement on technical matters such as limitation will be discussed.

Mrs. Dague Consoles Mother Of Paul

Pathetic Scene In Court Room During Morning Session

One of the most pathetic touches of the entire trial of Glenn Dague occurred at adjournment today at noon when Mrs. Theresa Dague, wife of the defendant walked over to Mrs. Vinta Paul McGugin, mother of the late Brady Paul and offered her condolences.

The gesture was not for the jury's consideration for the jury had been returned. It was merely the sympathy from one woman to another, for in this case both the wife of Dague and the mother of Paul have been grievously wronged.

Miss Margaret Preston, a student at Slippery Rock State Teachers College, spent the week-end with her parents on Crawford avenue.

DAGUE RECEIVES SAME VERDICT AS IRENE FOR MURDER OF PAUL

Plea For Mercy Fails To Sway Jury Of Eight Men And Four Women

EQUALLY GUILTY IN PAUL SLAYING

State Still Has One Of Trio In Shooting To Apprehend, Tom Crawford

(BULLETIN)

W. Glenn Dague must pay with his life for the murder of Corporal Brady Paul!

The bandit buddy of the Trigger Blonde will receive the same punishment as that doled out to Irene Schroeder, the electric chair.

Eight men and four women, citizens of Lawrence County, but for the past eight days in very fact "The Country" have decided that no distinction should be made between Dague and Irene, and after debating and discussing the testimony in the case against Dague they have returned their verdict: "Guilty of Murder in the First Degree, with the Death Penalty."

Verdict No Surprise

To those who followed the case against Dague, the verdict was no surprise. Under the law an accomplice is just as guilty as the one who fired the fatal shot, and while counsel for the defense argued that Irene Schroeder had killed Brady Paul, yet the law says that he is just as guilty, even though he had not fired at all. This law the jury upholds by its verdict and Dague's life must be forfeited to the commonwealth that lost one of its officers on December 27th, 1929.

The verdict against Dague is a complete victory for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, for already it has a similar verdict against Irene Schroeder, returned on Friday evening, March 21st.

Still After Tom Crawford

With the conviction of the pair, the commonwealth has not yet exacted its toll for the murder of Brady Paul, for Tom Crawford, brother of Irene, and an accomplice in the robbery of the Butler Store and of the murder of Brady Paul is yet at large.

Dague's trial started on Monday morning, March 24th. The commonwealth was represented by District Attorney John S. Powers, Special Counsel Charles J. Margiotti, and his two associates, Attorney Sebastian Pugliese and Attorney Edward Friedman.

Dague was represented by Attorney Thomas W. Dickey and ex-State Senator Benjamin Jarrett.

Three Missionaries, Including Young American Girl Captured By Chinese Reds

(International News Service)

SHANGHAI, March 31.—Three more foreign missionaries, including Miss N. E. Gemmel, an American, have fallen into the hands of the communist bandit horde that has been terrorizing Kiangsi province for many weeks.

Besides Miss Gemmel, who has been in China since 1919, her friends and co-workers, the Reverend and Mrs. R. W. Porteus of England were captured. They were taken in a raid at Yuanchow. The bandits are reported to have looted the city.

Two other British missionaries, one a woman, and an American, R. H. Glazier, were said to have escaped into the mountains.

Yuanchow is a day's journey northwest of Kanchow, where 16 American Catholic priests were captured by the bandits.

Because of the interference of communications by the bandit armies between here and points in Kiangsi, little if any authentic information is available.

The fate of the captives has not been determined.

When the firemen arrived on the scene it had broken out a window and was starting up the outside of the house. Most of the blaze was confined to the kitchen, however, and was quickly extinguished by the firemen.

City To Purchase Road Machinery

BURNS-GILLESPIE OPPOSE PURCHASE

Council today voted three to two for the purchase of a power street sweeper and a power grader or road machine. Councilman Trever, Reeves and Genkinger voted for the purchase. Councilman Burns and Mayor Gillespie cast negative ballots.

Councilman Burns opposed the power street sweeper because he said it would mean a curtailment of labor and said he would vote for a grader or road machine but not for one of this power type.

When Councilman Trever presented his motion authorizing the clerk to seek bids Burns remarked that it would mean a curtailment of street labor. He said considerable unemployment prevails.

Trever next presented a motion authorizing the taking bids for a power grader or road machine.

Burns said he was opposed to a power machine. It developed that Genkinger and Reeves have headed the department of streets, a berth now held by Trever.

Trever remarked to the opposition, "I am responsible for the streets and when I want something I want it."

"We should go slow," advised Burns who said that taxes may come in slow. "I am trying to save money," answered Trever.

"We have a sprinkler in Butler county, a roller in Neshannock township and a tractor at the golf course," said Burns.

"You cannot use the sprinkler here," said Genkinger.

One of the councilmen jokingly remarked that a couple of horses should be secured to haul it around.

Trever said the roller is all right. "I am not saying that they are good," said Burns, but reiterated he would not vote for a power scraper.

On the vote, the motion carried three to two.

"I offer a motion directing Mr. Burns to gather up all the old equipment," said Genkinger.

The remark brought a laugh after which Councilman Reeves said that Mr. Burns is not familiar with street work.

Burns said the expenditure for the new machine would total one-fourth mill.

"The department of streets has never functioned properly because it has never had the proper equipment," remarked Councilman Genkinger.

"In order to do good work you must have good machinery," said Reeves who served a term as superintendent of the department of streets.

Public Buildings Measure Is Signed

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 31.—President Hoover today signed the Keyes-Elliott bill authorizing $230,000,000 for the construction of new public buildings. Half of the amount will be spent throughout the country and half in the District of Columbia.

An immediate survey will be made to determine the localities where new buildings are most needed. The bill increases the amount to be spent annually in the country at large from $25,000,000 to $35,000,000 and in the District of Columbia from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000.

Local residents should study up their family history during the next few days, so they will be able to give the census enumerators correct answers to the questions to be asked. The place of birth of each parent will be asked, besides the date of marriage, the birth date of every person in the household, and other intimate questions.

The Telephone company is also expending $150,000 or more on the new repeater station on State street extension. With state and local street improvement work getting under way, considerable employment will be provided for men in this area in the near future.

The odds are all against it, and administration officials do not believe it likely. The once chance of something of this sort apparently lies in a radical about-face on the part of France on the security issue—and no one here anticipates any such miracle.

Three-Power Treaty There remains then, as Washington views it, the chance of negotiating a three-power treaty with France and Italy left out.

While a three-power treaty is regarded in some quarters as "better than nothing at all," it is apparent there is little relish for it in administration quarters.

Any three-power treaty would have to contain, by British insistence a clause permitting Britain to shape her building figures accordance with French construction. Thus the figures which President Hoover and Premier Ramsay MacDonald arrived at in their historic conference on the Rapidan comes elastic and liable to insalubrious stretching.

This year's naval appropriation bill, already long delayed because of the conference, cannot be much longer withheld from congress if it is to have time to act before the anticipated amendment on June 1. Congressional leaders have been making time, hoping that the conference results will permit scaling down the appropriation for new building. This hope is now about dissipated, and they are preparing to present the naval bill within the next fortnight. It will contain the anticipated appropriation for proceeding with the 15-cruiser program.

near Scranton early last year. His taxi-cab was recovered a short time later, in Runnymede, N. J., through it the crime was traced to Ralph Russell Sloat and he was tried in Lackawanna county courts.

Appeals Failed A jury found him guilty of murder in the first degree and the case was appealed. The appellate court upheld the decision of the lower courts and the supreme court refused to reverse.

The state board of pardons refused to intervene and Governor John S. Fisher saw no reason for executive interference, though he went over the case with Sloat's counsel last Friday.

Saturday morning Sloat began his last ride—from the jail in Scranton to the penitentiary here. Under heavy guard, the slayer left before dawn and was taken to the penitentiary where he could not see reason for executive clemency.

When the party reached Rockview, Sloat was placed at once in death row where he remained until this morning.

AClearComplexion

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients, naming them Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color. These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, causing a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, take one of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets—now and then to keep fit. 15c, 30c and 60c.

TRAFFIC UNIFORMITY

THAT state-wide uniformity in traffic control is coming to be realized as highly desirable is proof that nation-wide uniformity would be still more advantageous. Traffic is no longer a local problem. The automobile owner has become a wanderer, and the fact that an unwitting violation of a local rule on his part frequently imperils the safety of the public, makes the problem of general concern.

State-wide uniformity is a good thing, but unless there is some uniformity between states, as new codes are drawn up, there will still be traffic dangers arising from confusion of rules.

In past years some progress was made in this direction by state and national conferences attended by traffic experts and police officials. These conferences should be held not less than once a year. They provide a clearing house for traffic-control ideas, to which every community can go for the solution of its own problems. One of the fruits of such a clearing house is a trend toward uniformity.

Because no two communities have street plans and traffic conditions exactly alike, there never can be absolute uniformity, but traffic lights can mean the same thing everywhere and the manner of making a left hand turn need not be different in every community.

No plea for uniformity is complete unless it include a sub-plea for local uniformity. Absolute uniformity in the gestures and methods used by traffic police in directing the movements of motor vehicles is essential. The diverse methods employed are a source of confusion to motorists.

ILLITERACY STILL HIGH

Arrival of another census year has revived interest—usually lagging—in illiteracy, which is high throughout the United States and dismally excessive in some sections.

This year's census is expected to show considerable improvement over conditions shown by the 1920 census, which though deplorable were better than in 1910. Though population increased nearly 14,000,000 between 1910 and 1920, the number of illiterates over 10 years of age was reduced nearly 600,000. Native white illiteracy was cut from 3.7 per cent to 2.5 per cent. Negro illiteracy was reduced from 30.4 per cent to 22.9 per cent, and in numbers by nearly 400,000. But the number of foreign-born illiterates increased 113,000 due to heavy immigration.

Improvement is expected from several sources this year. Less illiteracy among native whites is inevitable because of the extension of free schools in backward states. Immigration restrictions and Americanization schools have been at work among the foreign born with conspicuous success. And during the last 10 years the negro race has found its first real educational opportunities on a national scale.

Should the new census figures reveal a remarkable improvement in literacy, that gratifying news should not halt the war against illiteracy. Voters who cannot read are a menace to popular government and the pawns of the demagogue and unscrupulous politician. No voter can hope to cast a ballot intelligently until he or she is able to read.

REPEALING HOARY LAWS

Miracles do happen in this scientific age and nobody doubts that fact since the New Jersey legislature broke all precedent and smashed all the accepted rules of the day by repealing five hundred obsolete, unnecessary and unenforceable laws. Now that the ice has been broken, congress and the other 47 state legislatures could make the plunge with beneficial results to the people, collectively and individually.

Many of the repealed New Jersey statutes had been repealed by popular consent long before the legislature acted. But so long as they remained on the statute books they offered an opportunity for the mischief maker to hale an unsuspecting person into court charged with violation of a law the existence of which had been forgotten.

Of late there has been considerable discussion of "the sacredness of all law" and "the duty of public officials to enforce the laws." Existence on the statute books of hundreds of impractical, silly, outworn and unenforceable laws put this discussion in a ridiculous light, for those who preach obedience to law and the sacredness of all law do not themselves obey all laws and would be among the first to protest against the enforcement of some forgotten statutes. Should the courts and police ever take the law-enforcement advocates at their word, there would be danger of a popular uprising against all law. For there are laws which nobody wants invoked.

"There ought to be a law" is a pernicious phrase that ought to be amended by the addition of the simple word "repeal."

AIRPLANE'S MANY USES

The airplane has been put to many curious uses in addition to its commonplace transportation and military functions. Planes are used in directing flights against forest fires, mapping, crop dusting, rum chasing, archaeological research, emergency medical relief, prospecting, pursuing criminals, rescuing the endangered and hunting the lost. The latest use found for them is bombing out of existence herds of infected wild horses.

But the ubiquitous birds of passage also have less respectable occupations. Liquor smuggling by planes across the Canadian border has attained the proportions of a problem. At the Mexican border evidence has been uncovered that planes are being used to smuggle Chinese and other aliens into the United States.

If the scarcity of pilots willing to take the dual risk and the high cost of aircraft do not combine to limit the use of the airplane in these illicit operations, there is little chance of the authorities completely curbing them. The field of operation of a plane is almost unlimited and the chances of detection few.

In spite of these illegal uses to which the ships of the air are being put they still come within the scope of the proposition that every scientific advance finds 10 times as many peaceful and constructive uses as it finds destructive ones.

Fable: Once there was a man whose check stubs agreed with the bank balance.

It might be worse. Fluctuations in food prices never seem to affect hot dogs.

Now that they are accustomed to it, it seems strange that people once feared the worst.

If only intuition would tell the dear creatures which is the brake pedal and which the gas.

Foreign policy: Doing what seems expedient at the moment and keeping one eye on the feed trough.

HEARST RANCH, SAN SIMON, Cal., March 31.—This is Middle California, about half way between San Francisco and Los Angeles, tactful residence for one who has powerful newspapers in both cities, and in Oakland, San Francisco's twin and California's rival.

Coming here, landing at 2:15 a. m. at the San Luis Obispo station, you see California by night.

Miss Ellen, presiding goddess of "Ye Olde Coffee Shoppe," opposite the station, calm and dignified as ever, still recognizes only railroad men as real people, still wears blonde curls around her chin, and reads the railroad man's mind.

"Give me some cookies for a ride," says the handsome young brakeman, as he finishes his coffee. Ellen puts the cookies in a paper bag. She knows they are to board the train with the brakeman.

Steve Zegar, driving you to San Simon, along the Pacific and its curves in the dark, with his big Packard, is apologetic because it took him 36 minutes to go 35 miles from San Luis to Cambria, where the paved road ends. About 50 an hour is all he cares to do on the dirt road. It is a little foggy, and there are 53 turns in the 50 miles of road.

Beneath the road a big pipe comes down from Kettleman Hills, carrying oil direct to the brightly-lighted Standard Oil ship, standing off shore. The end of the pipe, attached to a buoy, floats on the ocean. The ship captain picks it up, fills his ship, and is off.

No lost motion here. Gravity brings down the oil ships take it east through the Panama canal, or west to Asia. You must organize to meet modern oil competition.

Don't sell your Standard Oil stocks hurriedly. They might go up some day.

Dr. Dandy, famous Johns Hopkins surgeon, says now the brain can be taken away without interfering with mental work. He concludes that our brains are necessarily big, which may be a mistake.

The rich soil of Texas was unnecessarily deep when Indians scratched it and planted their corn, and Texas was unnecessarily big, then.

But deep plows use the deep black soil, deep wells bring up the oil, deep shafts lead down to the valuable metals.

There is no knowing what men may dig from their brain depths, as the convolutions grow deeper, and thought, our mental plow, sends the thought-bearing cortex farther down into the gray matter.

"The Broca brain area, the motor area, the body sense area, and 'the upper part of the temporal' are the only indispensable brain parts. All of both frontal lobes can be removed in case of necessity. So says the scientist.

That is also true of monkeys from whom we are not yet widely separated. The motor cortex is for jumping around. Broca's convolution is for chattering, no speech without it.

But man's destiny is not merely hopping about and chattering.

As this continent now produces things unknown, before white men came, so the deeper brain, when white men are really civilized, will produce results undreamed of now.

We shall need it all to grasp even the faintest outline of a universe at which we stare, like babies new-born, blinking at the light.

He considers his party and his state greater than he is, and he is somewhat of a hypocrite. Candidates for governor right now will not admit. And O! preserve my brothers both From evil doings, and from sloth; And may we always love each other, Our friends, our father, and our mother.

And still, O Lord, to me impart An innocent and grateful heart, That after my last sleep I may Awake to thy eternal day! Amen.

Lone Star Versus Badger Stage Real Estate Bout

Texas Governor's Invitation To Wisconsin Colleague May End Controversy Which Has Attracted Attention Of Rest Of Country

Possibility that on interstate conflict between Wisconsin and Texas may be brought to an end is now seen. This development, however, follows much comment on the action of Wisconsin in relation to certain Texas real estate and the retaliation from the Southern border. The effort for settlement comes in the form of an invitation from Governor Moody of Texas to Governor Kohler of Wisconsin, to make a personal visit to the land involved.

Wisconsin seems to have started the trouble with the discharge of the secretary of a Wisconsin real estate board, because he bought a farm in the Rio Grande Valley, while on a tour of inspection of land in the Lone State State, for the Board which had refused to license dealers to sell this land in Wisconsin. The Texas legislature then declared a boycott on Wisconsin products.

Several questions are asked by the ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH. "What will Texas do for cheese, cranberries, Door County cherries? What will the fashionable women of Dallas, San Antonio and Houston do for people with much tradition, invented tinted bathroom fixtures, invented and manufactured in Wisconsin? What will it do for Green Bay Lake trout when the palate palls of gulf fish? Finally, where will Texas go for the summer, now that it is a matter of State patriotism not to visit Wisconsin's delightful resorts?"

"The next thing, presumably, which we will hear of from Wisconsin, is a law forbidding residents of that State leaving it," says the FORT WORTH STAR TELEGRAM. "When they get out and see some real country it appears they are lost to Wisconsin," it continues. The RACINE JOURNAL-NEWS locally remarks that it "awaits with much trepidation the threatened financial catastrophe, because Texas refuses to buy Wisconsin products. If it occurs, we may all have to go to Texas to make a living," it suggests. But the BLOOMINGTON DAILY NEWS speaks in more serious vein, saying, "The state board involved in this dispute has been maladjusted in perpetuating the issue to get to the position where it is today." It advocates the taking of prompt steps to bring about renewal of pleasant and friendly relations with the people of Texas. Certainly that can be done without one whit of jeopardy to the pocketbooks or the welfare of the people of Wisconsin," it insists.

Analyzing the situation, the MADISON WISCONSIN STATE JOURNAL explains that "Wisconsin has established a board having for its purpose the protection of investors in land. It must use its judgment as to whether the propositions offered are likely to yield returns. Indications that they may not do so result in license denials. Brokers in Texas and Wisconsin must recognize this fact," it concludes, as it declares the Texas legislature should not have "pronounced for a boycott simply because its sister state has adopted a policy long demanded for the protection of land buyers."

That "boycotting" has been remarked the CHARGEOTTE (N. C.) OBSERVER says: "Fair-play advocates might adjudge that proceeding exactly in order. In these days of reciprocity in trade, action like that on the part of Wisconsin naturally invites reciprocal action on the part of the State aggrieved. The one-way trade avenue is not a popular institution in this country," it declares.

Criticism of both Wisconsin and Texas, "solely shooting boycotts back and forth at one another" is voiced by the GRAND RAPIDS PRESS, and it goes on to say that the actions in both states are "totally un-American. We are a rich country chiefly because we situate an almost continental nation with no state-line barriers against each other's goods such as exist in Europe," this paper points out, and declares "the two children should stop their pea shooting."

But in regard to this the DALLAS JOURNAL declares: "If Wisconsin hopes to retain the good will of Texas as a buyer of Wisconsin products, it will do well to adopt a juster attitude than the recent developments indicate it holds at the present time."

"States' right are most desirable, but not so interstate rows" in the opinion of the NEW ORLEANS TIMES-PICAYUNE, which recalls that "boycotting" has been remarked free from interstate scraps among our commonwealth, even boundary line differences having been few, far between and not very serious. This is well," it continues, "since the only serious danger facing our great republic is such divisions of opinion as might set the neighboring units at each others' throats. In the above connection it is probably well that Texas and Wisconsin are not neighbors," this paper concludes.

"Presumably the intervening states can keep Wisconsin and Texas from marching at each other, but nevertheless things are not as they should be in a more perfect union," says the

The player replied that he was. "And do you know who I am?"

"Yes, you are the Vice President in charge of finance for the Company for which I work."

"Well, I shall report you to the President for spending your time during business hours playing golf."

"You go climb a tree, and tell the President he can go to Hell." The next morning the President was informed of the fact that one of his salesmen was wasting time during business hours. Let me see the salesman's record," said the President.

Upon examination, the record showed that the sales for the three preceding months were $60,000, $65,000 and $70,000 respectively. The President said: "But we have no salesman selling as much goods as Jones. What are you going to do about it?"

The Vice President replied: "Well, I am going out and climb a tree. You can work out your problem in your own way."

(International News Service)
VICTORIA, B. C. March 31.—In the office of Mr. A. C. Burdick of the Pacific Salvage Co., is a bill of which probably cannot be duplicated in the world. It is a request for $230 to pay for the labor of giving a thorough bath, with gasoline soap and hot water, to thirty whales.

Circumstances that turned the Alaskan whaling station into a Turkish bath parlor for deep sea mammals involved the wreck of the American steamer Golden Forest, which went ashore near Akutan, with a cargo of oil. The Pacific Salvage company was employed to salvage the vessel. Every assistance was given the salvage company by the whaling station, men were loaned and water freely supplied.

Meanwhile, whalers were steadily bringing their catch in from the sea and mooring the dead whales at the station for processing. Thirty lay moored, side by side, awaiting conversion to everything desirable from hair tonic to perfume, when the tanks of the Golden Forest burst. Oil poured out and rode on the tide to the moored whales, where it collected. The whaling crew had to hand-scrub every whale before the mammals could be sent through the factory.

For this additional work, the salvage company was asked to pay the cost and they agreed in return for co-operation extended salvage workers by the whaling station.

This performance by Carnera, knocking 12 men unconscious, one after the other, should convince young men that prize fighting is not so important, being largely a matter of bulk. An undersized donkey, with his left hind foot, could do to Carnera what Carnera has done to 12 Americans. One kick would be enough.

A steam roller could flatten the donkey, a freight engine could brush aside a regiment of steam rollers. Only a thought counts. It makes the steam roller and the engine, and manages Primo.

White House To Get Real Library

Father-In-Law Of Hoover, Jr.,
Starts Move To Put
Books There

NEW YORK, March 31.—Don Quixote, Sherlock Holmes, Tom Sawyer and Uncle Remus are about to occupy the White House permanently for the mental diversion of America's presidential families.

The nation's booksellers are collecting a home library of 500 volumes as a gift to the executive mansion. The presentation is to be made the last week in April.

The arbiters of the first family's reading include Alice Roosevelt Longworth of Washington and Douglas S. Watson of San Francisco, both of whom know what a White House is without personally purchased books.

The idea originated with Watson, father-in-law of Herbert Hoover, Jr. The evening after President Hoover's inauguration and before the Hoover private library was installed Watson noticed that members of the family wished to turn to books for relaxation and that none was available.

Although the Library of Congress contains a million volumes and the executive office has a reference library, there was nothing for the president to read merely for diversion.

Informed of this, the American Booksellers Association undertook to present the White House with a comprehensive choice, which now is virtually complete and provides for a catholicity of taste.

Twenty-five detective stories and as many children's books will afford entertainment for everyone from the president to his grandchildren.

In addition to a long list of fiction, standard and contemporary, there will be a wide selection of biography, mostly about statesmen, 50 volumes on travel, as many on history, and a representative collection of poetry, drama, essays, including "The Compleat Angler" by Izaak Walton; philosophy, science and arts.

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

HERE HERB ANOTHER BROWN WILLING

Fred L. Rentz, New Castle News.

I am heartily in favor of an old Mullintown gang reunion. I don't think there is many of the younger generation knows much about Mullintown like the old gang did, especially when a fellow from Mullintown went to see his girl in old Slabtown and always had to take a body guard with him to keep from getting mobbed. If you don't believe it ask Herbie, he knows.

And another thing I would like to see some of the kids wear the clothes to school to day that we wore as boys: Kentucky Jean, and girls calico and also wear an asafitida bag around their necks. I know a great number of our old teachers and scholars will not be able to be with us as they have gone to the Great Beyond, where we all must go sooner or later.

When I went to Mullintown school that was about the first job Ed and I had was janitor of the old school which was back of the present school. Nothing like the schools of today. Build fires every morning and carry the coal from the cellar to all the rooms in coal bucket and fill a coal box in each room for next day. I could ramble like this for several hours but will quit hoping to see all the old gang that are living at a reunion so get busy Herb. There is just one more maximum I would like to add and that is all you old Mullintowners who has seen Herb's appeal get in touch with him either by phone or a letter and let us make a go of it as that is the only way we will ever be able to see one another again and renew our boy and girlhood days.

When women use the wrong soap my work is doubly difficult
... I certainly recommend Palmolive"

DR. N. G. PAYOT
Parisian Beauty Expert
Graduate of the University of Lausanne

Beware of soaps that harm the skin. Beware of free alkali, caustic soda, harmful irritants in soap. Ordinary soaps may irritate your skin. You can use Palmolive without risk because it is an absolutely pure soap.

Dr. N. G. Payot
12 RUE RICHERANSE, PARIS

Mme. N. G. Payot finds that Palmolive Soap complements her own "physical culture of the face" and her good preparations in keeping skin lovely

When women use the wrong kind of soap, my work as a beauty expert is doubly difficult. The woman who wants to help her beautician must use a soap which offers every guarantee of purity. I can certainly recommend Palmolive Soap because it is one of the purest," says Dr. N. G. Payot, Parisian beauty specialist to the elite.

"Vegetable oils have a most delightful effect on the skin. It is the palm and olive oils in Palmolive Soap which, blended artfully, give a smooth, rich lather, which is most beneficial."

You have probably heard of Mme. N. G. Payot
Certainly, if you have been to Paris, you know the smart salon of Mme. N. G. Payot. And in this country you no doubt know her reputation as a beauty expert.

Many of our own specialists have studied with her abroad and they, too, recommend Palmolive Soap to combat the countless dangers that threaten complexion beauty.

This is the preferred home treatment of thousands of celebrated beauty shops: make an abundant lather of Palmolive Soap and warm water. Massage this gently into the skin of face and throat. Finish with an ice-cold rinse in the morning.

No dye, no heavily perfumed soap
Palmolive is pure... made of nature's finest cosmetic oils. Its color is the natural color of palm and olive oils. Its natural odor requires the addition of no heavy perfumes.

A soap that touches your face must be pure. Use Palmolive, on experts' advice, and feel safe, feel sure you are using the best protection against skin irritation.

CAUSE FOR REJOICING!

EXCUSE our enthusiasm, but we see good cause for rejoicing as the Music Defense League nears the 2,000,000 membership mark after a few short weeks of effort.

And, if that doesn't prove that the American public wants Living Orchestras and Organists in the Theatre, what would?

There is nothing Exclusive about this swiftly-growing society. It's Inclusive—inclusive of the intelligent citizenry of the New World. And that covers a lot of people, cynics to the contrary notwithstanding. It should, by the way, include YOU.

To become a member in good standing of the Music Defense League one needs only the discriminating taste to know that the art of music is worthy of preservation, and the good sense to want one's money's worth. There are no dues, no obligations.

Throughout the world friends of music are alive to the cultural menace of Canned Music in Theatres. Even the governments of England, France, Spain and Italy are considering measures to prevent this artistic debasement.

American music lovers have chosen the popular and democratic course—

that of registering public demand through the Music Defense League.

What if theatrical interests are momentarily deaf to all considerations save profits gained through false economy? They will heed the voice of the public when that voice attains a sufficiently compelling volume. For the public must be served.

If you value the cultural influence of music... if you feel that the price you pay for theatrical entertainment entitles you to real music rendered by living musicians in the theatre, sign the coupon below and mail it.

Claims Salt Cause Of North St. Bridge Walk Crumbling

William Sandman Of Brooklyn
Avenue Offers Explanation For Condition

Claim that rock salt, placed on the sidewalks of the new North street bridge is to blame for the concrete in the sidewalks crumbling is made by William Sandman of Brooklyn avenue, in a letter to The News.

Mr. Sandman's letter follows:

Editor of News,
Dear Sir:—
I noticed an item in today's News regarding the sidewalks on the North street bridge, in which the writer suggested that frost, poor material, or a thin coating of cement was responsible for the condition of the sidewalks.

In fairness to the contractor and those concerned in the erection of the bridge, I would like enough space in your paper to offer an explanation as to the cause of the supposed defect. The specifications called for one course concrete (no top being required) with a wooden float and brush finish; concrete to be mixed and placed as per the water, cement ratio, which is the latest approved method of the Portland Cement association. The material used was the same as used by the state highway department, being composed of washed sand and gravel, and tested cement.

The concrete was placed under the supervision of a competent inspector, and cured under three plies of wet burlap for a period of ten days.

The cause of the crumbling was an application of rock salt to melt the ice off the sidewalks.

Any concrete will absorb a small amount of moisture and low temperature, caused by melting ice with salt, freezes and expands the moisture which causes the concrete to scale.

Thanking you, I remain
Yours truly,
WILLIAM SANDMAN,
798 Brooklyn avenue,
New Castle, Pa.

Pentecost Campaign Begins Second Week

First Week Of Revival Ends
Sunday Evening With Over-
flow Congregation

The second week of the Pentecost campaign being conducted by J. Marion Small and Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Hess at the Central Christian church came to a very successful close last night.

Yesterday was a day that will be long remembered by those present at the great combined service of the morning when the attendance went to nearly the 500 mark and two young ladies confessed their faith in Christ, making a total of 36 accessions to date. The communion service was more than doubled in its attendance and required ten deacons to serve it after Evangelist Small had delivered a forceful and practical message on the words of Jesus: "This do in rememberance of me." The evening service filled the auditorium to overflowing and the balcony to nearly its capacity.

The services will continue this week with special musical features at every service by the Messes that are doing a very commendable piece of work.
Tonight the O. B. A. and the Loyal Women's Bible classes are attending in a body.

big ones.

Celebrate Greek Independence Day

Orthodox Church On Reynolds Street

The congregation of the Greek Orthodox Church celebrated the one hundredth anniversary of Greek independence in their church on Reynolds street yesterday. The service was a combined religious and festival celebration, continuing through the day.

Rev. Ioakim Papachristou preached the sermon in the church. He also delivered an address expressing the appreciation of the Greeks for American aid given in 1821 during the revolution.

The church was packed and the service was very impressive. A part of the service was taken by the children.

The Ahepa and G. A. P. lodges attended the church services in a body.

One Starves And Stays Fat

One Eats And Keeps Thin

YOU see that everywhere. Most fat people are careful of their diet. Many are active. Yet they see plenty who stay slender while eating what they wish.

Some years ago, science found the reason in an under-active gland. That gland largely controls nutrition. Since then, physicians the world over have fed that gland substance in treating obesity.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

The gayest dog of them all is described in a letter from "Emily" in Milwaukee. Her husband I take it, else how would she know all this about him? Is he worth serving any longer, she asks. If you think you have a misbehavin' somebody in your home, read what Emily has:

"Dear Leola: I'll put this as briefly as possible. Husband had wife's young cousin 21 come to his office, kissed and embraced her. Takes her to shows every night, dinners etc.
Then he came to visit his wife who was making home for him elsewhere.
He fell in love with a young school teacher, (this cousin of his wife's) and for eight months didn't come to California where his wife was making a home. When he finally came he sent love letters to this girl, and she to him, at another address, filled with love and kisses.

"Then he left his wife in California and met another woman on the train, bought her meals and corresponded with her. She is married and has two children, and lives in South Dakota.
His wife has all his letters to the school teacher, and the letters from the married woman.

"Before he left his wife in California he was sick and she showed him every kindness, loved, trusted and nursed him day and night. A day after he leaves California he picks up with this strange woman on the train and exchanged love letters there too.
He had other affairs, and lives so you can't trust him. Has been married thirty years."

Well, Emily, you're a great detec-

the New Bedford road, is progressing nicely, contractor L. A. Haug stated today and will be completed in approximately six more weeks.

The concrete superstructure has been finished for some time, and the task of applying the brick veneer is almost completed. Work of finishing the interior of the building will take several more weeks after that.

Mr. Haug expects to turn the building over to the company about the middle of May, several weeks ahead of the scheduled time.

MAN FINED FOR STRANGE ACTIONS

Complaint was made to the police Saturday by a resident of Cunningham avenue concerning the actions of a man in the vicinity of a shanty in the Florence avenue district. Officers Dukes and Richards answered the call and arrested Nick Ottariano, whom they found had been exposing his person. He was assessed a fine of $5, when he appeared before Mayor William H. Gillespie on Sunday morning.

"Green Dinks" Pass At State College

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., March 31.—
Green dinks, traditional headgear for freshmen at the Pennsylvania State College for many student generations, will disappear from the campus with the passing of the present class. The Student Council, which controls student activities, has decreed that the green cap shall be replaced by a blue one surmounted with a white button, thus following the lead of several other colleges in incorporating the college colors in the freshman cap.

The last green top piece will vanish at Penn State with the ceremonies of "move-up" day this spring, when each class advances to the rights and privileges which college custom has reserved for the next higher.

Peter's Adventures

LARVA, HIMSELF
Peter could stand quietly by and watch the monster in the pool eat up his neighbors no longer.

"Stop him!" cried he, to the Dragon-Flies in general, but not one of them paid the boy the least bit of attention.

"Who is the creature?" demanded Peter, raising his voice. The Dragon-Flies didn't answer. They were too busy watching the pool monster who evidently had become restless and was about to seek another lurking place in the mud. Maybe the monster was a little bit ashamed of himself, or perhaps a bit upset by finding a stranger's eyes upon him. At any rate, he was mighty uneasy. Slowly he rose to the surface of the water and lazily swam a few strokes, his clumsy body swaying from side to side. Then with a jerk and a spurt the monster shot forward and out of the boy's sight.

"I say, do tell me who that ficked monster is and how it happens that you are not angry with him. Unless I'm much mistaken, instead of being frightened by his cruel tricks, you are actually laughing at him." Peter faced his particular friend among the Dragon-Flies, and thus brought to attention, that fellow could do no less than answer.

"There would not be much sense in our being frightened by that fellow, nor angry at him, either," chuckled Peter's particular friend. "As a matter of fact, you are right. We think he's rather clever."

"Why?" Asked Peter.

"Because once upon a time we did just as he is doing now. There was a day not long ago, when every one of us here was exactly like him. That monster's a baby Dragon-Fly and his other name is LARVA."

Action Without Harm Whenever Constipated

Here's a way to be rid of constipation and its ills—a way that works quickly, effectively, but gently.

A candy Cascarel at night—the next morning you're feeling fine. Breath is sweetened; tongue cleared; biliousness, headaches, dizziness, gas vanish. Repeat the treatment two or three nights to get the souring waste out of your system. See how appetite and energy return; how digestion improves.

The action of Cascarels is sure, complete, helpful to everyone. They are made from cascara, which doctors agree actually strengthens bowel muscles. All drug stores have the 10c boxes.

"Hazel May suffered from constipation," says Mrs. M. Hopkins, 7050 Ruskin Lane, Philadelphia. "She was sallow and bilious; didn't have any appetite; couldn't digest her food."

"California Fig Syrup has changed all that. It regulated her bowels quickly; improved her appetite and digestion. She has improved right along until friends say she's a regular prize-winner for health."

Mothers by thousands praise California Fig Syrup. Physicians endorse it. Its rich, fruity flavor appeals to children; its pure vegetable goodness is safe for any child. The prompt relief it brings bilious, head-achy, constipated children lasts; because it helps tone and strengthen bowels and stomach. Next time bad breath, coated tongue or feverishness warn of constipation, try it with your child and see how it helps!

When buying, look for the name California! That marks the genuine, famous for 50 years.

(Special To The News)
WASHINGTON, March 31.—If the housewives of New Castle accept the advice of the census bureau they will call a family after-dinner council and familiarize themselves with detailed information regarding the members of their household. For it is largely the wielder of the broom and dust-pan and rolling pin who will be at home this week to answer the knock of the census enumerator and to compile replies to 32 questions about herself and about each of the persons living within her kingdom.

Census bureau officials point out that the results of the population census will be collected with the consumption of less time if the housewives of the nation gather together the information involved prior to the arrival of the enumerator.

Starting with the street and house address, the questions asked the housewives will seek to learn the number of persons living in the house,

and his relatives in Buffalo, N. Y., have been called to his bedside.

The robbers slugged Diavel with a blunt instrument or blackjack as he was locking the Columbia garage, which adjoins his parking ground. He then was dragged inside the garage and robbed. Some time later he was found by Mrs. Amelia VanCise, North Water avenue, at whose home he roomed.

Thirty-five states are organizing a drive on illiteracy so that there should be less excuse than ever for failing to heed "Stop, look and listen" signs at grade crossings.—The Philadelphia Bulletin.

the number in the family, the relationship of the residents, data on the ownership of the home, a personal description of each individual living there, the education of the residents, place of birth, parentage, language spoken, citizenship, occupation, etc.—thirty-two questions in all.

"Prepare," the census bureau advises housewives.

Death Ends 40 Years' Lone Vigil Of Woman At Church

CATAWISSA, Pa., March 31.—Forty years of lonely vigil over the Friends Meeting House here, the maintenance of which had been her life and her love, ended when Miss Mary Emma Walter, 83 years old, died in the Bloomsburg Hospital as she had worshipped alone.

The ravages of age caused her death after three months' illness, but her death aroused almost universal sympathy because she was beloved of the entire community.

Since 1890, when she came here following the death of her parents, who are buried in the cemetery in which she is to be laid to rest, she had worshipped regularly Sundays and Wednesdays in the ancient meeting house that was built of logs about 1775. In all of that time she was the sole regular worshipper for the meeting house had been abandoned in 1814 until she came here and interested others in having repairs made to the roof and doors.

From 1890 until her fatal illness she made its maintenance her life work. On each of her visits she sat in the silent worship of her sect in the old and worn pews. Once or twice a year delegations of members from other meetings visited Catawissa and conducted services—these being the only breaks in her silent communion. Known to thousands as "Aunt Emma," she had a kindly feeling for everybody and everything, never voicing criticism even when mischievous boys littered the grove about the meeting house with tin cans and waste paper. A former teacher she believed in corporal punishment, but her moral suasion with the youths was sufficient to make them lifelong friends and in later years aid her in keeping the grounds clean.

Alleged Disorderly House Is Visited

Complaints Of Neighbors In Downtown Block Brings The Police

In the early morning hours of Sunday, a number of men and women in a second floor flat in the Gunning block on the Public Square kept celebrating to such an extent as to disturb all the other residents of the building and vicinity.

The result was a complaint at about four o'clock to the police. Officers Kennedy and Letera answered the call and on going to the apartment against which the complaint was made were refused admission.

The people in charge of the building gave the officers authority to break in the door, if necessary, but Officer Kennedy got out on the fire escape and gained entrance in that manner.

A small quantity of liquor was found and two women, Virginia Vellis, whose apartment it was, and Grace Schultz and three men, Jack Miller, Joseph Bush and Al Hutchison were arrested.

On their appearance later Sunday morning before Mayor William H. Gillespie, Virginia Vellis was fined $25 as the keeper of a disorderly house, while Grace Schultz was fined $15 as an inmate and the three men were fined $10 each as visitors.

Prayer In Congress

The house met at 12 o'clock noon. The chaplain, Rev. James Shera Montgomery, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Countless are Thy witnesses, eternal God, our Father; humbled amid Thy glories, may we seek direction in Thy wisdom and in the simplicity of Thy marvelous teaching. At times we desire to do that which is beyond our strength; be gracious to accept the wish when we fail to do the deed. We are Thine; we are part of Thee and Thou art part of our best selves. O teach us to reveal what Thy dictate of purity, courage, and nobility. Lift the light of Thy truth upon all of us; may it remain in our memories and live in our daily conduct. Through Christ our Saviour. Amen.

SHE THOUGHT:
"We'd squeeze you in somehow—if it weren't for 'B.O.'"

Yet, to be polite,
SHE SAID:
"We'd give you a lift if we weren't so crowded."

Another invitation lost ...all because of "B.O."

PEOPLE all agreed he was a nice chap. But somehow they never had room for him. The car was already filled. The bridge table already arranged. A dance already promised.

Then one day he discovered his trouble. "B.O."—body odor. At once he adopted a simple precaution. Now he's welcome everywhere. He knows the easy way to keep perspiration odorless.

A risk we all run

People won't tell us when we're guilty of "B.O." They merely avoid us. The offender is the last to realize his fault because we so quickly become used to an ever-present odor. But remember, pores give off a quart of odor-causing waste daily—even on cool days.

Why risk offending? Adopt this easy pleasant way to be safe. Wash and bathe with Lifebuoy. Like millions of other particular men and women, you'll say it's the finest toilet soap in the world. Leaves you glowing with freshness and healthy vigor—gloriously, satisfyingly clean. Lifebuoy's creamy, abundant, antiseptic lather cleanses and purifies pores—ends every trace of "B.O."

Radiantly fresh complexion

"A wonderful complexion soap!" say thousands of delighted women. Lifebuoy's deep-cleansing lather gently frees clogged pores of impurities—makes dull skins bloom with healthy, radiant beauty. Its pleasant extra-clean scent—that vanishes as you rinse—tells you Lifebuoy purifies.

Wives Spend Less For Clothes Than Men

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Ill., March 31.—Wives do not spend as much money for clothes as their husbands, at least in families of low or moderate salaries, according to an analysis of 12,000 family budgets completed at the University of Chicago. In a study of expenditures for families whose incomes levels ranged from averages of $813 to $2,790 a year, Miss May Louise Cowles, Ph. D., of the Home Economics Department, finds that the husbands' apparel costs 10 per cent more than that of the wife. The percentage of the family income spent on all clothing increases faster than the income increases from level to level, she finds, but because of the concomitant increase in the number of children in each family, the proportional expenditure for each individual drops.

MORMONS PLAN CELEBRATION OF CHURCH'S BIRTH

(International News Service)
SALT LAKE CITY, March 31.—A hundred years ago, a young New England farmer told his neighbors a vivid story of how he had heard heavenly voices as he worked in the fields. The voices told him to go to a certain hill in Western New York and dig up a sacred record. That record became the Book of Mormon.

Joseph Smith, founder of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, more commonly known as the "Mormons" was the young New England farmer and during the week of April 6, nearly 700,000 of his followers will observe the centennial of their church's founding throughout the world with the central observance in Salt Lake City.

There were only six members of the original church that Joseph Smith founded at Fayette, New York, on April 6, 1830. As the church grew, there was a gradual migration westward until under the leadership of Brigham Young, permanent headquarters were established in Salt Lake City.

The Way OF THE World

NO ENDS OF THE EARTH
There are no ends of the earth. The telephone hooked up with the radio has brought them close. Today you can talk on short notice from your house or office to practically any country in Europe. The United States is connected with 85 per cent of the telephones of the world. Many of us may live to see all the telephones of the world linked in one system.

SPEED
If you were to characterize the age we live in by one word, what word would come the nearest to expressing all there is to be said about it? Of course no one word will do. Perhaps the closest word is "speed." For instance, there was a marriage ceremony performed in Denver a few days ago and the ritual consisted of just one word. The preacher said "married," and the couple went on their way. Attorneys agree the ceremony is legal.

ON OUR WAY
Speaking of speed, how much of our thought and energy are devoted to going somewhere, getting somewhere, rushing somewhere. We are crazy, a lot of us at least, on the subject of transportation. The advertising that attracts us the most is the advertising of things that go fast. A whole nation is fascinated by any man who will risk his life to travel more than 200 miles an hour in racing car or airplane. We are ready to worship speed and speedsters.

FACING THE WRONG WAY
Paul Morand, French novelist, shocks American critics who think we in the United States furnish but a poor imitation of the things that make Europe desirable. Morand says those looking for culture and the gentle art of living are wasting their time in Europe when these things are much easier to be found in New York. New York, and he might well include many other places in America, is the place, according to the thoughtful Frenchman, where the present generation can lead a "superior life." It will be interesting to many to note that Mr. Morand defines a superior life as comprising good manners, picture galleries, Parisian frocks, the enjoyment of conversation, attendance at good plays, the knowledge of good times, and the strategy of love.

SHE CAN SEE A KISS COMING

PONTIAC, Mich., March 31.—He who gets fresh occasionally gets slapped, but he may also get the decision.

Lewis Boley learned this when he was brought before Judge H. R. Holard on a charge of attempting to kiss Mrs. Ida Rosenbloom, right in the middle of a dance hall.

The court asked Mrs. Rosenbloom how she knew Boley was trying to kiss her.

"In married," she replied, "and I know how my husband acts."

"What happened then?" she was asked.

"I slapped him and he slapped me back and I slapped him again and he slapped me back."

The statutes were consulted but Boley's case was apparently without precedent here. He was released.

FIRE PROTECTION GONE, HE'S HELD

ELYRIA, O., March 31.—W. L. Scott, a self-styled traveling salesman, was bound over to the grand jury under $1,000 bond by Justice S. J. George when he pleaded guilty to virtually depriving Oberlin college of its fire protection.

The specific charge was obtaining money under false pretenses.

Scott, it is charged, took 65 fire extinguishers, valued at $650, from the college with the avowed intent of sending them back to the manufacturer for inspection and repair.

When he failed to show up and the extinguishers were not returned Sheriff Charles E. Adams was notified.

GIRL SCOUTS

PLAN FOR PARTY
Minnehaha troop of Girl Scouts had its regular meeting on Saturday morning. Sally Smith and Carolyn Michael were taken into the troop.

Janet McClintock, Margaret Porteous, Carolyn Michael and Kathryn Veach discussed all phases of fire prevention and passed it. They also found the size of their pieces. The patrol leaders were busy planning for the Easter party to be held April 19. This is for members of the troop only. Bonnie Christman worked on first class signaling with the remainder of the troop.

Plans for a bake sale to be held on April 12 will be laid at the next meeting. The girls of this troop are endeavoring to earn the money, with which to go to camp this summer, by selling candy, gelatine and a bake sale. Two hundred boxes of gelatine have so far been sold.

Miss Pugh with the patrol leaders of the Arthur McGill troop were special visitors.

Expedition In Egypt From Pennsylvania Reports On Discovery

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 31.—A mummy which, with its decorations of amulets and jewelry lay undisturbed for 4,000 years, has been discovered by the University of Pennsylvania Museum expedition at Mejdum, Egypt. Alan Rowe, field director advised the museum authorities in a report made public today.

Rowe said the mummy was that of a woman named Sat-Her-em-Hat, who lived about 2000 B. C.

"Around the neck of Sat-Her-em-Hat," the report stated, "was hung a semi-circular pendant formed by several concentric rows of faience cylinder beads alternately green and black. In addition to this, a string of large graded beads of polished amethyst was found as well as a string of exquisite miniature amulets cut in carnelian jasper and lapis lazuli.

"The semi-circular end pieces of the pendant are of bluish-green faience, shaped and painted on the inner corner to represent hawk's heads. A scarab found in the coffin bore the proper name 'Her-em-Hat, the elder,' doubtless a relative of the deceased."

Rowe said the expedition was continuing its search for a burial chamber in the mastabah lying near the great pyramid of Seneferu, who lived about 2900 B. C. The mastabah, a large tomb in the shape of a trapezoid was used for the burial of members of the royal family and dependents of Seneferu.

Carrie Landrum Is Found "Not Guilty"

Jury Brings In Verdict In Case Tried Before Judge Chambers Saturday

In the case of the commonwealth against Carrie Landrum, charged with larceny from the person of Thomas Longman, which was tried before Judge Chambers, the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty. It was claimed that Longman was relieved of about $50 at the Landrum home. He was intoxicated at the time, according to the evidence, and had a quart of whiskey, which he passed around among those present. Afterwards he claimed that he had been robbed and accused Mrs. Landrum, wife of Cy Landrum. Mrs. Landrum denied the charge, claiming that she had not even seen Longman with any money. There was no evidence that Mrs. Landrum had taken the money.

Faces Hide Emotion, Professor Declares

CLEVELAND, March 31.—Civilization teaches us to hide our true feelings, Professor Herbert Gurnee, of Western Reserve University believes.

Tests made upon adults by him to determine whether facial expression truly reacts to emotions have shown there is little reaction. This, he says, may be due to the fact that social pressure has made people's faces immobile.

To test reactions of the face to emotion, Dr. Gurnee is making motion pictures of babies too young to have acquired the ability to mask their facial expressions under various states of emotion.

Bachelors Fined In Birth Campaign

Mussolini Declares War On Male Spinsters By Taxing Them From $10 To $20

ANCONA, Italy, Mar. 31.—War against the falling birth rate is being waged upon all fronts—in Italy. The Ancona Magistrates have summoned all the bachelors within the city who have not yet paid their bachelor tax and sentenced them to pay fines ranging from $10 to $20.

Of the 100-odd cripples, habitual drunkards, beggars and mental derelicts who came up for examination 40 had to face fine or imprisonment—not so much for not getting married as for failing to pay the $2 tax, which is the price of their freedom from the bonds of matrimony. They made a pathetic scene as they hobbled into court, a long line of life's failures.

Several pleaded they had no fixed homes; others excused themselves on the ground that they could not even support themselves. Those who pleaded mental deficiency were remanded to the hospital to be examined by an alienist. They all appealed.

Italy's birth rate was 38 per 1000 in 1850. When the peninsula was divided into several small states it fell to 30.3 in 1921 and 26.9 in 1927, according to Jean Gracy, a French expert, who has just gathered data showing the drop in all European states within the past 80 years. Italian statistics prove this country's birth rate has dropped since 1927 and in some cities fallen below the death rate.

This state of affairs seems to perturb the Fascist authorities, who have made great efforts to increase births.

(International News Service)
COUNTRY CLUB, AUGUSTA, Ga., March 31.—An army of professional shooters, mingled with a handful of amateurs led by the peerless Bobby Jones, national open champion, today began a 36-hole trek around the hill and dollar-studded Augusta country club course in the first leg of the 72-hole southeastern open.

All the star money performers were here, except Walter Hagen, Wild Bill Mehligorn, the Pensacola professional who recently won the rich Lagore open, Leo Diegel and Tommy Armour. All in all, the professionals entered in the tourney number three score or more.

Heading the money boys was young Horton Smith, who now signs himself from Cragston, N. Y., and is headed straight for the second big battle of the year with the Atlanta golfing attorney.

In the recent Savannah, Ga., open Smith scored out the national open champion by one stroke in a long, gruelling duel.

Famous Sword Goes To Museum

NEW YORK, March 31.—The sword which was carried by Peter Stuyvesant, famous Dutch colonial governor of New York nearly 300 years ago, has been presented to the museum of the city of New York by De Lancey Kountze, 760 Park avenue. It was announced today by the museum. The sword is 27 1/2 inches long, has a wooden grip and a tightly laced leather scabbard and is bound in brass.

It will join other mementos in the museum, including a roughish brown lock of the hair of George Washington. This was presented in 1928 by Stuyvesant Fish, who had inherited it through members of his family from General Hamilton Fish, a Revolutionary general.

"Dead" May Live

Believing that her son, Marlin Pritchard, formerly of Vincennes, Ind., whom she thought killed in action in France, in 1918, is alive and in an African military prison, Mrs. E. J. Pritchard, 76, now of Cushing, Okla., has requested the American Legion to attempt to obtain his release. She received a body believed to be that of her son and buried it, in 1921, but recently received a letter from a French Foreign Legion soldier who said he was her son. Photo shows the Legionnaire whom Mrs. Pritchard believes is her son.

Judges Urged To Heed "Human Experience"

Jurist Holds Laymen Entitled To Explanation Of "Mystifying Procedure"

Joseph M. Proskauer, Associate Justice of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of New York until his resignation a few months ago, and one of Governor Smith's closest and ablest advisers during the latter's term of service in Albany, contributes an article called "Dissenting Opinions" to Harpers Magazine.

"We lawyers might as well confess that the layman is entitled to receive from us, if not an excuse, at least an explanation for the mystifying procedure under which nine judges of the highest court of the land—assumed, and in general rightly assumed, to be learned leaders of the profession—versed in the law—may reach a conclusion by a vote of five to four and hand down two opinions each of which, crudely proves to the writer's satisfaction that the other is egregiously wrong."

These dissenting opinions arise because the law deals with human life and experience, the most complicated, difficult and least understood material in the world, he declares. "The law has to deal with human motives, good and bad, clear and obscure; with human conduct in every occupation and trade and profession and business; with the complicated processes which man has created for government. Thus, the judge's function is completely differentiated from that of the mere umpire or referee. The referee at the football game has many rules to enforce; he must choose which is applicable, interpret, and apply it. We have sometimes seen the football officials disagree among themselves or reverse their rulings. Recalling this picture, we may perhaps marvel less to find dissent among judges who must arbitrate not the mere playing of a team for sixty minutes, but, continuously through the years, the play and the work and the endeavors of millions and must give coherent rules of conduct for man's myriad activities, ceaselessly impacting upon one another."

Porter Is Guilty On Two Charges

In the case of Grover C. Porter of Bessemer, charged with possessing liquor, which was tried before Judge Chambers on Saturday afternoon, the jury brought in a verdict of guilty.

On another charge in which he was charged with assault and battery he was found guilty on the second and third counts only. These counts charged assault and assault on Officer Archie Shoup of Bessemer.

It is claimed that Porter resisted the officer when he was about to be placed in the lockup at Bessemer.

CAIRO FELONS MAKE DARING PRISON BREAK

By RUTH JANE WILLIAMS International News Service Staff Correspondent

CAIRO, Mar. 31.—Seven men walked calmly out of the Tourah Prison and into freedom.

This prison is considered one of the stoutest in the Orient and boast fewer escapes than any other in Egypt.

Yet these seven condemned prisoners filed the bar of their cell, slid down to the ground on a sheet rope, crossed the prison grounds, over two barriers of barbed wire without detection and surmounted the high prison wall successfully.

The prison is thoroughly policed and the walls minutely guarded. Six of the fugitives were over taken the next day, on the desert. The seventh remains yet at liberty. All seven were renowned as being among the most dangerous criminals in the country.

Shenango Township School Board Claims George Connor Was Assigned To Boyd School

In the case of William A. Connor against the Shenango township school board, in which Connor seeks to have the school board furnish transportation for his son, George C. Connor, to the Shenango township consolidated school, the defendant filed an answer at the prothonotary's office this morning in which allegations of the plaintiff are denied.

According to the defense, Connor's son was assigned to the Boyd school instead of the McKee school, which was closed. It is claimed that for the past 36 years pupils in the vicinity of Connor's home have been attending the Boyd school.

When the consolidated school building was erected permission for George Connor to attend was asked and granted provided he should live near the school. He went to the home of a relative named Baker from which he attended the school for some time, and then returned to his home. Application was then made to have him transported to the consolidated school. This was refused and suit was started by Connor. A hearing will be held to determine the matter.

CAT MOTHERS ORPHAN PUPPIES

(International News Service)
BOSTON, March 31.—The alley and the drawing room have found a common ground of contact here in the needs of infant patriarchs whose ancestry is iron clad and fool proof.

It was a situation that developed when a hard-boiled tabby cat whose immediate forbears knew only the neighborhood of the tenements took pity on a couple of forlorn pups, left to shift for themselves when their mother, a pure bred Brussels griffon was taken to the Angell Memorial hospital here for an operation.

The puppies about 30 hours old were brought to the Animal Rescue League quarters to remain until their own mother could take care of them again. A mother cat, with a brood of her own was enlisted for a share of the responsibility. She objected, at first, but as frequently happens the hapless plight of the helpless youngsters won her sympathy.

Atterbury Scored By Senator Grundy For Election Viewpoints

Charges And Counter-Charges Fly Thick And Fast In Pennsylvania Politics

International News Service Staff Correspondent
PHILADELPHIA, March 31.—Charges and counter-charges, interspersed with bitter personalities, flew thick and fast today among the leaders of the Republican faction battling for the senatorial and gubernatorial nominations in the Pennsylvania state primary election.

Brig. Gen. W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, and a member of the Republican national committee, was accused of being the directing mind in a conspiracy to grab control of the state government and the public treasury; dictate the personnel and policy of the public service commission, and dominate all the important relationships of this great state with the federal government, by U. S. Senator Joseph R. Grundy, who is a candidate for re-election to the office to which he was appointed last December.

"Bull in China Shop"
The senator was likened to "a bull in a china shop" by Herman Blum, manufacturer and associate of Grundy in the American Tariff League, in a hot retort to the accusation against Grundy.

Senator Grundy should "accept the fall of his house of cards as complete," Blum added, and retire from a contest in which "he cannot possibly be nominated."

Leading up to his charges against Gen. Atterbury, Senator Grundy declared "the most corrupt period in American politics was that in which the big railroads of the country dominated elections, controlled state legislatures, bought or repealed laws at their own will, strangled industry and shook down the public."

Three Off Yoke
The people of the nation finally arose and threw off the yoke of the railroads and passed laws curtailing their activities in such a determined manner that railroad executives dropped out of politics, asserted the junior Pennsylvania senator.

"Since that time until W. W. Atterbury," Senator Grundy continued, no railroad head "has dared even attempt to bring the railroads of the country back into the political affairs of the states or the nation."

"By the grace of the political machine now guided by the so-called 'war board' composed of Tom Cunningham, Charles Hall, Sam Salus et al., Mr. Atterbury now is the Republican national committeeman from Pennsylvania." And Mr. Atterbury is the directing mind in the conspiracy being carried out by Cunningham, Hall, Salus and their pawns," asserted Grundy.

In his counter-charge State Senator Salus charged Arthur Townsend, state budget officer at Harrisburg, has sold to the state a tract of land near Washington crossing in Bucks county which was supposed to have historical value that did not have any historical value. Townsend is a lieutenant of Grundy's.

Bella A. Taylor Is Candidate For State Legislature

BELLA A. TAYLOR

In announcing my candidacy as a representative from the first district (New Castle) of Lawrence County to the General Assembly, I desire to state that I was a candidate for this office four years ago, at which time I came in second in a field of seven candidates, and lacking only 330 votes of winning. I feel this was not a failure but an unfinished victory. My many friends have urged me to enter the race again to complete this victory. May 20, the Republican voters of New Castle will nominate their candidate for the General Assembly. I am a candidate for that nomination.

A mother and business woman, I have been engaged in civic and club work for more than twenty-five years. My activities in civic, religious, and public affairs in New Castle are too well known to need further comment. I stand for conservation of the race through better legislation for women and children; a square deal for the working man as well as the working woman; and educational advancement in the state.

The home is the citadel of the nation, but remedial legislation that will protect and preserve the sanctity of the home is a state as well as a national need. I favor economy in government and tax reduction.

The duty of a legislator is primarily to make laws. Intimate knowledge of legislative methods, personal acquaintance with leaders of the state, and knowledge of the district I desire to serve are qualifications for the position of legislator.

I believe the city of New Castle should be represented at Harrisburg by a property taxpayer. This I have been for twenty-nine years. I ask the voters of New Castle for their favorable consideration of my candidacy, and promise, if successful, to serve honestly to the best of my ability my constituents.

Charge Against College Boxer

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, March 31.—William Strubel, 160-pound Penn State collegian, and his seconds in the recent intercollegiate boxing bout here during which Oliver Horne, captain of the University of Pennsylvania boxing team was injured, today were summoned for a hearing before Magistrate Louis Hamburg of West Philadelphia.

A technical charge of involuntary manslaughter has been lodged against Strubel.

Horne was taken to the University of Pennsylvania hospital following the bout which occurred on March 22nd. On the Monday following he was operated on and a blood clot on his brain removed. He died Saturday night of pneumonia.

The hearing is looked upon as mere formality since two physicians who attended Horne have asserted they believe death was due to pneumonia. Horne's head injury, really was self-inflicted being caused by him striking his head against Strubel's knee when he slipped and fell during the bout, according to physicians and witnesses of the contest.

Voting Machines Ready At Du Bois

Seven Machines Are Installed And Will Be Used May 20

DU BOIS, Pa., March 31.—Hundreds of qualified voters of DuBois have taken their first lesson in the operation of voting machines, in preparation for the spring primaries on May 20, when the automatic tabulators will be used in all the precincts of this city.

Seven machines have been received here—the first to be delivered to any voting precinct in Pennsylvania for actual use at an official election. They were ordered by the commissioners of Clearfield county, immediately after the election of last fall, when DuBois voted overwhelmingly to adopt the voting machines.

Three other municipalities in the state will be equipped with the machines in time for use at the spring primaries.

Pennsylvania's election code prohibits the use of regular machines as demonstrators, but an extra machine has been received here for practice purposes. It has been set up in a public office and equipped for primary election purposes by J. W. McIntosh, official custodian. It was made available for all voters who desire to inspect it and the custodian is kept busy explaining its intricacies and the methods of operating it. Women formed the majority of the crowds that inspected it.

Chinese Wire Tappers Furnish Home Owner With Free Current

PEIPING, March 31.—Wholesale thefts of electric current by Chinese householders who tap electric power lines and light their houses free of charge have been uncovered by the Peiping Electric Lighting Company.

The company learned that a group of electricians were making a regular business of tapping power lines, and providing free electricity to a large number of homes and shops.

The electricians, according to the Chinese press, solicited business, offering to tap lines for a small sum and free current indefinitely. The lines were tapped in many places before the electric company finally learned what was happening.

In the past, military and civil officials have tapped the company's lines and refused to pay, but this practice has been largely abolished.

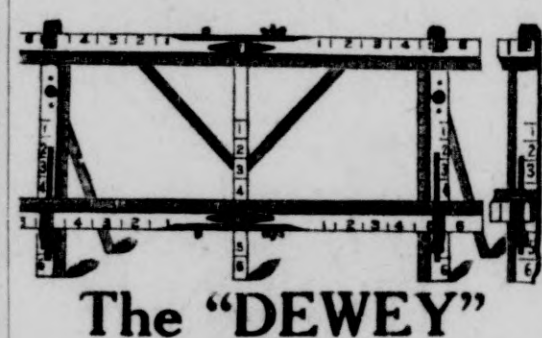

Swedish Telephone Business Increases

STOCKHOLM, Mar. 31.—Sweden now has more than 500,000 telephones, or 84 per cent. each 1000 inhabitants.

According to statistics just released by the government telephone and telegraph board, headed by Count Adolf Hamilton, nearly 400,000 long distance calls to Swedish points were placed from Stockholm during January this year, against about 380,000 during the same period in 1929.

The local calls within the capital, the majority of which are handled automatically, numbered more than 20,300,000, or 1,000,000 more than the year before.

Nation Will Spend $1,601,167,455 On Roads During 1930

Pennsylvania Leads Country With $159,835,000 Construction Program

WASHABLE, March 31.—A survey of the nation by the Bureau of Public Roads of the Department of Agriculture shows that the States, and their counties, will expend $250,000,000 more for road construction in 1930 than in 1929, the total outlay being approximately $1,601,167,455 for improvement during the year.

The planned expenditure by State Highway Commissions for construction and maintenance is $937,500,455; for local roads and bridges $663,667,000.

Pennsylvania leads with an outlay of $159,835,000 and New York next, with $144,940,000. New Jersey plans to spend $60,000,000 and Connecticut $15,500,000.

The total length of the roads to be improved this year, highway departments estimate, will be 32,532 miles, and increase of 3126 over the estimate in the 1929 program.

The Highway Departments of States will control the maintenance of 281,393 miles of highways this year, an increase of 32,381 over 1929. Gradually the states are taking over the more important county and local roads.

The states of greatest population and industrialization in which unemployment is greatest show the highest contemplated expenditures. The Middle Atlantic States, comprising New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, plan to spend $374,835,310 on improvement of State and local roads, the East North Central States of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin plan to spend $303,696,000.

The West North Central States, including Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas, rank third in their contemplated expenditures of $236,411,727, and the South Atlantic States of Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida, with an expenditure of $182,872,418, rank fourth.

The West South Central States of Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas rank fifth with an expenditure of $154,100,000, and the Pacific States, comprising Washington, Oregon and California, rank sixth with an expenditure of $121,590,000.

SENDS HER $13,375
PARIS, Mar. 31.—The story of a modern Enoch Arden is reported from Belgium by Gertrude van der Voorst, wife of a poor Ghent shoemaker.

She recently received a package containing $13,375 in bank notes. The next day she received a letter explaining it. It was from her former husband, of whom she had not heard since he entered the war against Germany many years ago. He had been captured, released and then went to the Congo, where he made several thousand dollars growing rubber.
Meanwhile his wife, not hearing from him, married again. Of this he heard and sent her the money and letter, explaining that she could continue as she was, as he would return to the Congo and disappear from her life forever.

JURY TO GET CASE LATE THIS AFTERNOON; SEE EARLY VERDICT

Final Argument For Commonwealth Is Started This Afternoon

DISTRICT ATTORNEY POWERS IS FIRST

Believe Jury Will Bring In Death Or Life Imprisonment Verdict

With the taking of testimony completed, and the arguments well on their way to completion at press time, it is now but a matter of hours until W. Glenn Dague, paramour of Irene Schroeder, will know what penalty he must pay for the murder of Corporal Brady Paul. Whether he will go to the electric chair or will spend his natural life in the quiet of a penitentiary is a question for the eight men and four women who have heard his case. Court room number one should see a verdict tonight.

There can be but one of two verdicts, either the chair of life imprisonment. Dague's defense was his own story, and at no time during that defense did he claim that he was not present at the robbery of the Butler Store, or that he was not present at the murder of Brady Paul. These things he admitted as he admitted the possession of a Spanish 38 calibre revolver.

Asks For Mercy
Dague's plea is not for justice but for mercy. Not the electric chair but life imprisonment. Not the penalty meted out to Irene, the penalty which he boasted he would take with her, but the life imprisonment penalty, from which all too many are pardoned in Pennsylvania.

Arguments to the jury were more than half over at the noon recess. District Attorney John S. Powers spoke first for the commonwealth and the same classic style that marked his address to the Irene Schroeder jury marked his address this morning. Calmly, dispassionately, logically, he reviewed the case briefly and then asked the jury to do its duty, without hate, without prejudice.

"Self defense is the right of a citizen," said Mr. Powers, "but it is also the right of society. Society has the right of self defense against murderers, it has statutory and scriptural sanction to take life where it has been shown that a life has been taken in a cold blooded murder."

No Excuse For Murder
"You represent society. Your task is to decide what penalty must be paid for the taking of the life of a defender of society. It has been said in Dague's defense that he served in the army for eleven months. Standing alone, that fact is to his credit. But it is no excuse for murder, no palliation for crime, no reason why this man should not pay the full penalty of his deed. Under the law all stand equal. Sex is not recognized, nor color nor creed."

"What defense do they offer for this man's actions? Whether or not he fired the fatal shot makes no difference, for under the law all are guilty if a murder is committed in the commission of, or flight from a robbery. You have heard the evidence. You are sworn to do your duty regardless of how unpleasant it may be. Our natural tendency is to shrink from an unpleasant duty, but in this you cannot shrink, you cannot evade your duty, and I know that you will do it."

Asks for Life Imprisonment
Opening for the defense Attorney Thomas W. Dickey immediately went into the fact that it had not been proven that Dague fired the fatal shot. "The commonwealth has already one death verdict in this murder," said Mr. Dickey. At this point Attorney Sebastian Dugan objected that it was improper argument, and Judge Hildebrand sustained his position.

"We offer no excuse for Dague's leaving his wife and family," said Mr. Dickey. "We do not know why he did it, nor can we offer any reason, save one, Irene Schroeder."

"What good can be accomplished by taking this man's life. No one regrets any more than we, the fact that Brady Paul is dead. But, taking Dague's life cannot restore him to society, cannot return him to his mother. Will you take this man away where his children can never see him again, or will you put him in prison where they will be enabled to see him from time to time?"

Not Proven
Attorney Benjamin Jarret concluded the defense arguments. He argued that it had not been proven that Dague fired the shot that killed Paul, that it may have been done accidentally by Moore, that Dague was a member of the party but was not actually guilty of the crime.

Jarret's argument, like Dickey's was one of mercy, rather than justice. Regardless of the verdict, Dague can be well satisfied that his interests were well handled by the two attorneys, and their pleas might well influence any jury to be merciful. They were calculated to impress the fact upon the jury that the man on trial did not fire the fatal shot, although he was guilty of criminal conduct. They did not ask that he be acquitted or that any degree less than first be given, but they did ask this, that his life be spared.

Special Counsel Charles J. Margioti will conclude the arguments this afternoon. It is probable that he will take two hours for his presentation of the case and if this be true, the charge of Judge R. Lawrence Hildebrand should start sometime near four o'clock. If the plan followed in the Schroeder case is carried out, the jury will get the case before supper time.

Closes Long Term
The finish of the Dague case closes one of the longest trials in the county's history, for Dague's trial must be linked up with that of Irene Schroeder. Both of the trials arose out of the murder of Corporal Brady Paul on the Butler road on December 27th, 1929.

Irene Schroeder's trial started on Monday morning, March 10th. The jury was not selected until noon of March 12th and the taking of testimony started that afternoon. The verdict, "guilty of murder in the first degree with the death penalty was returned on Friday, March 21st, just two months from the day the New Castle officers started back from Phoenix, Arizona with Irene and Glen Dague.

Dague's trial started on Monday morning, March 24th, the jury being selected by noon on Tuesday. The taking of testimony was shortened somewhat in this case and if a verdict is returned tonight, it will be four days ahead of the verdict in the Schroeder case.

With the verdict in the Dague case, Lawrence county sees an end of two trials that attracted the attention not alone of this nation, but of foreign nations. The British Isles, France, Germany and Italy all carried accounts of the cases, and to keep the world informed of the progress of them, a large group of newspaper men and women from other papers and from press services were present.

From many angles the cases have been the most difficult in the history of the county. Curious throngs have pressed for admission, but at no time has the court room been uncomfortably crowded. Judge Hildebrand handed down a ruling at the opening of the case that the court room was not to be crowded and this was followed.

To expedite the cases and to keep down expense, Judge Hildebrand held many night sessions. This fact alone was a surprise to many visitors for in many courts of the state night sessions are unknown. It meant more work but the court believed that the trials should be run off as speedily as possible.

What time the verdict will be in is something no one can say. It is possible that it may be within an hour of the time the jury takes it, and it is just as possible that the jury may deliberate until midnight. In either case it seems apparent that there can be but one of two verdicts, the electric chair or life imprisonment.

And as they debate, W. Glenn Dague, erstwhile salesman of Wheeling, wife deserter and bandit buddy of the Trigger Blonde sits in his dreary cell, wondering whether an outraged citizenry will demand his life or mercifully will spare his life and keep him locked up for the balance of his life.

Saturday Afternoon Session.
Albert L. Dague, father of Glenn Dague went on the stand and testified that he was Glenn's father and resided in Marshall county, W. Va.

Mrs. Theresa Dague, wife of the defendant, went on the stand. Before she could testify, Margioti asked for an offer at side-bar.

Q. What is your name?
A. Theresa Dague.
Q. Are you the wife of Glenn Dague?
A. Yes.
Q. When did he leave you?
A. April 6, 1927.
Q. Cross examination:
Q. What do you do?
A. Teaching school.
Q. Did you teach school before he left you?
A. No.

Defense Rests.
The defense rested at 1:48 p. m. Officer William Kiessling of St. Louis was called in rebuttal and denied statements made by Dague concerning the attack in St. Louis.

Morris Markowitz, a pawnshop proprietor of Pittsburgh, was called and testified that on Nov. 5, 1929, he had sold Dague a 38 calibre holster. He also sold him a Spanish 38 calibre gun. Dague turned in a Spanish 32 calibre gun on the purchase, he said. A. Horowitz was called. He conducted a pawnshop on Federal street, Pittsburgh. On September 7, 1929, he said Dague and a woman and a child were in his store, bringing with them a gun they had bought there, a 32 calibre Spanish gun, for repairs. They could not repair the gun and Dague left in a huff, Horowitz testified. He said Dague had used the name of Williams.

Sheriff Charles Wright of Phoenix was recalled. He testified that Dague never asked for a doctor in the Phoenix jail but that he (Wright) had bought mercurochrome for Dague's wound in his hip.

Bart Richards and County Detective Lee were called as to Dague's statement where he got his wound. Lee testified that Dague had said he got the wound either at Chandler or in the Estrella mountains.

Lewis L. Osterwise of Uniontown, Pa., was called and a side-bar asked for before he could testify. After 30 minutes side-bar a 30-minute recess was taken.

Sheriff Wright testified that Dague had told him he had robbed about 20 chain stores.

Dague was recalled and denied it. The commonwealth and defense rested at 4:15. Court adjourned at 4:25.

Defense Starts For Indian Girl

Motion Of Defense Counsel To Dismiss Murder Indictment Denied By Judge

START TAKING OF DEFENSE TESTIMONY

By JAMES L. KILGALLAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

COURT ROOM, BUFFALO, N. Y., March 31. — Motion to dismiss the indictment charging first degree murder against Lila Jimerson, Indian girl on trial for the hammer slaying of Mrs. Clothilde Marchand, was denied today by Judge F. Bret Thorne. The motion was the opening gun of the defense.

"I move dismissal of the indictment on the grounds that the state has failed to prove a homicide against this defendant," said John V. Maloney of defense counsel.

"The state has failed to show that this defendant engaged in a conspiracy with Nancy Bowen to kill Mrs. Marchand."

Judge Thorne promptly denied the motion and then the defense brought forward the first of its witnesses.

Before the defense opened, the state was permitted to re-open its case to put two witnesses on the stand. One of them, Stanley Subotski, a drugist of North Collins, N. Y., testified Lila bought an ounce of chloroform from him. He identified the defendant.

"She gave me the name of Miss L. M. Jameson, aged 35 years," the drugist testified. "She said she wanted the chloroform to relieve pain being suffered by a horse."

Chloroform was used in the killing of Mrs. Marchand who was beaten with a hammer and chloroformed by Nancy Bowen, an old superstitious Indian friend of the defendant, the state contends.

May Ask Huston To Resign Post

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Mar. 31.—President Hoover was reliably reported today to be considering making a request to Claudius H. Huston, chairman of the Republican National committee, that he resign his post "for the good of the party."

The White House officially maintained silence on the matter, but a confidant of Mr. Hoover's was authoritative for the statement that the president is contemplating action. If the president does ask Huston to resign he will be following the advice of Senate who have counseled such a move since the revelations of Huston's lobbying activities and stock market operations were produced by the Caraway committee. Huston has hitherto declined to consider senatorial requests that he relinquish his post, asserting that he would retire only at Mr. Hoover's request.

The Parent Problem

by GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Keep Child Off Street After Dark

Several years ago the city in which I live passed a curfew law by which all children under 14, unaccompanied by adults, are forbidden to be on the streets at night after 9 o'clock.

A well meaning group of parents met together recently to appeal to our police department to enforce this law. Their proposal was not met well by the press, nor by a very large number of influential people or organizations.

There seems to be no doubt in the minds of most reasonable adults that in general children under 14 should be at home or in the company of their elders if roaming about the streets even at so early an hour as 9 o'clock. Yet it is very doubtful whether such a matter belongs to the police department.

The police have been too busy in most cities, rounding up the criminals over 14 years of age, to have much time to chase younger persons home.

What are parents for, anyway? Are they going to expect the state to discipline their children? A good many don't expect. They calmly let their children roam at large.

If any curfew law at all is desirable it ought to hold the parents of children out on the streets unaccompanied late at night responsible. I can imagine some parents, while spending a few days in jail, developing an awakened interest in the whereabouts of their children after dark. But most parents would not profit greatly, I believe, from such punishment, even if there were enough policemen available to enforce such a law. Sudden enforcement of such a law would be impossible, because such a large number of the children who are on the streets late at night, without adult companions, belong to parents who represent the more intelligent level of the community. Some of these parents actually think their children should enjoy such liberties; some parents who want to keep their children off the streets are unable to do so; some don't care.

There still may be enough intelligent parents to be found in churches, clubs and parent-teacher organizations to define some standards in respect to these matters, and to create sufficient interest and influence to persuade many other parents to accept such standards and to work out ways of holding children up to them. Many energetic women are eagerly on the lookout for some worthy cause to espouse, for something they can do for the welfare of their community. Fiestos! Here it is.

In the meantime your children and mine are growing up. What may we do? I care not what course others may take, but as for our family, we made it a rule, as soon as our children were old enough to play out of doors, that when the street lights went on they automatically should come into the house. The hour is not of so much importance as the amount of light. Children under 14, who early learn this simple definite habit, find it no hardship. They are not embarrassed by the calling of some adult. Their playmates may not even observe the signal of their going in.

Besides promoting physical and moral safety, such a program further instills habits of responsibility in the child. I wish I might persuade other parents to adopt a similar program; but I am not at all interested in having even other people's children chased home at night from the street by a policeman.

Tomorrow: Some Proverbs.

Who said there are no more worlds to conquer? If Commander Byrd cannot find another, there is that new planet.

Believe Mad Dog Visited Mercer

Quarantine Is Placed On All Animals By Field Agent Harry Higbee

MERCER, Pa., March 31.—That the mad dog who visited the farm of George McCoy in East Lackawanna township two weeks ago and bit 12 sheep visited Mercer is the opinion of Agent Harry Higbee of Stoneboro who has charge of the dog law enforcement in the county for the bureau of animal husbandry.

To date three of the sheep have developed rabies and have been killed. It is expected that McCoy will lose more animals as a result of the raid of the dog.

How many animals in Mercer may have been infected is problematical says Higbee who knows of no cases here but is certain that with the dog in town that there is a potential possibility of serious results. The local police officers have been notified to enforce the dog law to the letter says Higbee who asks that all good citizens co-operate with the officers in abating this menace.

NEW YORK, March 31.—A bunch of Wall Street bankers have organized clearing house for inventive geniuses, the idea being to provide the best markets for the thousands of new devices developed yearly.

The only "out" the inventors have now is to form a protective organization.

Few of the world's greatest inventions ever brought fortune to the men who devised them. In the long contest between the Bradstreet Boys and the Laboratory Lads, the former were always somewhere and the latter nowhere.

And now that the Bradstreet Breed are talking of tossing out life preservers—glory be!

SHORT OF THE MARK

Old Fred Stone, musical comedy ace, did the best he could, but finally he broke down and admitted that in the theatre on Mazda Lane cleanliness no longer is next to godliness—it's next to impossible.

And as if in substantiation of this, along comes Bill Hodge—Little Rollo of the Show Shop—with a new play, wherein he makes obeisance to the ostermorn school of dramatists.

There's a moment in his new show, "The Old Rascal," when Bill takes off everything but his whiskers and his union suit, and after struggling into a nightie climbs into bed with an entrancing but unknown young woman.

As one of the female Drammer Dancers put it: "Never did we expect to see the day when it would be necessary to warn the innocent against a show by Bill Hodge."

The trouble is, instead of going all the way and being plumb dirty, he falters on the rim of the sewer.

Bill's going to realize then it's too late that a standard lowered only half way isn't far enough to suit the cigar-root suckin' sophisticates who make dirt pay on Broadway today.

It's things like them that leaves a scar, Bill!

FELLED BY LIVE WIRE AT X-RAY

CANTON, O., March 31.—Dr. Stanley S. Sidenberg, 33, acting head of Molly Stark hospital and formerly connected with Mount Sinai Hospital, Cleveland, was seriously injured today when he came into contact with a live wire in the X-ray room of the hospital.

For the briefest of instants he regarded him in silence from beneath lazy, purple lids. I watched her hand steal across the table and rest on his. Her tones were velvet soft.

"Aw, g'wan, cutie," she pleaded, "be fooled once in awhile. You'll be happier!"

DOWN STREAM

Bryant Park at 42d street and 6th avenue is one of the city's outstanding failures. As a park, it's a robust ruin. As an example of thwarted ambition, it's a dazzling three-cornered success.

Years ago, as a young park, it started out full of life and hope, headed eastward with Fifth avenue as its goal. An everything would have been all right if some Arty Boys hadn't come along and erected The Library, forever ending the advance.

From that day Bryant Park began to slide down the scale till it hit the status of a back yard. There's a melancholy spread to its trees and bushes. Its patches of lawn are so many geometrical manifestations of discouraged verdure. An air of impotence and frustration broods over the place, matching the mood of the down-and-outers, idlers, seedy itinerants and curly aberrants who daily encumber its benches.

The spirit of defeat broods so close to Bryant Park that even the sparrows scorn to twitter at close of day within its confines, preferring the less doleful shelter of a single nearby sidewalk tree in the shade of the elevated railroad station.

There, every evening at the dusk hour, may be seen scores of the little feathered Asphalt Arabs, chattering noisily of their meagre day's experiences among the Fords and Rolls-Royces.

neuritis, without getting the least help. This famous new compound has relieved thousands who have never been helped by any other medicine. The remarkable accomplishments of Ten Herbs is due to its ten wonderful herbal ingredients, which cleanse and invigorate the whole human system. If ailing, get a bottle of Ten Herbs today at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 E. Washington St., this city, where this popular preparation is being introduced.

"Ten Herbs gave me such wonderful results when I used it some time ago that I am glad to tell others about your medicine," said Mr. Albert Niemetz, 4554 Rosina Way, Pittsburgh, Pa. "I had suffered from indigestion for three years, and was almost a physical wreck. My appetite was very poor, and there were certain kinds of food I did not dare to eat. I was troubled with gas, heartburn and shortness of breath.

"For two years or more I had been subject to headaches that would last for two or three days at a time. At times I got so dizzy I feared I would fall. My vision would become blurred—everything seemed to turn black. Nervousness disturbed my rest at night, and I had a tired, worn-out feeling all the time. There were pains across my back, and I was also troubled with constipation.

"I started using Ten Herbs when I read in the papers how your medicine was helping people of this section. It was not long before I felt like a different person. Indigestion disappeared, and I no longer had terrible heartburn, gas, coated tongue, or bad taste in my mouth. Pains left from around my heart, and my breathing improved. I became free of vision, and that worn-out feeling. My nerves got stronger, and pains left my back. Constipation was corrected. I am pleased to endorse Ten Herbs to the public."

Ten Herbs is being introduced at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington St., this city, and is sold by all leading druggists throughout this entire section.

CARRIE NATION OF TEXAS MAY RUN FOR SHERIFF

Crusader, Jailed On Liquor Charge, Is Asked To Seek Post

PAMPA, Tex., March 31.—The panhandle's own Carrie Nation, in jail on a liquor charge, was put forward Sunday night as a candidate for sheriff.

Five hundred residents of Laketon bespoke their approval of the temperance activities of Miss Buelah Allred, the crusader, by sending two representatives to her cell with the request she run.

Miss Allred, who since being arrested when she paraded the city streets waving a bottle of liquor, has set up temporary W. C. T. U. headquarters in her jail cell, refused last night to comment on the request.

W. C. Christopher and E. I. Howard, wealthy ranchers representing Laketon, also offered to provide the $500 bond which will release Miss Allred from jail.

Refuses Offer of Bail.

The temperance crusader refused the offer, however. She vowed to remain behind the bars until John Holmes, district attorney of Borger, who was mysteriously murdered last fall, is avenged.

"Until the court releases me or the governor sends troops to take the guns off these crooked officials who danced on Johnny Holmes' grave, I'll stay right in this cell and fight to keep liquor out of Pampa," she said.

For the first time today the name of Holmes was injected into the case. Miss Allred linked her two-year battle against liquor with the fate of the youthful barrister, declaring he was murdered by a "liquor ring five weeks after he had planned to clean up Pampa."

Sheriff E. S. Graves, occupant of that office for the last ten years, said: "We don't need to get excited over the ravings of a few fanatics. Law violation here is not above the average in quantity." Graves is not a candidate for re-election.

Air Mail Pilot Jumps From Plane

Saves Life By Leap From Disabled Plane Near Warren, Ohio

CLEVELAND, O., March 31.—Harry A. Seivers, mail pilot, literally jumped out of the air mail service early yesterday morning, when a thick coat of ice put his plane out of control at 2,000 feet near Warren, O., forcing him to take to his parachute while the plane spun to the ground, crashing on its nose and was demolished.

Seivers also jumped into fame as the only local flyer who has made two emergency parachute leaps from airplanes and one of the few pilots anywhere who have qualified as second-degree members of the Caterpillar Club, composed of airmen whose parachutes have saved their lives.

Yesterday's jump came as an unexpected climax of the "last flight," dreaded by superstitious airmen. When Seivers took off from Cleveland Airport about 1:30 a. m., it was to make his last flight to Pittsburgh as a mail pilot for the Clifford Ball Air Line. He was leaving the air mails to fly for Standard Oil Co., of Ohio.

It was dark and stormy as Seivers soared away with his load of mail. Nearing Warren the plane began to quiver as a swiftly growing layer of ice, most dreaded foe of the aviator, weighed down wings and wires.

Runs Into Squall

Then, to make a bad matter worse, Seivers ran into a severe snow squall. "I ducked and dodged, attempting to get out of the storm," he said. "Then at an altitude of 2,000 feet, the ship-went out of control and began to spin.

"I tried to jump, but the centrifugal force of the spin prevented me from breaking away from the plane until I was about 200 feet from the ground.

"I hit pretty hard and was knocked out. When I recovered consciousness I found the plane less than 100 yards from where I landed. It had hit on the nose, which was buried four feet in the soft mud.

"The plane was a washout, but it did not catch fire and the mail was undamaged. I took it out of the mail compartment and into Warren, where it was put on a train for Pittsburgh."

Seivers' first jump was made one night last October near Beaver Falls, Pa., soon after he had left Pittsburgh for Cleveland. Motor trouble caused him to leave the plane on that occasion.

He had a narrow escape from a

"I had rheumatism so bad I had to walk on crutches for nine years," says H. C. Hendrix, old soldier of Minneapolis, Minn. "After three months' treatment with 'Anti-Pain Oil' I laid off my crutches and now can walk like a boy."

J. B. Moore, Pittsburgh, Pa., railroad man, says, "Anti-Pain Oil" is the only liniment that ever gave me relief from rheumatism. I use it regularly after being exposed to bad weather. For rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, stiff joints, pain in back and limbs, corns, bunions, chest colds, sore throat "Anti-Pain Oil" is said to be without an equal.

HIGHLIGHTS OF HISTORY

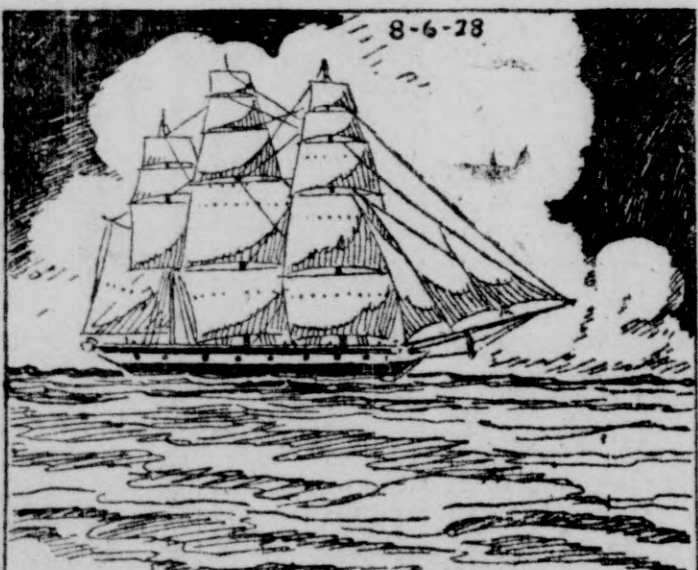

By J. Carroll Mansfield

The Story Of American Industry
American Commerce And The Embargo Act Of 1807

BOTH THE BRITISH AND THE FRENCH SEIZED MANY AMERICAN MERCHANTMEN. TO PROTECT OUR SHIPPING, AND WITH THE HOPE OF FORCING GREAT BRITAIN AND FRANCE TO ABANDON THEIR POLICIES TOWARD NEUTRAL VESSELS, PRESIDENT JEFFERSON IN 1807 SECURED THE PASSAGE OF "THE EMBARGO ACT", BY WHICH AMERICAN SHIPS WERE FORBIDDEN TO LEAVE THEIR HOME PORTS.

FOR A TIME AMERICAN SKIPPERS CARRIED ON A PROSPEROUS TRADE WITH BOTH SIDES. THIS PERIOD OF PROSPERITY, HOWEVER, WAS DOOMED TO BE SHORT-LIVED. IN 1807 EACH OF THE WARRING NATIONS TOOK DRASTIC MEASURES TO KEEP AMERICAN SHIPS FROM SUPPLYING THE OTHER. AS A RESULT, AMERICAN SHIP OWNERS SUFFERED GREATLY.

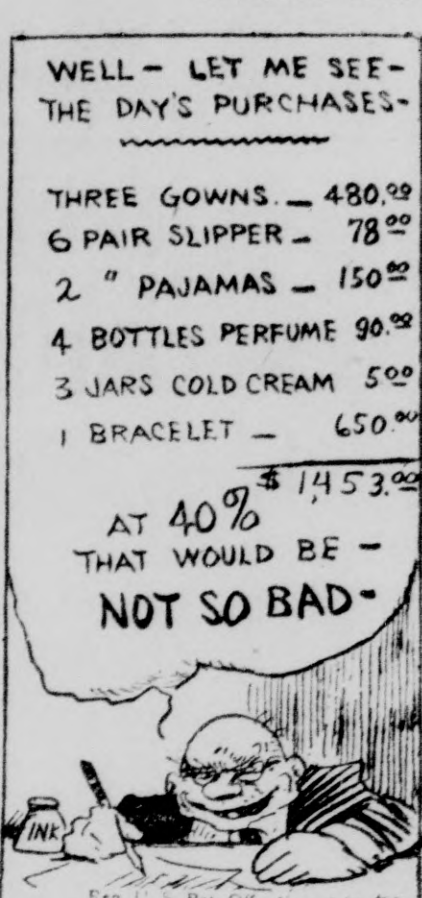

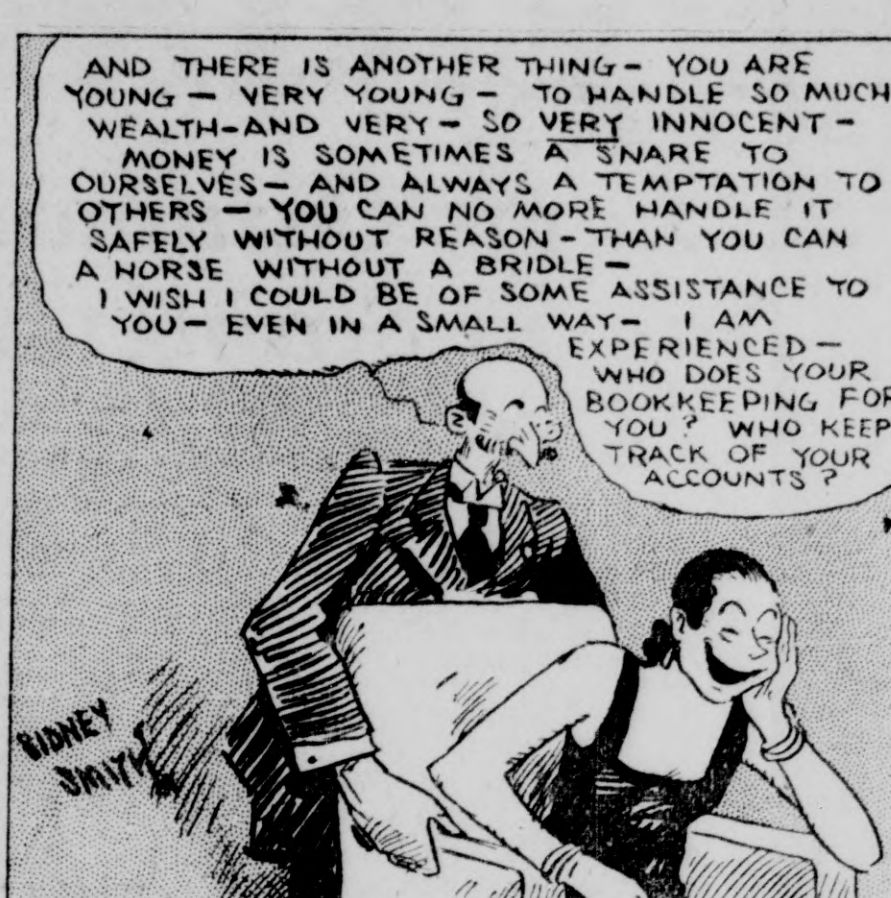

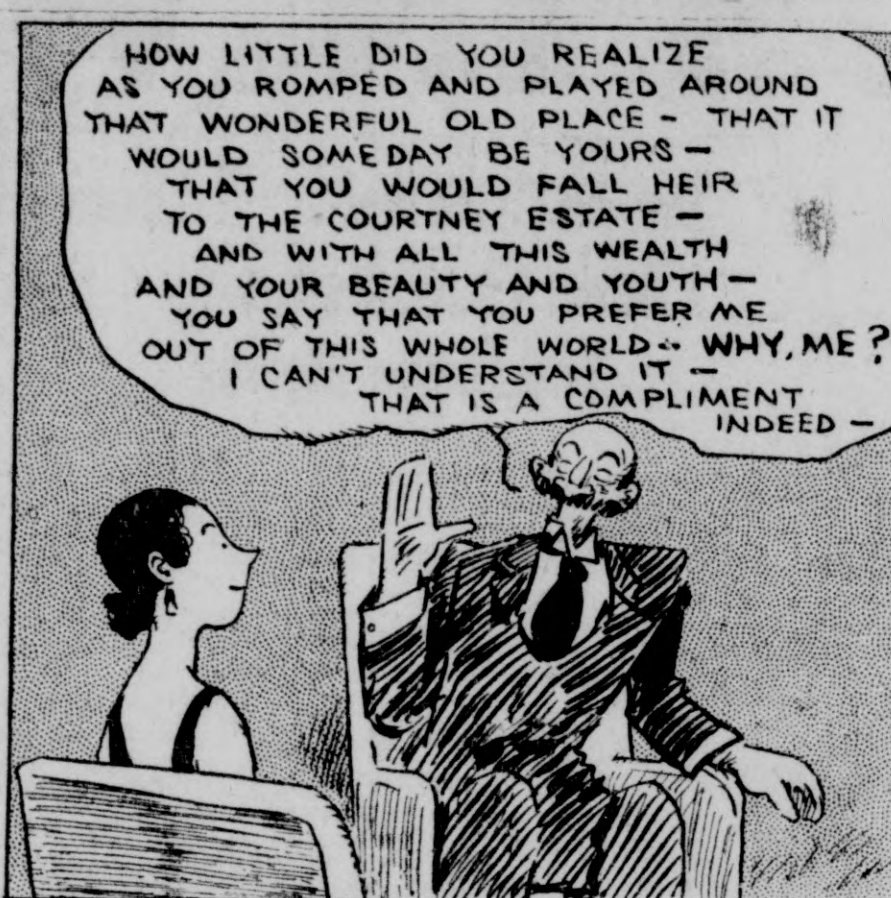

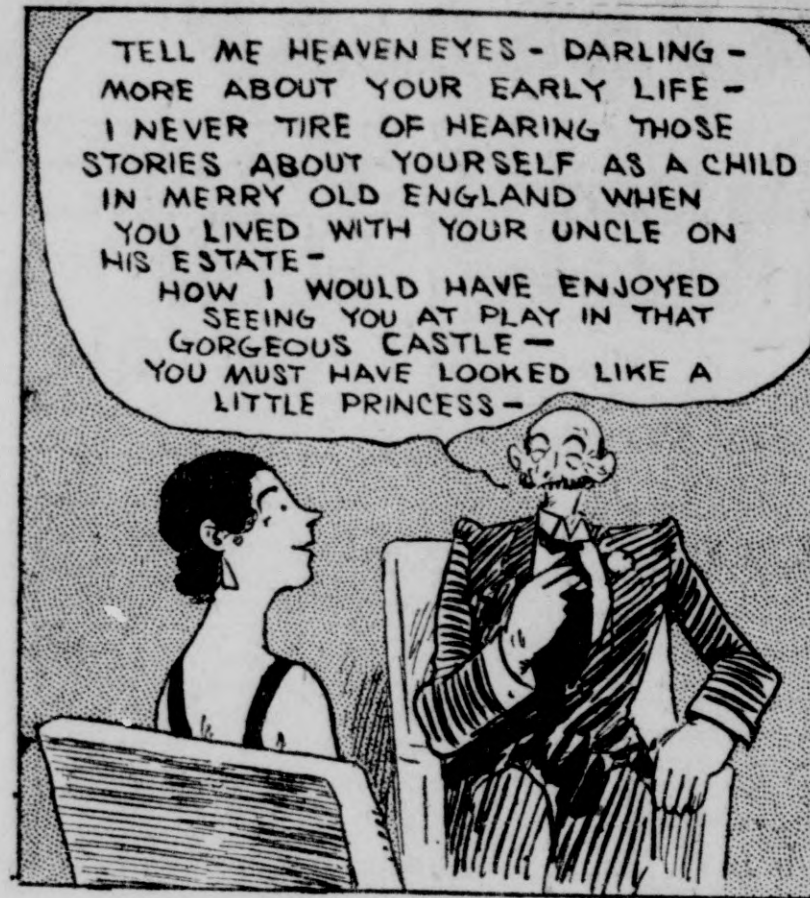

IN THE EARLY YEARS OF THE 19TH CENTURY, COMMERCE WAS THE LEADING INDUSTRY OF THE NEW ENGLAND STATES. GREAT BRITAIN WAS FIGHTING NAPOLEON, AND THE NEUTRAL AMERICAN MERCHANT MARINE WAS MAKING LARGE PROFITS OUT OF THE STRUGGLE.

Shenango Bowlers Lose Saturday On Pittsburgh Alleys

Shenango Tin Mill Duckpin Bowlers Lose To Pittsburgh Men By 78 Pins

The Shenango Tin Mill duckpin bowlers climbed off the train here late Saturday night, with slow but easy strides, they had been down to Pittsburgh all day, had eaten a big chicken dinner and had been defeated on the bowling alleys by 78 pins. New Castle won up here by 517 pins, so that still leaves the locals the best in the two matches by 439 pins, which is something.

It was a real battle that was staged on the hardwood alleys, with the Pittsburgh men just barely managing to eke out their victory when the Shenango No. 1 and 2 teams failed to come through with enough pins. The Shenango No. 3 team upheld their end of the parade as the only team to have a lead over the Pittsburghers. Lew Sweet of the No. 3 team had high score of the match with 207 in the first game and also he carried off the high honors for three games with 527. Emmel of the Pittsburgh No. 1 team was second high for three games with 520.

Big Chicken Dinner
The Shenango men were feted at the Henry hotel to a luscious chicken dinner at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, and after loading up on a lot of good things to eat, they were hustled to the bowling alleys for the test, and maybe the locals didn't eat enough, how about it "Micky", or maybe the New Castle boys were just polite, who knows.

The dinner at the Henry hotel was presided over by R. J. Hadley chief auditor of the American Sheet and Tin Plate company, who explained to the guests how the New Castle men had won at New Castle, and how maybe they were going to be licked today (Saturday), and he was right. The locals won but four games out of the nine games rolled. The No. 1 team won one game, the No. 2 team won one game, and the No. 3 team won two games.

78 Pin Victory
The three game totals were—Shenango No. 1, 2, 166; Pittsburgh 2,270. Shenango No. 2, 2,045; Pittsburgh 2,125. Shenango No. 3, 2,232; Pittsburgh 2,126. Grand totals—Shenango 6,443; Pittsburgh 6,521.

After the bowling matches the men were taken back to the Henry hotel and given a good supper, and after the meal they were taken to the shows. The locals returned home late in the heat of spirits for the fine treatment received at the hands of Ed. Taylor and his gang down in Pittsburgh.

The Shenango men had chance to meet James Lamoree, former New Castle Tin Mill man who is now located in Pittsburgh, and he is the same old "Jim". He was mighty glad to see the locals and to renew friendships.

St. Louis Cardinals Not So Strong This Year Is Indication

By DAVID J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, March 31.—They say you can't keep a squirrel on the ground and, while we are on the subject of exclusive announcements today, it might be well to add that you can't keep a flat iron in the air, either.

This statement, which comes from a very reliable source, if offered in evidence for the purpose of corroborating the belief that Mr. Samuel Breadon, of the St. Louis Cardinals, has ultimately succeeded—as was deemed to be inevitable—in running a diamond bracelet into a handcliff. Anyhow, baseball men everywhere seem to be impartially, even disinterestedly imbued with the notion that the Cardinals are destined to finish in the second division this year for the first time since 1924.

Won Two Pennants
This is the same outfit that has furnished two pennant winners, one world's champion and a runner up in the last four seasons but Mr. Breadon is a trefful soul and perfection simply goads him beyond endurance. He can't abide a winner, it seems. In fact, there is only one thing that appears to enrage him more and that's two winners.

Of course, it is not for me to hold Mr. Breadon up to score. We all make mistakes and he had made only one. He simply has hired too many managers for his players and not enough players for his managers. As a man who has confirmed the rumor that you can't go behind the nape of your neck, I wish to state that Mr. Breadon's system doesn't pay.

He had, for instance, a world's champion in 1926. And what did he offer as a token of appreciation to his manager, Mr. Hornby? He offered Mr. Hornby the backstairs. In fact, he gave them to him. One at a time in quick succession.

In 1927, he finished second with Mr. O'Farrell at the helm. Did Mr. O'Farrell remain at the helm? Yes, Mr. O'Farrell did. The following year, Mr. McKeeble came along and won another pennant on behalf of this abrupt employer. This time, Mr. Breadon was patient. He went all the way to the middle of the next season before he fired Mr. McKeeble.

Street New Manager
The latter's successor was Mr. Southworth and the only thing he finished was the season. A Mr. Garulow Street is now in charge but don't ask me how long. Mr. Breadon doesn't know that yet himself. Meanwhile, the personnel of the ball club remains pretty much like an olderman's vote, unchanged and unchanging. It has made a few minor trades but, of the old names, Alexander is the only one missing. There is a new man playing shortstop but Haines, Sherdel, Rheim, Frankhouse, Johnson and a few others are still carrying the pitching. Hafey and Douthitt are still playing the outfield and bottomly, Frisch and High remain as the key men of the infield.

A lot of those mentioned are good ball players and, therefore, are not to be run out of town just because the club has stopped winning. Some of the others are not good ball players. In fact, the development of the Young idea on the Cardinals seems to have expired painlessly during the last three years and consequently even a bad ball player can hang on for lack of a better prospect. This is a strange state of affairs in view of the recent agitation against all of the minor league "farms" the Cards maintain but the roster of the club proves it to be true.

It will prove that the club is dying for want of new blood and, much as I dislike to bother a man about his own business, I feel constrained to add by belief that the fault is essentially Mr. Breadon's own. Without some semblance of team management on a year-to-year basis, no system of player development can hope to survive.

Phils Have Hitters But Lack Hurlers

To Make Strong Bid For Coming Race

By Central Press.
WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 31.—Having bade a spectacular goodbye to last place last season the Phillies this year hope to make their debut in the first division amid the clash of bats and whistle of baseballs soaring out of National league ball parks.

Possessing the hardest hitting club in the senior circuit, Manager Burt Shotton it today trying to bolster his pitching staff, the Phillies' weakest link, and attempting to strengthen his infield defense, another department which hampered the Phils in 1929.

Acquiring Grover Cleveland Alexander, the old war horse, Shotton has placed him in charge of the young Phillie hurlers, who can learn much under the tutelage of the one-time great Alex. However, Alexander is also expected to prove a power on the mound outside his coaching. Shotton looks to Alex for at least 10 wins this year.

Sharon Crowned State Champions, Top Lower Merion

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., March 31.—Sharon high school basketball team won the P. I. A. A. state title here Saturday night by upsetting the strong Lower Merion quintet in a game that was close all the way. The Mercer countains played their best basketball in the final quarter of the game to take the victory.

The end of the first quarter found the Sharon boys ahead, 5 to 3. The second quarter Lower Merion spurred to take the period by a count of 4 to 3, but fell short by a score of 8 to 7 of leading the count. The third period was even up with both teams making five points. Sharon, with Murphy and Deems playing whirlwind basketball, forged ahead in the closing moments of the game with sensational shots. Big Murphy was the stand-out star of the game with four baskets. Deems and Crompton had the only other field goals allowed the western Pennsylvanians.

For the Lower Merion team it must be said that they played a good game and only were beaten out for the state title by a team of fast workers, coached by foxy "Pop" Dickerson. There were no outstanding stars in the Lower Merion line-up. It was the third or fourth time in the past few years that Sharon has been up at the top of the heap when the accounting was finished.

The line-up and summary:
Sharon 18 Lower Merion 14
McCannant F..... Lockwood
Deems F..... Pennypacker
Murphy C..... Bonniwell
Crompton G..... Mandes
Laycock G..... Amora
Score by periods:
Sharon 5 5 5 5—18
Lower Merion 3 4 5 2—14
Field goals—Sharon: Murphy 4, Deems, Crompton; Lower Merion—Lockwood, Bonniwell, Pennypacker.
Fouls—Sharon: 6 out of 10; Lower Merion, 8 out of 13.
Individual fouls—Sharon: Laycock, McCannant 4, Crompton; Merion: Mandes, Bonniwell 4, Lockwood 3, Pennypacker.

SCOUTS LIKE DISTANCE
The Patrols of the Koppel troop of Boy Scouts started at 6:30 p. m. the other evening for a hike of quite some distance. After attending the services at the St. Theresa Church at Hoyt-dale, the boys hiked to the woods.

After attempting to build a fire in a cave, this proving impossible because of no outlet for the smoke, they built a large bonfire in the open, over which weiners and baked beans were cooked.

The weather was very cold and the boys sang on their way home to keep up their spirits and to keep warm. They arrived at eleven o'clock.

Mushball Season Being Discussed

Plan To Start Mushball Play This Year About May 1—Arrange Longer Schedule

The mushball season in New Castle is only about one month away. It is planned to start the mushball industrial league here this season on or about May 1.

It is earnestly hoped that there will be at least 12 teams in the league this year. The following teams from last year have already signified their intention of joining up: New Castle News, Lehigh Cement, Shenango Tin Mill, Bankers, Postoffice, Firemen, Phalanx and Haney's.

What the officials would like to have is 12 fast teams and to divide them into two leagues class A and class B. For instance the Shenango Tin, Lehigh, Phalanx, Bankers and such in class A and the not so good boys like The News, Firemen, Haney's and Mail Carriers in class B. It will make it a lot more interesting if the weaker teams do not have to play the stronger teams, because it isn't any fun getting licked every game you play, and who knows this any better than The News boys?

It seems that the New Castle Works ought to bet up a fast team, also the Chain Stores, and maybe we could get a few church league teams to come in to help make the 12, also the American Can might put a team in the field, and also the P. R. R.

Let's have a meeting this week, Wednesday night, at 7 o'clock of all the managers of the various mushball teams, to sound out the feeling. The meeting is called to order by Charles "Bugs" Walther and the meeting place is the New Castle News office. Any team anxious to join the league call 4000 during the day and ask for "Bugs".

Buccaneers Trim Polish Midgets

The Young Buccaneers defeated the Polish Midgets 45 to 17 in the final game of the season. The game was played at the Falcon floor. The Buccaneers took an early lead when Whitman dropped four straight through the hoops, and in the final half the Buccaneers had things their own way. Whitman and Wallace featured for the winners, with Melahic and Budal the best for the Polish boys.

The Young Buccaneers won 15 games this year and lost one, this to the Lawrence Five, which was later avenged by a large score.

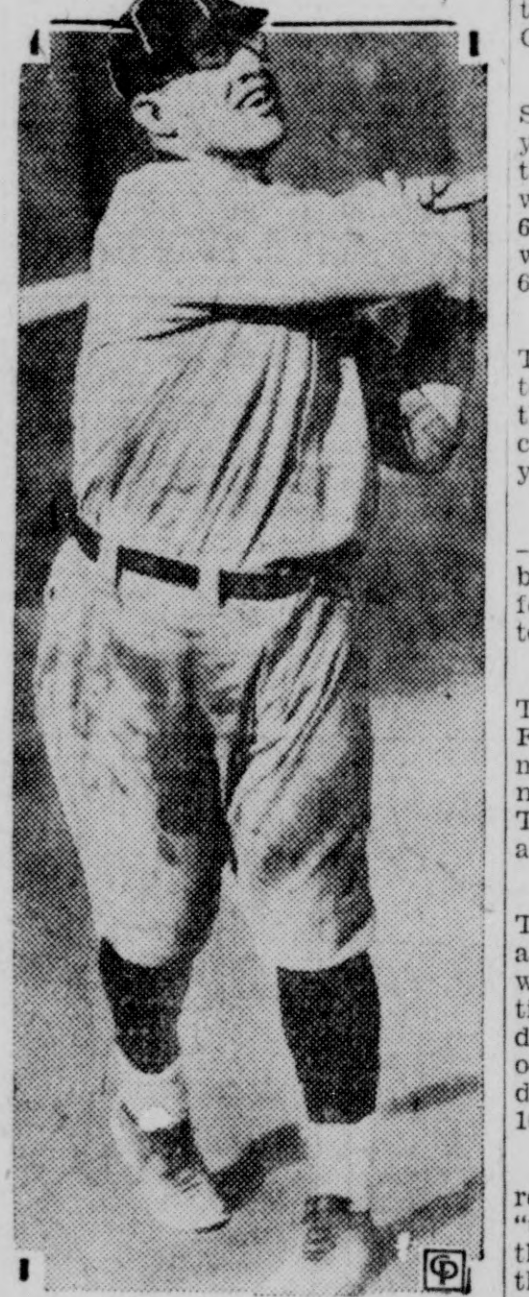

The lineup: Buccaneers 45. Midgets 17. Wallace F. Kendra Ross F. Budal Whitman C. Melahic George G. Garcewski Deep G. Sniezek Sub: Pegnato, J. Yearage, Koszella, Field Goals—Whitman 7, Wallace 5, Ross 4, George, Deep, Melahic 3, Garcewski 2, Koszella. Fouls—Buccaneers, 3 out of 6. Midgets, 4 out of 8. Referee—S. Koszella. Time of quarters, 8 minutes.

"They Don't Believe In Ghosts"

In these literary times when Peggy Joyce, Lou Magnolia and Henry Ford are featured as popular authors together with such professionals as Gene Fowler (Hear!) Hear! His "Trumpet in the Dust!" George Bernard Shaw and Ernest Hemingway, the question is often heard "Does he write his own stuff?" Or does she?

Fans are skeptical that way. Why many think Phil Scott has never been fouled! They'll hardly believe their eyes or anyone else's "Is" This is an incredulous age so....

It is refreshing, indeed, to learn that some sports celebrities need no "ghosts" to do their literary work. Waite Hoyt, Yankee pitcher, can and does on occasions write for the newspapers. Tommy Loughran, a great boxer, can do likewise in describing fist events. Each has sat at a typewriter with other reporters to pound out passable copy.

"B" Tilden, tennis immortal: "Charley Paddock once, 'The Fastest Human' and Benny Leonard, the big-tired lightweight champion are among others who can write their own stuff: as can Bobby Jones and Horton Smith, golf phenomemans. Other

First Repaving On Croton Avenue

From School House To
City Line

Croton avenue between the city line and Cascade street will be closed to traffic commencing Tuesday, according to councilman action today when council met at the city building. The traffic will be detoured via the East Brook road to the Harlansburg highway.

Croton avenue repaving between East Brook road and the city line will be the first project undertaken by the contractor who wins the award from city council when the state program is launched April 11. Croton avenue, Grant street and Butler avenue are to be repaved at the expense of the state.

Today's councilmanic action was brought about by Howard B. Richards, superintendent of the New Castle Water company, who received a legal notice from the city to make arrangements for the water lines before April 11, so that there would be no delay in the contractor's work.

He told council that it would be physically impossible for the company to do the required work in the three thoroughfares and said he did not believe it just for his company to be left at the mercy of the contractor. He asked council to designate the first project to be started.

"We have been directed to make changes in our system before April 11" according to a legal notification, Richards told council. "The contractor is to take charge of the thoroughfares on that day."

"It will be a physical impossibility to do this," he said. Richards explained it would mean numerous ditches in each thoroughfare and to make progress it would be necessary or feasible for the city to close thoroughfares.

"We want to give service to the people but under this ruling our hands will be tied," he said. "There are some vacant lots. The owners will have to be notified. This isn't possible within 10 days."

"The owners will have to be interviewed. The company does not know what street the contractor will start work on. The city should make an arrangement with the contractor and have the street designated."

Councilman Burns said "this is a peculiar situation. We are doing the work for the city. We let the contractor and pay the bill but will be reimbursed."

"I do not see why you could not go in the same as you have always done," Richards maintained that the Water Company would be at the mercy of the contractor and "he may want to penalize us."

City Engineer Miller said the city wants the contractor to make speed. "Mr. Richards is right," said Genkinger. "He should have proper time to make the changes."

Solicitor White said the city could take care of the Water Company "because the Water Company has never refused to go along with the city." He said however, some other utilities may cause the city trouble when the work is started.

"It happens your company is classified as a public utility," said Burns but Richards said he could not see why his company should be "penalized" for the alleged action of some others.

You know the people facing on these streets have rights too, said the Water Company superintendent.

Solicitor White replied stating "We will not let the contract until the contractor makes a satisfactory contract with you. I will advise the council not to award the contract until the contractor makes an arrangement with the public utilities. If they do not sign then we will order the contractor to proceed."

Richards advised the city to close Croton avenue and Reeves presented a motion which passed whereby the avenue will be closed Tuesday between the city line and Cascade street.

The new repaving will be from the center line of East Brook road to the city line. Proper detour signs will be located by the department of streets, Councilman Treser stated.

Rates Held As Not Justified

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 31.—The Interstate Commerce Commission held today that the proposal to establish for the first time a proportional rate of $1.02 per ton on "ex-river" bituminous coal, in carloads, from Conway, Pa., to Youngstown, O., over the Pennsylvania railroad, and from Colona, Pa., to Youngstown over the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie was not justified.

The finding is without prejudice to the filing of new schedules in conformity with certain views expressed by the commission.

The Youngstown Chamber of Commerce, Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., Republic Iron and Steel Company, Western Pennsylvania Coal Traffic Bureau and W. J. Rainey, Inc. contended the proposed rate was unreasonably high. The Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, and the Central Alloy Steel Corporation, with plants at Canton, Massillon and Cleveland, urged that existing destination relationships of all-rail rates on coal from the Pittsburgh, Connellsville and Fairmont districts over rates that are now applicable to Youngstown be preserved in connection with an ex-river coal rate that may be established from Conway and Colona to Youngstown.

"It clearly appears that if rates are to be established on ex-river coal which will induce its free movement from the river mines to Youngstown and points grouped therewith, they must not be any higher than the level of the all-rail rates from the same general producing districts, and that any ex-river rate which may be established must afford a basis for the subsequent establishment of rates from Conway and Colona to Cleveland, Canton, Toledo and other large consuming points or for transshipment at lake ports to the head of the lakes, otherwise undue prejudice may be created," the commission said.

The city is said, intends to keep an alert vigil for persons turning in false fire alarms as every time the fire apparatus is called out there is a likelihood of damage and injury. The city authorities propose to curb the habit which may seem trivial to some but is a dangerous practice to commit.

The city ordinance follows: Authorizing the Council to offer a reward for the apprehension, arrest and conviction of any person or persons who gives or causes to be given any false fire alarm by any means whatsoever, or unlawfully intermeddles, or interferes with any of the fire alarm boxes, or other fire apparatus used for the transmission of fire alarms.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the Council of the City of New Castle, Pa., That the Council of said City are hereby authorized to offer a reward of not exceeding $25.00 (twenty-five dollars), for the apprehension, arrest and conviction of any person or persons, who gives, or causes any false fire alarm by any means whatsoever, or unlawfully intermeddles, or interferes with any of the fire alarm boxes, or other fire apparatus used for the transmission of fire alarms in said city.

SECTION 2. That the above reward shall be payable to any person or persons who furnishes such information as will lead to the arrest and conviction of any person or persons who violates the preceding Section of this ordinance, whether the prosecution be for violation of the provisions of an Act of Assembly or the provision of any of the ordinances of said city.

Reward For Capture Of Persons Turning In False Alarms

Council Announces That Old Ordinance Will Be Used By City

Several false fire-alarms have been turned in recently with the consequent apprehension of the culprits and today when council convened at the city building Ordinance 3021, adopted November 16, 1915 was read. According to the measure the city can offer a reward for information which will lead to the arrest and conviction of such persons and they can be punished under an act of assembly and ordinances of the city.

The city, it is said, intends to keep an alert vigil for persons turning in false fire alarms as every time the fire apparatus is called out there is a likelihood of damage and injury. The city authorities propose to curb the habit which may seem trivial to some but is a dangerous practice to commit.

The city ordinance follows: Authorizing the Council to offer a reward for the apprehension, arrest and conviction of any person or persons who gives or causes to be given any false fire alarm by any means whatsoever, or unlawfully intermeddles, or interferes with any of the fire alarm boxes, or other fire apparatus used for the transmission of fire alarms.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the Council of the City of New Castle, Pa., That the Council of said City are hereby authorized to offer a reward of not exceeding $25.00 (twenty-five dollars), for the apprehension, arrest and conviction of any person or persons, who gives, or causes any false fire alarm by any means whatsoever, or unlawfully intermeddles, or interferes with any of the fire alarm boxes, or other fire apparatus used for the transmission of fire alarms in said city.

SECTION 2. That the above reward shall be payable to any person or persons who furnishes such information as will lead to the arrest and conviction of any person or persons who violates the preceding Section of this ordinance, whether the prosecution be for violation of the provisions of an Act of Assembly or the provision of any of the ordinances of said city.

PIRATES TO LOOT
RIVER STEAMER

(International News Service)
BAKERSFIELD, Cal., Mar. 31.—Revenge instead of love of loot drove Chinese river pirates to the attack recently on the Yangtze river steamer, Chi Ping. It is believed here by Paul Opperman, contractor and father of Captain Clarence Opperman, 39, the Chi Ping's commander.

In the battle Lieutenant C. M. Winslow, commander of the American naval guard aboard the steamer was critically wounded.

Opperman is the youngest sea captain in the far eastern waters, his father said.

During his service on the Yangtze, Opperman has won many battles with the Chinese river thugs, the father said, revealing the contents of his son's letters.

The last big battle occurred during the Christmas holidays. Captain Opperman was nearing Ichang, his home port when the ship was attacked by 300 pirates. The battle lasted more than an hour.

Seven of the Chi Ping's crew were

Police Get Alleged Robber On Sunday

Flees From Officers As They Approach Scene Of An Attempted Robbery

Police authorities have in their custody at the police station a man who gives the name of Joseph J. Daugherty and claims his place of residence as being Milton street, although he is said to be from the Spring Hill street.

They are holding him pending action on the part of the district attorney's office in regard to the case for his alleged part in an attempted robbery at the Lang butcher shop, West Washington street, early Sunday morning.

It is expected that he will be taken before a local alderman some time today and charged with breaking and entering.

A call was received about 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning by the police to the effect that some person was attempting to break into the Lang meat market, 104 West Washington street.

Officers M. J. Young and Robert Letera answered the call. They went to the rear of the place from different points and as they did so a man ran from the rear of the place and up Sycamore way. The officers fired after the fleeing man in an effort to stop him.
